THE GLORIOUS DAY.

How the Fourth of July Was Observed.

The day was an ideal one, and Cottage Grove had a celebration that excelled all others for a number of years past. The procession formed at 10 o'clock and marched to the grove where a literary program was held. The band furnished some excellent music, and the Declaration of Independence, owing to the non-arrival of Mrs. Sutton of Springfield, was read by John W. Baker. Attorney L. T. Harris of Eugene then delivered the oration. Mr. Harris needs no word of praise from the press. He is a gentleman of marked ability, and through his own efforts and talents is rapidly pushing himself into the foremost rank of speakers and lawyers of Oregon.

His address was truly a Fourth of July oration based upon historical events, and replete with patriotism. At the close he touched upon the Philippine situation, approving the present course of the administration. He was listened to with marked attention and those present were loud in praise of the orator of the day.

In the bicycle parade some very pretty dresses and decorations were displayed. The prizes were awarded as follows: Nina Ostrander 1st; Grace Lincoln 2nd; Ethel Woolley 3rd.

NOTES.

The tug of war contest did not come off, owing it is alleged, to Al Churchill the heavy weight of the Bohemia mines picked team, being indisposed.

It was an orderly day throughout. Numerous stands were supplying the wants of the patriots, both in town and on the grounds.

At the grounds the M. C. C. Bakery, Messrs. Campbell and McCurdy had an attractive stand and a dance platform.

Has Seen the Country.—Mr. Charlie Burns, McFarland & Co's Meat cutter interested a Nugget man the other day, telling of his experiences at all points of the globe. Mr. Burns is French born, and has followed his trade, that of meat cutter, for 25 years. He has traveled extensively, having worked at his trade aboard boat and in nearly every country. He speaks thirteen different languages, and has served nine years in the United States navy. He has his views about this country, among them being that this country is O. K., that the people are O. K., but that the younger classes should be compelled to learn a trade; that it would keep their minds engaged and at the age when they are most apt to form bad habits that will stick closer than a brother all the days of their life. He thinks that it is a fortunate thing for the natives of the Philippines and the United States alike, that Spain has relinquished right and title to the Islands. He says the islands are rich beyond comparison, and that in time the United States will reap golden harvest therefrom. He believes that military rule should exist there, but says the time will come when the natives will gladly come under United States rule. Mr. Burns is proud of his trade as it has served to land him in nearly all the important countries of the world. He came here from Kansas City where he was employed by the Swift Meat Packing Co., for two years.

Plenty of Dance.—Two dances were given here on the Fourth, one at the Grove in the afternoon and evening and the Firemen's hall in the evening at Martin's hall. Both were well patronized, and those present report a pleasant time.

An Orderly Day.—Cottage Grove was indeed a city of excellent order on the Fourth. Marshal Miller reports that only three drunks were received at the Hotel de Miller. When considering the crowd it certainly was a day of good order.
