Upon another page of this issue of the Nugget will be found an article from the Toledo Blade under head of "National Prosperity." It is worthy considerable attention by those who scoff at the affairs of the country under the present administration. It is possible that some things have been done that ought not to have been done, but it is gratifying to know that the country isn't running to seed very badly, notwithstanding that we have an expensive war on our hands; and a lot of soreheads doing their utmost to crush out of sight the merits of republicanism, and who would delight in the ruination of the country they condescend to call their own. Figures are not as a rule very eloquent, but they usually tell the truth.

A dispatch from Lieutenant Huston to the Guard, announces that Company C will come home in a body. That's right. Let them come. Let each county honor their soldiers, not in a blazon Fourth of July way, but in a quiet appreciative and courteous manner, that will show at once our patriotism for our country, our joy for those who come home to us, our love and grief for those just as brave, just as worthy, just as patriotic, who do not come. Let us show our love with a tear of sadness in our eyes, for those who stay.

Cast your eye over the list of new improvements printed in another column of this issue of the Nugget, all made within the last eight months, barring perhaps two, which were commenced over a year ago but not finished until this year, and see if you have got nerve enough to persuade your croaker into croaking another croak in the interest of Croaker Bryan and his Ignis-Fatuus.

DIED.

"When sorrows come, they come
not single spies,
But in battalions."

J. C. Stouffer after a painful illness of several weeks passed beyond earthly suffering into the speculative sea of eternity last Sunday evening, July 30, 1899.

In the language of Dr. McAlister, "he was a man." No eloquence of words can do him greater honor, nor impress more indelibly upon the public mind his true worth, than is portrayed by the one sentence, "He was a man!" God's masterpiece was man—not physically, merely, but morally. One who loved truth, despised falsehood; loved honor, hated wrong; and allowed his conscience to be an important factor in his dealings with his fellows. If his conscience told him he was right he was not afraid to stand out alone and support his belief.

J. C. Stouffer was born in Wayne county, Ohio, September 15, 1839. He was married to Lydia F. Shirley, November 11, 1866, in Carroll county, Missouri. He afterwards removed to Louisiana and, in 1876 again removed to Nevada. He came to Cottage Grove, Oregon, in 1878. Here he soon became an important figure in municipal affairs, and held the office of city recorder from the date of incorporation of Cottage Grove until 1898, when he retired and paid his daughter, Mrs. W. C. Schilbrede, of Billings, Montana, an extended visit, returning home early in the present year.

Deceased served three years in the Union army, he was a staunch republican, and his opinions in party council were always appreciated. He was an honored member of the Masonic lodge, and had passed the royal arch degree. He leaves a wife, and two daughters, Mrs. W. C. Schilbrede of Billings, Montana, and Mrs. C. H. Burkholder of this city.

The funeral was held at 3 o'clock p. m. August 1, at the Masonic hall, Dr. E. A. McAlister of Eugene, officiating. The body was escorted to the hall by the Masonic order of this place and visiting members. After the service at the hall the body was conducted to the "silent city," where it was lowered into the grave under Masonic auspices.

Geo. Hawley has recently finished a neat dwelling on Wall street and now has another under construction.

Mr. Willard is also erecting a two story house over in McFarland's addition.

Dr. Schofield who built a portion of a house last winter, now has the lumber on the ground and will soon commence the erection of a neat dwelling.

The M. C. C. Bakery building on First street south of Main, owned by U. G. Walker, was also constructed this spring expressly for M. C. Campbell's bakery.

An attractive feature on Main street is the new barber shop of James Ostrander. Mr. Ostrander purchased the building and lot adjacent to Knox's hardware store, and has remodeled it into an attractive little building and moved his barber effects, consisting of two chairs, bath room, etc.

The most substantial and ornamental improvement to Cottage Grove is the construction of P. B. Sherwood's two story brick on the corner of Fourth and Main streets. The building is 46x70 feet, stone foundation and brick walls. The lower floor will be finished in one large store room, and shelved for Garman & Newell of Brownsville, who will arrive here upon the completion of the building with a large and well selected stock of general merchandise. The upper story will be furnished in a spacious lodge room with ante rooms and lockers, with several office rooms in front.

William Hawley of Lorane is preparing to build a cozy little cottage in the near future, the dimensions of which could not be learned.

The B. L. Pickard residence now in course of construction on West Wall street, has a foundation 28x38, is a 10 room house and has a fine basement, which will be floored and partitioned into additional rooms for summer convenience. One very attractive feature about it is the large porch extending in front and on one side.

D. H. Hemenway, who owns and conducts a blacksmith shop on First and Main streets has recently enlarged his quarters and in the near future expects to build a wagon shop in the rear.

Cy Miller the well known blacksmith and general mechanic has completed a residence and large shop two doors north of the Eakin & Bristow bank.

J. C. Long & Son the enterprising mill and general merchandise men, are now erecting a new warehouse just across the track from the depot, foundation 40x60 feet. This warehouse is erected for the convenience of the miners in Bohemia who are now shipping tons upon tons of concentrates every week.

Otto Frederickson has the lumber on the ground for a story and a half house in the south part, foundation 20x28 with extension, 16x18.

One of the handsomest residences in town, completed this year is that of Mr. Geo. Lea on Fourth street. The foundation is 36 x 50, and the structure is divided into, eight rooms, besides hall, closets, bath room and pantry. The smallest room in the house is 14x15 feet. Mr. Lea is one of the best wood workmen in this section and in building his house he has taken particular pains to add every convenience possible. One of the attractive features about Mr. Lea's house, and one which has attracted considerable attention is his fireplace, which is provided with ventilating and heating pipes, which provide the rooms with fresh air and an even temperature, the remotest corners of the room being at the same temperature as at the fireplace.

A Few Thoughts

Koch, of Germany, has proven that microbes are the cause of Consumption. A. B. Griffiths, of Paris, has proven that Radams' Microbe Killer readily destroys microbes. Thus it cures Consumption. Of course I am only telling you what others think and have proven. But don't we learn by reading what others think?
