A gigantic victory for the "anties"—Bryan has carried Nebraska.

Cottage Grove made rapid strides this year—the "make ready" for rapid and substantial growth in 1900.

Cottage Grove is the best business town of its size in the state, and the Bohemia mining district is unequalled.

Bryan and Aguinaldo—a good combination. One is running himself out of politics in the United States—the other is running before the army of the United States in the Philippines.

Democratic and anti-imperialist papers are trying to make out that because several of the states showed a democratic gain in the matter of the election of state officers, that the administration is not upheld and that it foretells defeat of the republican presidential ticket next year. It is perfectly natural that anti-republican papers should fall back upon this somewhat stale commentary, as it is the only available one. But the fact is that you can never estimate a party's strength accurately by the result of home election. When the presidential campaign has ended it will be found that the republican ticket will be given an overwhelling majority; not only in the states of indisputable republican strength but in the majority of the so called doubtful ones. Sound money and sound war policy will win.

Thousands and thousands of feet of lumber go into various markets on the Pacific coast from the Saguaw mills each week, and yet we as a people hardly stop long enough to realize the great benefit that mill is doing this county. The Eugene Guard is loud in its praise editorially and locally of Booth-Kelley Lumber Company, and yet in every paper is talking about the lack of capital in reality.

Booth-Kelley enterprise now in operation and being put in operation, is the result of combined capital, which is being used in a business that cannot help under their able management but make money for the investors, to assist in building up the county and place thousands of dollars in the hands of laboring men. Yet the Guard cries, down with trusts; smash consolidated capital. The Guard might just as well say down with Booth-Kelley Lumber Company. Its consolidated capital,—its a trust! But no; from a local sense the Guard uses better judgment and prates about its great benefit. The fact of the matter is any institution, trust, corporation consolidated labor, or what not, that puts money into the hands of the man without other capital than his bare hands is a benefit and a God-send to this county, the United States and the world. Booth-Kelley Lumber Company is in a measure a trust just as much as any other money making concern, but many a poor man is mighty thankful to "trust" them for a few days or a week's wages; and its the class of men who labor that furnishes the back bone of the country. In order that they shall labor it takes the accumulation of capital, whether by individual or joint membership.

Brother Wooley, of the populist Leader of Cottage Grove, labors hard in a column article in the last issue of his paper in attempting to prove that the unprecedented prosperity in and about his town is the direct result of the development of extensive mining and lumbering interests in that immediate vicinity by foreign capital, and not in anywise the result of a republican administration. We desire to inform this great (?) philosophizing editor that Roseburg, together with hundreds of other Oregon towns as well as the country generally has entered upon an era of prosperity, which we can hardly attribute to the "development of the Bohemia mines and the lumbering industry tributary to Cottage Grove, or to any other particular industry—it is simply the result of a restored confidence and the assurance of wise and judicial national legislation and a sound, staple, non-fluctuating currency, and no one is more cognizant of this fact than is Mr. Wooley of the Leader, who, however, would try to make his 203 readers believe that the dawn of the promised and much welcomed prosperity throughout the country is the direct result of local conditions, or more properly an act of kind Providence, but he neglects to apprise his readers that the same kind Providence has always persisted in staying his lavish hand except under a republican administration. Mr. Wooley should again philosophize on prosperity and then quit, or produce some argument.—Roseburg Plaindealer

SCHOOL NOTES.

ROOM 3.
Josh Brown has been absent from school for the past week, also Luther Van Feet.

Fred Fredrierson, one day this week, occupied a corner of the room.

Mary Hart and Leroy Shields have been absent this week on account of sickness.

The number of pupils of the school, is still increasing.

ROOM 4.
Miss Elina Wallace and Vera Ellet entered school Monday.

Elina Hambriek is back to school again.

Revs. McGregor and German visited school Friday.

Misses Ethel Veatch and Marie Curran visited room No. 4 Tuesday.

ROOM 5.
Miss Gertrude Dundie, Cleo Lewis, and Lou McKinnon were visitors at the school house the latter part of last week.

Friday evening Messrs. McCor and German the Presbyterian evangelists visited the school and favored us with two beautiful songs after which each gave us a short address which was interesting and full of good advice.

The fire drill created some excitement as well as enjoyment Friday evening.

The 10 B division is expecting an examination in grammar soon.

Wm. Long is absent from school on account of sickness.

The 9 B grade took an examination in U S history in which the entire class was successful.

We have had some new rules in our school the last week and the one of most importance was that of whispering. We are pleased to know that the shorthand class is progressing nicely.

The high school pupils are now using the tables and find them to be much more convenient than the desks which were formerly used.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

Having purchased my father's interest in the cigar and confectionery business of Weber & Son, I take pleasure in announcing that I will be at the old stand to welcome my old and as many new customers as may chance to come my way. Thanking you all for past and soliciting your future patronage, I am yours truly.
