The Boys in Bohemia Camp Approve the Donations.

The following is a letter received from one of the well-known mining men in Bohemia, telling the thanks of the boys for the generous Fourth of July donations contributed to the camp.

Mr. Emerson: I am not prompted to drop you this note except to say that we have a remarkably fine and entertaining correspondence from the boys, and that they are making a fine show at camp. It is a true rule of justice to our mining camp is the matter of the history of its activities. That which is seen on the surface is important, and the hidden parts, if either of its regular correspondents, were present at our celebration of Independence Day, and because it is the universal desire of the boys in camp that, through the medium of the columns, the people of Cottage Grove be most heartily thanked for their kind and generous donations of fire works, entices and other requirements that they may be able to thank the donors but also T. J. Perkins, W. H. Storrs and N. Mather, who had charge of the free grant transportation.

Nothing could have been more reassuring or be more acceptable than the presence of visitors and the absence of strangers and also voices the programme was not all that it might have been, but for a genuine good time we could have made the greatest of the boys.

On the evening of the last inst. our Flag Day celebration was held on the top of Mt. Fairview, and owing to the fact that most of us would be engaged on Labor Day the Fourth of the Fourth, the programme was executed in part, on the evenings of the red and gold and completed at 3:30 p.m. of the Fourth. It included an address as well as all the usual formalities, with the limited material at hand, the usual literary exercises, music, etc. There was one of which the notice to the Mining camp which contributed the greater number of those taking part in the celebration, would be wanting in pretense did we not mention the benignant feast prepared for the occasion by our general hostess, Mrs. Beck. The feeling of each one who was with us on our national day can, I think, be fully expressed in the words of one of Oregon's greatest orators: "I love this day because we mean a combined and concentrated power and influence as American citizens because we are our foreign anxiety is forgotten in our desire for the Stars and Stripes, and because on such a day we lay aside our political prejudices and merely as Americans of no longer republicans, we are no longer democrats, we are no longer populists, and more especially, for the time being, do we cease to be prohibitions." Sam.

July 11, 1869.

The Iona of the morning was attended in the Iona school Friday. There was a grocer and an excellent program presented. However, the program was not all that it might have been, but for a genuine good time we could have made the greatest of the boys.

A story is told of a old A. N. H. plot, after 30 years of bad luck, hardships, and privation, finally "smack it rich" a few weeks ago in the vicinity of Plaistoff, and sold a half interest in his "prospect hole" to a neighbor. It is thought that the money was paid over to him at the bank, the cashier, who had known him for a long time, remarked casually: "Well, Bill, what are you going to do with the money?" and "I'm going to spend it on a rainy day."

The idea of luxury. He had lived so long on pork and beans that every thought of his own manufacture that cannot come from the "humblest" was considered as a blessing to him. The money was spent on a rainy day.

DESCRIPTIVE DISTANCES.

K. S. Cooner.

Bouquet newly planted at the Methodist Episcopal church will be as follows:

a. Northwest Missouri—1,800 miles.

b. Kansas City—800 miles.

c. St. Louis—700 miles.

The Western country is fitted for the other movements, the prospect of advance to the capital, and the Kansas, utilizing a magnificent mountain which apparently turned up only a few miles away, and he was going to walk over to the base before dinner. The mountain was in reality severer miles distant, but his friends allowed the tenderfoot to get an hour's start, then set out in a carriage to overtake him.

They came to him ten miles out, he walking on the banks of a raging ditch.

"Hello, there, George, what are you up to," called one of his friends.

"I'm going to swim this river," answered the man of samples.

"That's not a river, it's only a ditch forty feet wide. Why don't you jump over?"

"Yes, maybe it is," answered George, humbly, "but I thought that mountain there over there was only about two miles within. I wasn't going to take any chances with the chances."—Latham Links.
