

REBELLION NIPPED IN THE BUD.

Last year in the public school revolt was rampant and the authority of the principal was set at defiance by the older and bigger boys, who assaulted Prof. Day, defied his mandate and had things their own way, because he was not muscular enough to enforce order and discipline, and the result was a go-as-you-please rule, which was a shame and a disgrace to that seat of learning which the taxpayers had gone down into their pockets to endow. At this time a change has come over the scene and now at the head of the school is not only a brainy man, but a man of muscle and determined action, and he has begun at the very root of the evil, and if his hands are upheld, and they undoubtedly will be, he will have a model school that will redound to the great good of all. On Monday Pearl Bennett, son of W. S. Bennett, one of the school trustees and mayor of this city, refused to study the lesson assigned him by Professor Briggs. The professor insisted on his devoting his attention to that particular study and the young man stubbornly refused to do so. While the professor had his time taken up with another class this rebellious pupil sat with folded arms and his gaze riveted on the ceiling in open mutiny. When Mr. Briggs was disengaged and noticed the stubborn actions of the young man he was quick to act, and in the spirited evolutions that immediately took place the professor demonstrated to his refractory pupil that he was master of the schoolroom, in which point of difference the pupil reluctantly acquiesced. The little fracas was reported to the board of trustees, which body was called together in the evening, the affair gone over in detail and the professor commended and exonerated for his action. Affairs of this kind in our public school are not pleasant to chronicle, and it is earnestly to be hoped that the boys who think they know will see the folly of their way, and in the future follow the direction and counsel of the man who does know. Professor Briggs when entering on his duties gave out that he intended to govern the school on the lines of the golden rule; but in this instance he had to reverse the rule and do the boy or the boy would have done him. So far the consensus of opinion in town is that he is the right man in the right place.

CHURCH DISTURBERS.—The members of the Christian church and the minister of that house of worship were much annoyed at the misbehavior of a number of girls and boys who attended the services last Sunday evening, and to make matters more serious some other bad boys had placed a lot of bottles on the steps of the north entrance in such position that a person coming out would step on them and they would roll from under his feet and cause a fall down the long steps. It so happened that the bottles were discovered before anyone was hurt, but it is a despicable trick, and the boys that done it, if caught, ought to be flogged. The matter of these young people disturbing the meetings has occurred quite frequently, and if it is not stopped and better behavior maintained in the future the minister will take down the names of the disturbers and notify their parents. A church service is not a place for making mashes, writing notes, squirming around, giggling and chewing gum.

SPLENDID APPLES.—J. G. Powell, whose orchard is about 8 miles from town up the Coast Fork, brought to this office on Monday a dozen Northern Spie apples that for size and beauty can't be beat. Mr. Powell has hundreds of bushels of these famous apples to dispose of and these handsome specimens can be seen by all who will call at the Nugget office.

Miss Etta Vaughn returned home from Drain last Friday.

Consummation of Organization of the above Band of Earnest Workers and Dedication and Opening of the Free Reading Room to be Conducted by Them.

Tuesday evening witnessed the initial step in the promotion of a better moral atmosphere for the young folk of this city by the opening of a free reading room for all who may desire to attain a higher plane of surroundings, and a cozy place to wile away a pleasant hour in the society of the bright young ladies who have taken up this ennobling work.

When the time for the exercises to begin had arrived the large room was full to overflowing with the friends and well wishers of the cause. The programme was replete with good things; was heartily appreciated by all and evenly and charmingly rendered throughout, while some of the numbers deserve special mention.

In reading the address of welcome Miss Elsie Lea charmed her hearers.

The vocal and instrumental music was inspiring and captured the audience.

The recitation of Miss Gertie Burdick was a masterpiece and lifted that petite little lady to a high pedestal in the estimation of her hearers.

The recitation by Miss Eva Chamberland claims a high order of merit. The young lady has a clear, full and rich voice and did herself proud.

The recitation by Miss Ruby Thomas was up to her usual offering and needs no words of praise, she being at all times a star attraction.

Following is the complete programme as rendered:

Song, "America"..... Y. W. C. T. U. Prayer..... Rev. McGee

Benediction..... Rev. C. E. Crandall

GONE TO BOHEMIA.—Ralph Whipple recently bought of James W. Sears a half interest in the Mountain Lily and Humming Bird claims, which are situated midway between Grouse and Fairview mountains, and has gone with Mr. Sears to dwell in the hills and work on their claims. They took with them a year's supplies and all necessary tools. Ralph has been too closely confined to business and the indoor life was undermining his health and he concluded to seek fortune and renewed vigor in the mountains. Ralph is a splendid fellow and his many friends wish him a full measure of luck in the hills.

HUNTING.—Since the game season opened a week ago about all the huntsmen in town have been out over the valleys and hills trying their luck, and each one has been more or less successful. Those that tell the biggest stories on their return have not always been the most plentifully provided with game. Several real fine stories have been told to the reporter but he has not even seen the feathers of a China bird. They must be rare hunting and fine eating or our crack hunters would not tramp mile after mile in their pursuit, and sometimes they do get one or two, but—

THE LARGEST YET.—Mrs. John Kitzmiller, who lives on her ranch about 4 miles up the Coast Fork, sent to the Nugget office this week half a dozen apples of the Glori Mundi variety, 4 of which weigh 6 pounds, and the largest one measures 14 inches around. They are the very finest apples that have come to our table this fall and our sincere thanks are due to Mrs. Kitzmiller.

