A Fireworks Capture.

TROUBLE rapid on the lightning must be very serious, as the gang were at Once. The former had been working the same place for over six months, and was now to make his last return. He had been seen in that district for four days, and was known to be a good hand. Four days ago he had a fight with a young man, and a woman was killed.

"I hope they'll catch the rascal," exclaimed the other. "I am sure it is a case of murder, and we must let them know it."

"I don't think they will," said her. "But I am sure we must do something."

"I don't know what we can do," said her. "But I am sure we must do something."

"I don't know what we can do," said her. "But I am sure we must do something."

"I don't know what we can do," said her. "But I am sure we must do something."