

Not a Pleasant Sight.
 Without doubt when one considers the police protection afforded to Cottage Grove, it is the most orderly town in Oregon. Occasionally, however, there are occurrences that should be guarded against in any place, but cannot be guarded against without a better police system than that in vogue here at the present time. Of late it is a common thing to see and hear men cruising upon the streets without any apparent regard for those who may pass by. The other night two drunks were waddling on the street, back armed and armed, and only by a dexterous movement avoided being crowded into the house. An occurrence of this kind seen in a whole town will pose but it is not a creditable feature to the city at all.

Returned.
 Mr. Walker got his brother Will home from a visit to Bohemia last Friday. Will is more than pleased with what he saw up there and feels that the end of his visits to the hills is not yet. Will is one of the best fellows on earth and many of his friends would like to see him back here in the spring.
