FRIDAY, MAY 25, 1900.

Hon. R. A. Booth the republican candidate for joint senator, is a man whose business and public career bespeaks for him the solid support of the business and laboring men alike. His whole life has been one of close application to business in which he has been not only in the position to employ hundreds of men in the ordinary walks of life, but so situated that he has been enabled to study the requirements and needs of the laboring men. Standing today at the head of the largest labor employing institution in Lane county i. e. Booth Kelley saw mill, he comes in contact with the laboring men first, last and all the time. He is splendidly educated, a conservative business man, and one who understands the economic measures necessary to good government and beneficial to those who depend upon their labor. He will receive the support of every man in Lane county who has the interest of good state and national government at heart, and who realizes that one of his important duties is to aid in the betterment of the conditions of the men who depend upon manual labor for a living.

The Guard, following up its former tactics grossly misrepresented L. T. Harris in its report of the candidates here last Saturday. One Holt who poses as a foreign missionary advocate and who is a member of the Lane county citizens ticket campaign committee, is responsible for the report, no doubt coached by E. R. Skipworth, who in order to get revenge upon Mr. Harris for the clever way in which he (Harris) scorched his silver tipped wings in his closing remarks, put Holt up to bring in the report, in which he stated that that the reason hops are low is because the farmers do not drink enough beer. This statement is a base prevarication from beginning to end, made doubly so coming from a man who is traveling about the country soliciting alms for the starving natives of India. A man who will sit through an address and then go out and make as malicious and uncalled for report of that nature is either mistaken, a wilful liar or a gentle prevaricator. If he is the gentleman he would have people believe him to be he will apologize to Mr. Harris publicly and personally.

The Honorable E. R. Skipworth while here last Saturday had two or three of the old line voters crowded in a woodshed trying to beat into them the merits of the citizens ticket and ostensibly, his own gigantic worth, and had occasion to allude to the Dingley bill, and its shortcomings, likewise the "great and unnecessary" expense it is to the farmers. As he was warming up to his argument one of the farmers suggested that if we could have another four years of the prosperity we have had in the last four years we could afford to pay for the Dingley bill. Skipworth, hesitated a moment smiled one of his "intelligent" smiles and changed the subject.

While in some localities the recent sickness of Hon. Ivan McQueen may have a tendency to lessen his chances for votes, still it can be safely said that where he is known his non-appearance on the canvass will not lessen his chance for election. Mr. McQueen is well posted on the issue now uppermost in the minds of the American voter, is a firm believer in the principles of republicanism, and is great enough to do his duty as an unvarnished conscience shall dictate.

THE JOINT CANVASS

THE CANDIDATES VISIT HERE

Good Crowd Heard The Speakers - Hon. R. A. Booth met With a Fine Reception.

Last Friday the candidates on the republican and citizens ticket reached this city in the afternoon and held joint discussion, L. T. Harris, republican nominee for legislature, E. R. Skipworth, citizen nominee for the same honors, and Levi Geer of this precinct, also citizen nominee for representative, taking part in joint debate. Mr. Harris lead and delivered a fine speech on the national issues. He was followed by Mr. Skipworth, who put in most of his time in abusing Mr. Harris, which showed conclusively to the audience that he is no match for his young adversary in debate upon the real issues that confront the American people, and right there many who heretofore were not altogether friendly to republicanism, commented to the effect that a man who was too timid to set before the people to whom he looked for political support, his ideas on the live issues of the day, was not a safe man to send to the legislature, and the fact of it is that Mr. Skipworth's fixed determination to avoid entering into a dispute with Mr. Harris on the questions which today interest the progressive and intelligent people of Lane county, more than the election of Mr. Skipworth to the legislature, will cause him the loss of many votes in this precinct. Mr. Skipworth is quite handy with satire and ridicule, but his ability as a measurer of momentous questions is sadly lacking, and in this respect he is sensible enough to avoid mixing up with men of Mr. Harris' intelligence. Mr. Geer followed, opening with a very pretty compliment to Mr. Harris and then took up the money question. Upon this he made a very good speech from a populist idea, but the trouble is, the populist idea isn't good, hence Mr. Geer's speech cannot be taken seriously by the majority of those who had the pleasure of listening to the sturdy farmer, who errs not from selfish motives but because he thinks he is right, and when he sees that he is following a false god, and that time is now apparently near at hand, the people will find Mr. Geer man enough to come out and acknowledge his error. However that acknowledgement should be forthcoming before the people trust legislative measures in his hand, not because he is not sincere in his belief but because the majority of the voting population of Lane county sincerely believe his beliefs to be wrong and adverse to the best interests of this country.

