

More Robberies.

Cottage Grove comes to the front with a robbery story nearly every week these days. Last Sunday morning five different business houses were entered or at least entrance was attempted by these unknown parties who are making life tiresome for business men just now. It is evident from their procedure that they are after money as they did not molest goods in any of the places they entered, but went straight for the money drawer. The New York racket store was entered through the same window through which they gained entrance before, and the money drawer was taken from its place. They received little pay for their trouble however as only a few pennies had been left in the drawer. The Bon Ton meat market was also entered, but here they did not gain much from a financial point of view. They tried Baker & Johnson's grocery store but did not get inside. The post-office was also visited and both the rear and front door was tried without success. They also tried the City meat market but without avail. They then went to the depot, some time between 3 o'clock and daylight, after night operator Bond had closed the office and gone home. Here they managed to open a window and get inside. They broke into the money till but with the exception of a few cents got nothing. They showed by their work that they are bunglers, and their bungling will get them in the jug the first thing they know.

Under Good Headway.

Last Tuesday night camp No. 4624 Modern Woodmen of America was permanently organized in this city at Cumming's hall, under the authority of Deputy Marshall of Albany and Venerable Consul L. L. Stevens of the Eugene camp, Consul Stevens officiating. An enthusiastic meeting was held, there being twenty present. The officers elected are as follows: J. P. Holland, V. C.; S. J. Davidson, W. A.; James Hemenway, B.; A. Nelson, E.; E. W. Hebard, C.; A. J. Turner, W.; Frank Henderson, S.; camp physicians, Dr. Geo. Wall, Dr. B. R. Job. As soon as the members from other lodges who have recently located here present their cards for admittance to the Cottage Grove camp, the membership will be swelled to something like 25 to commence with. A pretty good showing.

Married.

At Yoncola last Sunday afternoon, May 6 1899, Mr. C. Ross King and Miss Nellie Blanche Daugherty were united in marriage, Mr. Ed Hebard of this city officiating as best man. Mr. King and his fair bride are prime movers in the best society of Yoncola, and both have a host of friends who hasten to tender sincere congratulations.

Mine Sold.

Sensational.

Eugene papers are out with a sensational case, that of a newly born babe being found by officers in an outhouse vault. It is alleged to have been born to Miss Lottie Hanovan, and that it was born alive. Charges of manslaughter have been preferred. The girl does not deny the birth of the child, but she tells a story to the effect that while camped in a hop yard last fall with her mother, she was drugged one night by a man unknown to her and carried some distance from the camp and her body ravished. When she came to her senses she found her way back to camp, but never knew who the man was.

No One Doubts.

No one doubts the necessity of Cottage Grove maintaining a night watchman, but the sticker seems to be with the city council to provide ways and means with which to pay him. At the present time the city hasn't a sufficient revenue to justify them in the support of the office. Others claim that we need an all night light system just as much as we need a watchman, and there is some foundation for the assertion. Why wouldn't it be a good plan to have a call meeting of the citizens and get the voice of the voters?

City Council.

The city council convened last Tuesday night and transacted the usual amount of business coming before it. Among the important things done was a ruling which is of interest to bicyclists of Cottage Grove. It was ordered that bicyclist be prohibited from riding on the walk west as far as Dr. Wall's residence, and on West main street as far as Mrs. Sanford's; also as far north as the north side of Bohemia Nugget office.

Mechanics Institute.
