FRIDAY, MAY 12-1899.

Whoever the thieving rascals are who make so much trouble for the business men of Cottage Grove, by breaking into the different places of business, in the stillness of the dreary night, one thing is certain; they are after money, they pass by costly goods of every description and open the money drawer. However they haven't had the pleasure of getting away with much money as the merchants take pretty good care of that part of the business and empty the shining stuff into the depths of their jeans pockets before delivering over the store and its contents to prowling thieves and a night watchman that we haven't got.

The O. R. & N. doesn't seem to like the Eugene steamboat company and declined to allow the company's steamer to land at O. R. & N. wharves. In other words the O. R. & N. don't propose to let Eugene play in her rain barrel any more. The people of Eugene should now fall upon each other's necks and between sobs of joy congratulate themselves that it has not been decreed that they yank their tub out of the waters of the Willamette.

For some time store robbing has been quite a pastime in Cottage Grove. It has been suggested that tramps were the perpetrators of these crimes. While we are suggesting let's suggest to look a little nearer home. Tramps, like lightning don't hit the same place twice, as a rule, especially in an interval of ten days.

It is said that Claude Branton jumped two feet high when he heard that Governor Geer had pardoned Olberman. Today Claude will jump about ten feet low because Governor Geer did not pardon one Branton.

The mining industry made Spokane, Wash., what that city is today. The Bohemia mining district of Lane county will make Cottage Grove, if the proper enterprise is put forth.

Farmers around Cottage Grove are beginning to see the necessity of having better roads. It is a question deserving of the attention of every enterprising citizen of every community.

The Eugene Register has just reached the 16-year mark of its existence. The Register has always been a good paper, and has done much for the good or the republican party.

It is said that Claude Branton the condemned murderer gets weak in the knees at times and begs for mercy. It is predicted by some that he will break down on the scaffold.

Lane county should have a railroad from Eugene to Florence. It would probably have a tendency to cheapen freight rates.

How about that night watchman anyway? Are we to have one? Surely it looks as though the town needed one.

There are few towns in Oregon of the size of Cottage Grove that don't employ a night watchman.

WRITING EDITORIALS.

If any one thinks it is an easy job to write a four column editorial just let him try it once.

Before he gets through he will be reminded of the young man who criticized his pastor's sermons and complained of his receiving so much salary. So the pastor proposed to him that he fill his pulpit for him next Sunday. The young man readily agreed, saying that it would be an easy task.

All day Monday the young man hunted for a text. The pastor had offered him the use of his study and books. On Tuesday he still hunted for a text. Wednesday and Thursday he pursued the same occupation and beginning to grow desperate appealed to the pastor for a text, remarking, "If I only had a text I'd be all right."

The pastor chose a text for him. He sat down wrote out his text and then tried to think of something to write. A few lines came quickly and there it ended. If you have ever tried to write an editorial you may know something of the young man's agony when on Saturday evening he told the minister he would have to give up, and henceforth would never complain of sermons or salary again.—Capital Journal.

Friday upon the streets of Eugene at one time were a number of old men, proving that our climate is conducive to longevity. They were Waldow Skinner, 90 years, Bell Jennings, 87, John Cogswell, 86, Dr. A. W. Patterson, 85, H. C. Hadley, 84, John Diamond, 84, John Whiteaker, 80, H. C. Owen, 80, A. Goldsmith, 79. Each of these old men is in good health and they apparently have several years before them—at least we hope they have.—Guard.

Only three conferences will be held in the state by these distinguished workers and Eugene is fortunate in securing one of them. The ladies are not only distinguished in W. C. T. U. work in the United States but in Canada and Europe as well. The public is cordially invited to attend this conference.