ENTHUSIASTICALLY RECEIVED.

As per date Hon. R. A. Booth, republican candidate for joint senator, addressed the citizens of this city Wednesday evening at Martin's hall. The hall was full of enthusiastic men and women, and his address was absorbed by them to a marked degree. Especially was this true of the Saginaw mill hands, who were out almost to a man to hear what their favorite employer had to say. Mr. Booth did not enter into petty discussion of personal affairs and measures of minor importance as is the case with the "politicians", but confined himself to the leading questions of the day—questions of vital importance to every voter in this country. Among the hundred-and-one good things that he said was the remark that it was of little consequence whether or not he was elected, but that the principles of the party which had honored him with a nomination should be upheld no matter what the cost. Mr. Booth had no harsh word for his opponent, and did not put in his time calling upon the audience to support him whether they did any one else or not. His speech was purely on the great issues of the country, and he handled every subject upon which he touched in a masterly and scholarly manner. In the audience were many ladies, the majority of whom gathered early, showing at once the interest taken by the keepers of the homes of this great country. If there is a man in Oregon today who is appreciated more than another by the men who are in his employ that man is R. A. Booth, and the demonstration the Saginaw boys gave him last night at the close of his remarks was one that would make any man proud.

FOR COUNTY TREASURER.

L. Gilstrap is the republican nominee for county treasurer. Mr. Gilstrap is a veteran of the civil war and as far as we are informed the only old soldier on either ticket. He is a practical book keeper and well qualified to fill the office. He has raised a large family of boys, four of whom are voters, and all highly respected citizens. He is book keeper for the Springfield Lumber Co., which proves his efficiency in this line. Should he be elected he will not have to call in assistance every few months to straighten up the books. His sons are publishers and proprietors of the Register, but this should not be held against him.—Junction Times.

Eugene Bond, republican candidate for county school superintendent is one of the best known educational men in the county. He is a young man self made. He has worked hard all his life educating himself through the efforts of his manual labor. He is a successful school teacher, and is thoroughly capable of filling the office. Vote for him!

If you will stop and think a moment, and recall the condition of affairs—your own included—four years ago, with the condition of affairs—your own included—now, it will not take you long to decide which way you will vote next June and November. If you consult your own and your country's good you will vote a straight, republican ticket.

Ern Lee, who is out for reelection to the office of county clerk at the hands of the republican party, needs no recommendation at the hand of the press of this state. A thorough office man, a man of the best of habits and always at his post of duty. This is his record and is sufficient to reelect any man.

Attorney L. T. Harris, the republican nominee for representative for Lane county, who has so ably seconded Prosecuting Attorney Geo. M. Brown in his very thorough work in this district for the past two terms, will be elected to the legislature by the largest vote cast in the history of Lane county.

There is only one man in Lane county who has made as good an assessor as the present incumbent of that office—and that's Dick Burto—know 'im?—he is our next assessor, by the grace of the good vote of the people of Lane county who look to a man's office ability as well as his politics.

Do you want to take chances on having things as they were four years ago?—then vote next June for the citizens ticket. Are you satisfied with the present condition of affairs as compared with the prevailing conditions four years ago?—then vote the republican ticket, next June.

No man who knows O. F. Knox will doubt his ability to fill the office of county judge in a fair and impartial manner no more than they would doubt his honesty. Capable and conscientious men are the ones we should elect to the various offices within the power of the voters to bequeath.
