HAVANA'S FOURTH OF JULY.

How a Photographer Gained a Snap

On the morning of the Fourth of July the populace of Havana hurried down to the shore at the sea end of the city.

From the forings of La Punta to the suburb of Vedado the beach was black with a shouting, singing, laughing, Diopraising people. It was the most exciting morning the Cuban capital had known since the beginning of the blockade. The vast multitude was expectant, eager, as impatient and as frantically excited as a mob of Latins is bound to be. What was the cause of all this excitement? Why was this throng, three miles long, gathered at the sea edge with gaze bent upon the horizon? Now you will chuckle-the Havana newspapers had that morning published full-page accounts of how the Spanish fleet, on the morning of the day previous, July 3, and come out of Sautingo hurbor, how Cervera had attacked the American fleet, and how he had sunk or destroyed every one of Sampson's and Schley's ships. The report added that the Spanish fleet was on the

If you have been in Havana in recent months I need not add that Gomez is a photographer. Fully 50 per cent of the photographs of scenes in Havana, printed in so many American periodieals during last year, were made by this same Gomez Carerra-who made a small fortune selling his pictures at purse-breaking prices to Yankee news-Gomez set up his camera near the Punta, where the throng was thickest.

His lens pointed directly at the throng's back. He made ready, was about to photograph the throng's back, when suddenly a series of piercing cries rent the air, cries from the rear. 'The throng turned-and at that moment Gomez Ca-rerra uncapped his lens and made a photograph of the throng's face. The photographer is very proud of that par-tleular pleture, for it shows a throng of people all startled and bewildered, faces full of a hang-dog expression, jaws dropping, seewls. For the piercing cries were: "Extra! La Lucha!"

This extra issued by the leading newspaper of Havana, was no larger than a handbill, but it told the populace that Cervera's fleet could not arrive off Ha-vann that morning, as all the Spanish ships were at the bottom of the sea.

Gomez himself told me this story, and added that when the populace realized the real import of La Lucha's extra the mightiest curse ever heard in Havana went up to the skies; and the throng loafed homeward, thoroughly angry and disgusted with the Spanish administration, Cervera, et ai.-Leslie's Week-

CAT LOST FAITH.

Hard Fate Robbed Her of a Kitten.

A Pennsylvania family is made up of an old man, his housekeeper and a cat.

Family prayers are always said each evening, and until a falling out which tabby had with her master last month she was a plous attendant. Now, however, she turns up her nose and refuses to pray at all. She had been so regular that none of the cares of catlife had been allowed to interfere with her devotion. She would leave a half-chewed

It all came about over the acquisition of one too many kittens. Tabby had three about her, and the master decided that two were all he could afford to feed. So one morning, when the cat was asleep before the fire, he took up one of the pussies and started for the woods, where the creek ran, But tabby followed him, where he could not see, and saw him tie a string to the kitten and a rock to the string and throw them all into water. Then he came home looking as innocent as if he had not murdered a helpless pussy and sat down by the fire. Tabby said nothing, for she knew it would be of no use, but from that hour she never attended prayers. She had lost her faith in re-about a week. Its intelligence was dis-
