FOR PRESIDENT
WILLIAM MCKINLEY
OF OHIO

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT
THEO. ROOSEVELT
OF NEW YORK.

Pestilence is brooding over the stricken city of Galveston. Hundreds of bodies are still decaying in the wrecked buildings and a train load of lime is more badly needed than provisions. The Ursuline convent has been converted into a general hospital. The work of clearing up is necessarily very slow. Bodies of victims are still being washed ashore on the beach and the general stench is stifling. A report from Boliver in east bay says that there are over 100 bodies on the beach there and the carcasses of hundreds of animals are mixed with them. All along the coast line of Texas the beach is strewn with dead bodies and thousands of decaying animals. The relief parties are making strenuous efforts to cope with the situation in order to avert as far as possible the threatened pestilence.

Wednesday morning's Register gives an account of another horrible wife murder by an insane man and his subsequent suicide by taking strychnine. The tragedy occurred at the home of Herman Petersdorf about six miles west of Junction on the night of the 17th inst. The murder of Lena Petersdorf was accomplished with a club and the woman's head was beaten into a jelly in the kitchen of their home, the body afterward being dragged several rods from the house and deposited near the fence. After appraising his nearest neighbors of his fiendish deed, and while they were getting together to effect his capture, the insane wretch took poison and ended his miserable life. The four little children were not disturbed in their beds.

The University of Oregon at Eugene opened its academic year on Wednesday under the brightest auspices. There are already over 200 students in attendance, of which number about 100 are new students. It is confidentially expected that before registration closes on December 1st fully 300 will be enrolled. The faculty are of the highest order and full of zeal and the university was never in more competent hands or had a brighter outlook, and it is hoped that the coming year will realize the best and most thorough results since the inception of that institution.

A copy of the Portland Mining Exchange's Carnival Souvenir, a neat little pamphlet setting forth the articles of incorporation of the Exchange, with illustrations of the rooms occupied in the Chamber of Commerce building, together with a list of listed stocks, is on the exchange table of the Nugget with Secretary F. J. Hard's compliments. It is an interesting book and furnishes much valuable information to those who are identified with mining properties.

Portland will dispatch three Oriental steamships this month.

STREET WORK.

Contractor Lea is pushing the work of street improvement as fast as could be reasonably expected. All things considered. The rock crusher is kept going steadily at its full capacity and teams are constantly on the move hauling the crushed product to its future place on Wall street, which is now about half completed with the first layer of rock. The building of the gutters on lower Main street is progressing finely and the filling in of ruts and holes is well along. Weather permitting, great will be the improvement by the end of another week. The work now inaugurated and so well under way is the initial step and the foundation stone to the upbuilding of the great future of this commonwealth. Good streets are the first desideratum in the progress of any and every town. On them depend largely the value of real property. The first impression the stranger in town gets of the people is from the streets. If they are in good repair and kept cleanly he decides that the people have the necessary spirit of progress to forge ahead and make a future city. If the streets are unkept and the farmer is seen with his load of produce stuck in a rut or the wheels of his wagon hub deep in the mud, the observer concludes that the hoary mossback holds sway, and until the icy hand of death removes them from the helm the town can never be more than a sleepy hollow. When the work is completed from the head of Wall street through the main artery of town to the depot it will be the greatest and best advertisement this community has ever had. It will be a pleasure and a pride to our people in its enjoyment, and a message of encouragement to the investing stranger the moment he alights from his voyage and plants his foot on the solid and substantial foundation of the future city of Cottage Grove.

Anent the State Fair, which is in progress at Salem this week, the Pacific Homestead says that the first agricultural society on the Pacific coast was organized at Salem, Oregon, April 6th, 1854. The first agricultural fair was held at Salem, October 11th, 1854; Hon. L. F. Grover delivered the address. In this address the establishment of woolen mills, the introduction of the Cashmere or Angora goat and the steam plow, were recommended. This society held fairs for several years, got into debt; sold its land to Marion county, which transferred it to the State Agricultural Society—and thus has evolved the State Fair.

A representative of the German government recently investigated the foods eaten by the English. He found that they eat the great amount of 83 pounds of sugar for each person, while the Germans eat only 23 pounds per person. An immense amount of sugar is used in making jam which is a standard article of diet in England. The director of one of the jam factories informed him the 400,000 tons of jam, containing 225,000 tons of sugar are produced annually in England, and 75,000 tons more of sugar are used in making other preparations—marmalades, etc. It is to be remembered that an English ton is 2,240 pounds.

This office is in receipt of a neat and attractive book presented by J. E. Young local agent, and written by Francis C. Moore, president of the Continental Fire Insurance Co., entitled "How to Build a Home." The little volume gives some practical suggestions, plans and specifications on house building and altogether is a most desirable addition to one's library.

The Galveston list of dead now number 4978 and there are many yet to count.

All Alaska is infested with small-pox and strict quarantine regulations are prescribed.

IMPERIALISM IMPOSSIBLE.

Among the provisions of the Federal Constitution which bear upon this matter is paragraph twelve of section eight, article one, which among other things gives congress power:

"To raise and support armies, but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years."

Thus the people through their representatives in congress have complete and absolute control over the army. They hold the purse, and, in so doing, they hold the sword. Imperialism in the sense in which Mr. Bryan uses the term, is an impossibility. The constitution prevents it. Imperialism without an army or an army without money to pay and support it is a vagary of democratic imagination. We can never have any more imperialism in this country than the people see fit to authorize from time to time. Whenever they wish to modify or reduce our military strength or activity, the matter rests wholly with the people. Even Mr. Bryan himself would be helpless.

The great struggle between the anthracite coal miners of Pennsylvania and their employers began on the 17th inst. Each side is confident of winning, and neither of the contending forces show any disposition to yield. The contest thus far has been devoid of any violence. At the present time over 112,000 men are involved and it is expected that all the mines in that region will be drawn into the struggle. Only speculation as to the outcome can be indulged in, as both sides are determined to win.

SHEEP AND STEERS.

For several days past large bands of sheep and steers have been passing through town on their way to Linn county. These bands have been gathered together in Eastern Oregon about Harney county and driven across the mountains to this side where they command a much higher price and find ready sale.

FOR SALE OR TRADE.

I have two span of horses, weighing from 1300 pounds up, and a fine Jersey bull, for sale or trade for town property.

MOTHERS!

Don't Let Baby Suffer.
THERE IS ONLY ONE THING KNOWN for aiding the teething process and slow growth in infants and children, and that is, for very obvious reasons, called ANTI-TEETH. It stops the fretting, restlessness, general feebleness, colic and diarrhoea. Prevents brain troubles and convulsions. Renders teething gums unnecessary. It has been estimated that five millions of babies die annually for want of mothers knowing what to do. Dentition is the dangerous period of child life, far too serious to be dismissed with the careless remark, "Baby is cutting her teeth." Your child needs some making material. ANTI-TEETH supplies this want. It is pleasant, dissolves in milk and taken easily. One box will save your baby untold misery. Sent postpaid by return mail on receipt of 50 cents. Full instructions with each box. Address: INLAND DRUG CO., 2011 Washington Street, San Francisco, Cal. Antifer so certainly relieves teething babies that we will on all packages sold by mail, refund the money by sending stamps in full for those returned within 30 days not over one-fourth used.
