CHARLEY COATS SHOT.

Charles A. Coats, well known here, was shot near Riddle last Sunday, by Jackson Monroe formerly a partner with Coats in placer property. It seems the two men quarreled about possession of property on Saturday before the shooting, Monroe claiming that Coats was trespassing upon his property. Coats claims that he was not on Monroe's property but was on his own property in which Wm. McQueen of this city is interested. Mr. Coats says that in the conversation between himself and Monroe on Saturday, Monroe warned him off. On the following day (Sunday) he went upon the property after some specimens which he had selected, in company with some other men, and while there was shot by someone in ambush alleged to be Monroe, who was secreted in some brush some yards away. The rifle bullet struck Coats about eight inches below the heart from the front and passed out to the left of the spine, inflicting a serious but not fatal wound. Monroe was arrested and in a preliminary hearing at Riddle was placed under $250 bonds. Mr. Coats was brought to this city Wednesday morning, and although suffering severely from the wound is slowly improving.

HE APOLOGIZED.

The following libelous article appeared in last week's Oracle, the sparkling little weekly published by W. C. Conner at Roseburg: Down near Cottage Grove a prosperous farmer had trouble in getting his son out of bed mornings to do the chores. The boy had a habit of answering "yessir" and going to sleep again. Recently he was particularly anxious to get the young man up for important work, and to make no mistake, called the boy, got the "yessir," then slid upstairs, turned the covers down and gave the person there a good spanking. It happened on that night the hired girl had been given the boy's room. When the tumult was over the old man sat down behind the barn and drafted a written apology to the girl.

It is very hard to stand idly by and see our dear ones suffer while awaiting the arrival of the doctor. An Albany (N. Y.) dairyman called at a drug store there for a doctor to come and see his child, then very sick with croup. Not finding the doctor in, he left word for him to come at once on his return. He also bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which he hoped would give some relief until the doctor should arrive. In a few he returned, saying the doctor need not come, as the child was much better. The druggist, Mr. Otto Scholz, says the family has since recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to their neighbors and friends until he has a constant demand for it from that part of the country.
