

People have serious apprehensions of trusts and the consolidation of capital in every line of business in general. A great per cent of this apprehension is without foundation. Trusts fail, syndicates go to pieces, railroad corporations, with all their millions are frequently thrown into the hands of receivers. Why? Because even with united capital men fail, and their pet schemes and plans are not a success. People who are so abusive in the matter of trusts and corporations should remember that trusts and corporations make their money when they do make it, exactly the same way that smaller concerns make their money—by direct, successful competition, to the detriment of another like concern, the capital of which by failing to down competition is submerged into individual capital again. It does not necessarily mean that it shall control all the trade in any given line. There may be others, and when there are others, there is competition. Competition is the back bone of this or any other commercial country. This country will never go to pieces, Bryan oratory notwithstanding, on account of trusts and corporations. The old rule, it takes money to make money is a good one. A merchantile business of any kind makes its greatest revenue from the trade received over and above its regular patronage, from competitors in the same line of business. Trusts and corporations make their big money in a like manner.

During the winter of 1897 Mr. James Reed, one of the leading citizens and merchants of Clay, Clay Co., W. Va., struck his leg against a cuke in ice in such a manner as to bruise it severely. It became very much swollen and pained him so badly that he could not walk without the aid of crutches. He was treated by physicians, also used several kinds of liniment and two and a half gallons of whisky in bathing it but nothing gave any relief until he began using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. This brought almost a complete cure in a week's time and he believes that had he not used this remedy his leg would have had to be amputated. Pain Balm is unequalled for sprains, bruises and rheumatism. For sale by BAXSON DRUG CO., Cottage Grove. LYONS and APPLIGATE, Drain Druggists.

SUMMONS.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Lane County. J. E. Young, Plaintiff, vs. J. E. Keyes and George M. Hawley, Defendants.

In the name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer to the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit by the first day of the next term of the above entitled Court following the expiration of the time prescribed for the publication of this summons, which first day will be the 5th day of March, 1900, and if you fail to so appear and answer, for want thereof, judgment will apply to said Court for the relief demanded in his complaint. The relief demanded is that the Court appoint a referee to sell at public sale the following described real property to-wit: Lots 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6 in Block 11 Lang and Landless Addition to the City of Cottage Grove in Lane County, State of Oregon, and out of the proceeds of said sale to pay the cost of this suit and the costs and expenses of the referee in making such sale and that the residue after paying such costs and expenses be paid to plaintiffs and defendants herein as their interests may appear.

This notice is published in the Bohemia Suzzet, a news paper of general circulation published weekly in said Lane County once a week for six successive weeks by order of E. O. Potter county judge for said Lane County which order is dated October 2nd, 1899.

This summons is published the first time October 1899.

J. E. Young,
Plaintiff.
