STEAMER STELLA WRECKED

Boats and Men Broken

The vessel struck the Breakwater Point and went down in ten minutes.

Southampton, April 3.—A great fire in the steamer Stella, sailing from Bombay for this port, is excited by the explosion of a gas tank. The Stella left Havre yesterday evening on her voyage to Liverpool, and was on the Channel Islands when the explosion occurred, causing the disappearance of the vessel and crew.

Wages was carrying the grain to the new warehouses from a small barge, and all the employes were engaged in unloading it.