All About You.

Dr. Hullinger, Dentist.
Dr. W. H. Robinson has a card in this issue. Look at it on next page.
Mrs. John Holland returned on Monday from a visit to her mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary A. Holland of Crow.
Wheeler and Scott are looking ahead for the needs of the miners and on Monday received a carload of giant powder.
H. A. Cobb, the new proprietor of the Elite store, has an "ad" in another column. Read it and go and get acquainted with him.
Miss Alma Gardner, one of the fair Saginaw teachers, was in town on Monday and made a pleasant call on the Nugget office. Come again.
William Griffith left on Tuesday for Castle Rock, Wash., to take charge of the coal mines there belonging to the Portland Development Company.
H. D. Scott and wife have taken up winter quarters and are now nicely located with Mrs. Ed Patterson on Fourth street near the Christian church.
O. P. Adams is in town from his property in Bohemia. He is feeling fine over his future prospects and has his claims well under development.
John Sherwood sold last week and decided to W. S. Conser a one-sixth interest in three mining claims near Elephant mountain in Bohemia for $750.
J. A. Cobb has opened a general store in the building vacated by Aunt Sally. He will be glad to see you and it will do you good to see him. Read his "ad" on next page.
A. M. Young has returned from his home in Scio, where he has been for two weeks getting things fixed up and his family in shape for winter. He will now continue the good work for the Modern Woodmen.
Frank Henderson, who has been very low with typhoid fever at his home in Gowdyville the last three weeks is slowly but surely being nursed back to health. His many friends will be pleased to see him about again.
Frank D. Wheeler and family have moved into the Martin place, near the schoolhouse. Mr. Wheeler had a car load of household effects shipped out from the east, and has now settled down to the enjoyment of home comforts.
Bert Lawson went hunting last Saturday over on Coyote creek and returned on Monday. He gave most of his bag to friends, but brought home 6 gray squirrels, 3 ducks and 3 China pheasants. He reports game quite plenty over that way.
L. L. Lewis, son of J. B. Lewis of the firm of Lewis and Veatch, has accepted the position of school teacher in the Blue Mountain district on Mosby creek, and on Monday assumed the duties and responsibilities of pedagogy in that seat of learning.
P. B. Sherwood and family left this week for Colorado Springs for an extended trip. Mr. Sherwood has interests there which require his attention and is hopeful of improving his health. The Nugget wishes them a pleasant and profitable journey.
Newt Jones received from his son at Scio on Wednesday morning half a dozen China birds. They were cooked to the queen's taste at the Cottage Grove Hotel and served with delicious cranberry sauce to his friends, who return thanks to the thoughtful huntsman for the sumptuous feed enjoyed.
Mr. and Mrs. Reed of Portland were visiting their uncle, aunt and cousins, the family of Joseph Schier, this week. They are a newly wedded couple and are on their bridal tour. They left here for San Francisco, thence to the principle cities of the east and will finally be at home in Davenport, Iowa.
Fingal Hinds has been down from Bohemia several days on business. He goes back this week to put a tunnel in on the Lost mine. He expects to make at least 50 feet before the heavy weather of winter sets in. His company has a number of claims and work with a force of 5 men will be continued all winter.
William Byas, who is employed at the Booth-Kelly Mill No. 1, came to town on Wednesday with a badly bruised lower arm and wrist. While working around the logs the swamp hook pulled out and hit him on the wrist. Fortunately no bones were broken. He is at the Cottage Grove Hotel and is being attended by Dr. Job.
The Christian Churches of Lane County will hold their regular annual county convention at Cottage Grove, Oct. 25-28. It is expected that all the churches, Sunday Schools, and Endeavor Societies will send delegates to this convention. The hospitable people of this city are preparing to entertain all who attend the convention.
J. S. Martin of Silver Lake has been in town several days on a visit to his father, N. Martin, and his brother, W. H. Martin. He goes back by train and will drive home some stock. W. H. Martin and his daughter Alma will also accompany him over the hills for a long visit. The Martins are the best of people and their host of friends wish them bon voyage.
Frank Whipple, who went from here to Golden in the suburbs of Denver, to attend the school of mines and mining, writes glowing letters to his mother, Mrs. E. Wall, of the progress he is making in his chosen studies. He is working hard, doing well and keeping up a good heart, but there is an undertone in his messages that show he misses home and his loving mother.
A. W. Ziniker was in this week from the Mineral King mine in Bohemia, of which group of claims he is the largest owner, and makes a very flattering report of these claims. They have over 300 feet of tunnelling completed, running in on the vein in four different places. The lower tunnel will tap the ledge at a depth of 700 feet. On the dump they have 50 tons of $35 ore and about 4 tons that will average $150 per ton. All of their workings are in ore the full width of the face. He was accompanied by Oscar Lee, who goes back with him to do contract work this winter.
