

MINES SOLD.

The "Calam Gille mining claim and a one-third interest in the "Tudor" claim situated near the famous Musick mine, in Bohemia district, was sold last week to E. Rhode and Lewis Johnson, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, for a consideration of $600.00, through O. O. Lund, the well known timber land locator. The property was owned by M. L. Campbell and Edward White of Eugene, and is considered a splendid property. Nothing but prospect work thus far has been done, the owners having gained a depth of only 15 feet. However at that depth they struck ore that assayed $27 per ton, gold. The property is considered a very cheap property, by those who are supposed to know. Mr. Lund, the promoter of the sale, has taken quite an interest in Bohemia, and as he is in touch with some very responsible people in the east, he may be the means of interesting others in the district.

R. W. Veatch, of this city, is in receipt of information that Mrs. Mollie Loftus, well known in this city, having lived here for many years, and who has been in Weiser, Idaho, for the last two years, died in Pendleton, Eastern Oregon, two weeks ago. Mrs. Loftus was an old friend of Mr. Veatch's family, having lived with them for a number of years, and several weeks ago the lady wrote to Mr. Veatch, stating that she was sick with fever and asked for a loan of money that she might get back to this country. Mr. Veatch sent her the money and received reply that she would start in a day or two. He heard nothing more until last Saturday, when he received a letter from Pendleton that the lady had been taken from the train there in a dying condition and a few days later passed away among strangers.

Owing to a rush of business, in the office and household duties at home while the gripe had possession of the lady of the house several items of news were overlooked in last week's Nugget, namely, the disturbance at D. H. Hemenway's blacksmith shop, where a man by the name of Welch tried to take possession and when rebuffed by Mr. Hemenway, came back and broke an ash broom handle over the good natured proprietor's head, at which time said good natured proceeded to smooth the smooty duffer up with a rasp which he happened to have in his hand, and which acted like a magic wand in the matter of quieting the intruder. Mention of the bench show, at Portland, in which J. S. Benson's bitch "Tansy," was awarded a prize, and Dr. Petrie's Llewellyn setter "Dixie" was highly recommended, was also omitted.

A mass meeting will be held at Martin's hall next Monday night at 8 o'clock with the view of talking over the advisability of taking up the present bonded indebtedness of the city, which is $5,000, drawing interest at 8 per cent, and re-bonding for $10,000 at a much less rate of interest. It is said that the money can be borrowed for at least 5 per cent and perhaps less, if this is the case the citizens should look into the matter and give it their conservative attention. There is one thing sure, if money can be borrowed at 5 per cent interest the city is very foolish to pay 8 per cent, and even if the tax payers do not wish to increase the bonded indebtedness of the city, they can save the municipality considerable money in interest by taking up the old bonds drawing 8 per cent and issuing new at 5 per cent.

John Nowel, an old and highly respected citizen of Coast Fork died at his home Monday morning at 10 o'clock, of pneumonia, after a weeks illness, at the age of 72. Deceased had been a resident of this section for 20 years. The body was buried on the ranch of deceased Tuesday, May 1.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.

Saginaw Mill No. 1 the Scene--Two Men Killed--Another Badly Injured May Die.

A horrible boiler explosion accident occurred Wednesday at 10:30 o'clock at Booth-Kelley & Co's Saginaw Mill No 1, located six miles in the mountains from Saginaw at the head of the great timber chute.

Otto Fredricksen, head machinist, Otto Anlauf, acting superintendent, and Henry Rudolf, assistant machinist, and engineer Harry Wynne, were raising a 35 horse power boiler which had been connected with another boiler of similar power, which was planted 18 inches to the left at the "Log haul," 400 feet from the main mill. The boiler was to be taken out and replaced by a larger and better one which was on the ground. The boilers had been cut apart and steam had been raised in the one to remain, to propel the engines to assist in taking the boiler out of its bed. Fredricksen and Wynne were jacking up the boiler and Anlauf and Rudolf were working near by. Wynne stepped back some 10 feet to get a block to assist in the work, when the explosion occurred making a report which was plainly heard and attracted attention at Walker a distance of eight miles. Wynne was thrown to the ground and received a slightly bruised leg and a few small burns on his arm. When he arose he was horrified to see the machinery in a mass of ruins. As soon as he could collect himself and other men reached the scene a search for the other boys was made with the result that Fredricksen was dead having had his face, head and chest crushed and an arm broken. Poor Anlauf and Rudolf were sights to elicit the pity of the most hard-hearted. They were horribly scalded, and Anlauf was struck in the head and had an arm broken and a leg smashed, while Rudolf was horribly scalded besides a broken arm. The body of Fredricksen was removed to his cabin and the other two were taken to Mr. Anlauf's home and given all the care possible. As soon as they could reach the scene Drs Walland Job patiently dressed their wounds and cared for them as best they could, while Dr. Snapp looked after the body of Mr. Fredricksen and arranged for its removal to his home in this city.

It was apparent from the first that Anlauf could not live and at 10 o'clock Wednesday night after hours of intense suffering he died. At last accounts Rudolf was slightly improved.

The exploded boiler was carried over 400 feet across the mill pond, striking a stump and then bounding some 60 feet, striking the shed roof of the main mill building breaking a portion of it, and falling upon the slab track. The head of the boiler was blown out, and the firebox was blown across the pond at right angles with the boiler bed, and lodged about 40 feet away.

Engineer Wynne assigns no reason for the accident. He stated that everything was going on as smoothly as could be expected and not the slightest warning of anything wrong was given. He stated that he did not know what the head of steam was at the time of the accident. That the boiler was really under the management of Mr. Anlauf, and that they were all looking after the boiler.

Otto Fredericksen resided in this city, and was highly respected by all who knew him. He was a member of Fall lodge No 101, Lateral Falls Ore and was buried under the auspices of the Odd Fellows cemetery.

He was born in Copenhagen, Denmark, July 8, 1859 and would have been 43 years old next July. He came to California at the age of 19 years. In religious faith he was raised a Lutheran.

He was married to Mary Prettyman at Vancouver, Wash., and with his family moved to Cottage Grove, May 27, 1894. He leaves a wife, two boys and three girls and a sister to mourn for him.

Deceased was a steady, industrious man, a faithful friend and a kind husband, and the bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire community in their great trouble.

LOST.—A mans silk umbrella with "J B L" engraved on silver mountings.

The ancients believed that rheumatism was the work of a demon within a man. Anyone who has had an attack of sciatic or inflammatory rheumatism will agree that the infliction is demonic enough to warrant the belief. It has never been claimed the Chamberlain's Pain Balm would cast out demons, but it will cure rheumatism, and hundreds bear testimony to the truth of this statement. One application relieves the pain, and this quick relief which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by BENSON DRUG CO., Cottage Grove, LYONS & APPLGATE Drain Druggists.
