

Died.

Word has reached this city that "Uncle" Bibbins one of the early day pioneers of the Bohemia mines died at the home of J. W. Cole on Row river Monday morning at 5 o'clock. Uncle Billy met with a fearful accident a couple of weeks ago. He returned to his cabin and being wet and cold built a fire in the fire place and laid down in front of it to warm and dry. He fell asleep. His clothes caught fire and his back was horribly burned before he could extinguish the flames. He lay for 5 days without aid, and then managed to crawl and walk to the home of Mr. Cole some distance away where he received the gentle care of friends until death came and relieved the spirit from the suffering shell of clay. He was buried Tuesday in the Sears grave yard. "Uncle Billy" was nearly 75 years old, and came here in '64. He was a generous, good soul and hadn't an enemy in the world. May he rest in peace, all honor to the noble, liberal hearted, broad minded men who paved the way into this glorious country, and who are now one by one, slipping silently away into immortality.

About the Special.

.....The Bohemia Nugget last week issued a special mining edition devoted for the most part to giving a history of prospecting and mining in the Bohemia country and giving a description of some of the best known mines there. GUILTY OF THE CRIME

B. F. Harvey, S. P. Brakeman Arraigned---Held in $1,000 Bond.

Patterson Waived Examination---Bonds
$2,500.

B. F. Harvey, who was arrested last Saturday on the charge of "Taking away from home a female under the age of 16 years, without the consent of her parents or guardian for the purpose of prostitution or concubinage," was arraigned Monday in Justice Vaughn's court, Deputy Prosecuting Attorney L. T. Harris appearing for the State and Attorneys A. C. Woodcock and J. S. Medley for defendant.

Quite a number of witnesses had been subpoenaed, from here and Roseburg, and the trial took the entire day.

Miss Winnie Thorn, the victim of the disgusting and decidedly sensational crime, was the first witness on the stand. She gave her testimony in a straight, concise manner looking the defendant straight in the eye much of the time. The examination of witnesses for and against the state took up the greater part of the day, Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Harris opening the argument not earlier than three o'clock. At the close of Mr. Harris' remarks Attorney Woodcock arose and made as good an argument for defendant as possible considering the evidence deduced. J. S. Medley followed Mr. Woodcock with a strong plea for defendant and then the prosecution closed with a short summary of the facts in the case.

At the close of the argument Justice Vaughn not deeming remarks by His Honor necessary turned to the defendant and said "I regret very much Mr. Harvey that I must hold you to appear at the next term of circuit court for Lane county, in the sum of $2,000 bonds." Attorney Medley objected to the enormity of the bond and as the prosecution did not object to a reduction, Justice Vaughn reduced the bond to $1,000. Harvey who at the beginning appeared to be very confident that he would be acquitted flushed red and then turned white, and it was noticeable that a considerable amount of his vocabulary seemed to leave him and when he left the court room with Sheriff Withers to await his bondsmen, Kirk Hurburt and Wm. Washburn of Junction, he seemed to lack much of the ostentatiousness which seemed to be his play in the morning. His bondsmen arrived on Tuesday morning's overland and fixed up the bond.

PATTERSON ARRESTED.

At 9 o'clock Monday night Sheriff Withers was called to the phone and advised that his man Hugh Patterson was a prisoner at Albany, the young man's home. The overland took Mr. Withers to Albany and Tuesday afternoon he returned with his man, L. Bilyeu of Eugene was retained in conjunction with Mr. Medley to defend Patterson. He was brought before Squire Vaughn at 4 o'clock and waived examination, whereupon the Justice placed him under $2,500 bonds to appear at the next term of circuit court of Lane county.

From the arrival of the first train after the report that Miss Thorn was missing Deputy Prosecuting Attorney L. T. Harris and Sheriff Withers have been on the ground, running down every clue available to discover and land the guilty parties, while Prosecuting Atty Brown was diligently picking up the threads at Roseburg the end of the division and where Miss Thorn was found in an almost helpless condition. However the stories circulated were so numerous and conflicting that it was a difficult matter to locate the right parties, and in such cases it is very important that no mistakes are made if for no other reason than the fact that it is a serious matter to arrest a person on such a charge who is not guilty. Stories galore were afloat—one that Miss Thorn had fallen into the hands of hobos—another that she had been brutally assaulted by the entire train crew—another that she had left home of her own free will—and still another that it was a case of blackmail. Hence it required considerable time to deduct the true facts in the case. So far as keeping an eye on the two parties who it has since been proved were the ones wanted, they were well under the eye of the officers at all times, and the precaution was also taken to send descriptions of the men both north and south with instructions to look out for them. The fact is the officers handled the case about as cleverly as possible under the circumstances, and through the methods adopted, finally secured the birds they were after without causing the arrest of parties not implicated.

Perhaps one of the best displays of the strength of a minstrel show is its street parade, and yet the big street parade by Richards & Pringle's Famous Georgia Minstrels, fail to give even an adequate idea of this company's numerical strength, nor the magnitude of its stage performance, which in point of excellence and genuine merit remains unrivaled. Every detail has been looked after; an orchestra of thirty pieces furnishes the best of music for the stage performance; rich and gorgeous wardrobe is used with attractive advantage; calcium effects and stage properties and one solid carload of special scenery, representing three tons, is carried for the stage presentation. Fifty people are included in its roster, a score of big specialty acts, the famous troupe of tumbling and acrobatic Arabs, a host of comedians, singers, dancers, trick bicyclists, wire walkers, and a spectacular finale, brimming with good wholesome fun.
