

Wash Up.
Miss Lulu Schlee and Miss Weber had an exciting experience Friday morning. The couple attended the dancing at Creswell Thursday and as they were driving across the bridge in this city about 5 o'clock Friday morning their horses were frightened and started to run. Miss Weber says the tongue came down and she fell off the approach of the bridge. As he tightened up on the reins his efforts to stop them were unavailing. They neared the crossing in front of the store. Mr. Weber pulled on the reins and headed them into the walk. The electric light pole in front of the Miners Exchange saloon was struck and a general smash up followed. The top of the buggy was overturned, the poles, single trees broken, reach broken, buggy box broken, and Mr. Weber's buggy broken up. However, the condition of the streets is not an important figure in the life of the city. Mr. Weber and Miss Schlee, although considerably frightened, seem to be much the worse for the exciting escapade, but it is probable that they would not care to repeat it again.

A SURE CURE FOR CROUP. Twenty-five Years' Constant Use Without a Failure.

The first indication of croup is hoarseness, and in a child subject to that disease it may be taken as a sure sign of the approach of an attack. Following this hoarseness is a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is used in many thousands of homes in this broad land and never disappoints the anxious mothers. We have yet to learn of a single instance in which it has not proved effectual. No other preparation can show such a record—twenty-five years' constant use without a failure. For sale by BEXSON DRUG CO., Cottage Grove, LYONS & APPELEGATE, Drain, Druggists.
