Cottage Grove, Oregon, Friday, Nov. 17, 1899. NO. 42

BOHEMIA NOTES.
A Geneal Write-up of the Camp—Continued From Week to Week.

Just below and situated on the same magnificent stream is the group owned by Masterson, Cunningham & Son et al, one of the most recent discoveries in the district. Although only about a year old, this company is pushing their work steadily and from samples brought out they have an expectation of being able to find in this section, and in other permanent improvements have been erected, and being held below snow temperatures are to be pushed all winter. The healthy station in one of the best in the world, timber and water in abundance and so far as work has been pushed the ore is all that could be desired.

On the south side of this stream there are a number of good mines under various stages of development. Among the basement in the Bullimore and Orphans Bay owned by J. W. Jenkins a promising mine of local distinction who is pushing development almost continuously and with the best of results. This property is worked in different sections, and a few of which show a good strong ledge of free milling ore. This is one of the most promising properties on this side of the district. On this hill of mineral is another mine owned by the same company and known as the Cottage Grove, which is not too far off to the west with a vein cut from west to east running 40 feet thick showing the best to be very strong and from 70 to 90 feet in width and carrying a large percent of copper and lead besides gold.

The most interesting property of the magnificent timbers of which this district is largely supplied there being, for pine, cedar and hemlock for all mining purposes and surrounded on all sides by grand scenery, good hunting and fishing.

The next mines of any note are to be found on the famous Fairview mining claim, which is a hill gold. On this broad branch is struck many of the most noted mines of Oregon. First to the north comes a group of mines owned by the Russell & Everts. On this promising lead work has been carried on continuously for the last 2 years. A crosscut has been driven down to the top of the vein at great depth, which was recently cut and disclosed a vein 3 feet wide. On this lead is to be seen several different characters of formation, first and most prominent is granite, then slate and hornblende and guano of which are gold and silver bearing formation, with timber and water for all mining purposes. These gentlemen have good houses, shops and snow sheds and are prepared for any large amount of development the coming winter.

The next mine from this mine to the east and south we find the Fairview & Johnson mine in a successful stage of development. A force of men are driven by this company with a shaft to connect with their lower level to bring this mine air. This mine is supplied with a small prospecting mill of 2 stamp capacity and men and a turbine water wheel. This is a fine location.

There then comes the Bell of Fairview owned by Mr. W. R. Johnson prominent business men of Cottage Grove. There are 2 claims in this group both of which show good strong veins. Mr. W. R. Johnson is at present working a crew of men doing assessment work on this mine.

Next comes the Famous and Harbor group of which a large amount of good work in tunnels and good substantial buildings including stables power and living quarters. This company has recently bought Mr. Park's London explorators and at present is undergoing extensive development work. This ore is of a lapilli type, and Mr. Park has also had the other property of Messrs. White & Gardner on the German or Yeunvich. There has been a large amount of work in this shaft and all in good condition. Will not keep the door deep and at present is within 15 feet or so, which when tapped if satisfactory a mill and stamp work will be at once started.

It will not be a surprise to any who know all the local and good qualities of Cunningham's Corny Rye. To those who buy every bottle made from this strain it will be a surprise to find the oil is cold, and that this new brand in oil is the best and to the public, no better oil.
