

WOODCRAFT.

Invitations were sent out on Monday to the friends of the Woodmen of the World to spend that evening with perfected Woodcraft at the Opera house in the enjoyment of a grand phonograph and stereopticon entertainment, a novel innovation of instruction and pleasure, presented by the head camp of Woodmen of the World under the auspices of the local camp. The hall was filled with the best people of Cottage Grove, a splendid entertainment was given and one that will make a lasting impression on those that had the pleasure of being present. Such entertainments do a vast deal of good, because they rivet the attention of the people and set them to thinking in the direction that is most ennobling and for the direct benefit of the individual and general good of the community. The object lessons shown should and will materially assist in building up the ranks of the local camp. The order is one of the grandest in the fraternal group, and besides giving one standing in society it assures him or her comforts and consolation in sickness and distress and an honorable tablet to their memory in their final sleep.

A CLOSER CALL.

Last Thursday afternoon Bud Jackson of Lyux Hollow came mightily close to losing his life by the unlooked for discharge of a shot gun in the hands of his brother Charley. They were out hunting for birds and Bud was about 20 feet in front of Charley when a bird was scared up just ahead of them and to the right. Charley saw it first and in his anxiety to bring it down raised his gun to fire over and beyond his brother. The gun was suddenly discharged and the charge carried away the entire side of Bud's hat and five shot entered his scalp just behind the ear, grazed the skull and came out over the temple. Dr. Snapp dressed the wound and it is healing nicely, but it was a mighty close call for Bud Jackson.

HIS SPIRITUAL BOW.

Rev. C. E. Crandall preached his initial sermon in Cottage Grove before the congregation of the M. E. church on Sunday morning last. The impression he made upon his flock was an excellent one and augurs well for the influence he will exert in this field. His commanding figure, persuasive eloquence, clear diction and analysis, and broad and charitable views make him at once an ideal leader and a safe pilot to guide the wandering sinners home. The M. E. church people are to be congratulated on having secured the services of so able a man to minister to their spiritual needs.

LOTS OF PRODUCE.

Every day for the past week great loads of farm produce has been coming into town from all directions. Potatoes, apples, pumpkins, squash, grain and feed stuffs, wood and shakes are daily being hauled in and stored with the merchants and sold and delivered to our citizens for winter use. All that is brought in finds ready sale at good prices. The good weather is giving everybody a chance to provide for the coming winter and all seem to be taking advantage of the opportunity afforded.

MOVED AGAIN.

The county rock crusher has again been moved from near the cemetery on Silk Creek to a location on James Hawley's place near the Divide, where it has begun crushing and will continue at it until all the necessary repairs are made in that direction. It has done good service on the road to the Siuslaw and the travel that passes over that road this winter will be greatly benefited for the repairs made.

LECTURE.

President Strong of the University of Oregon will lecture Friday evening, November 9, for the benefit of the public school library. This is the first of a series of lectures by leading men of the state.

LOCAL NEWS will be found on the Fourth Page.

M. E. DEDICATION.

After many waits and hitches the new edifice of the M. E. congregation is about completed. The church occupies one of the most conspicuous sites in this thriving city. It is situated on the bank of the Coast Fork at the west end of Main street, and from its front steps commands a view of the entire street and away out over the hills toward the rich eldorado of Bohemia. Its exterior is most attractive and finished in white. The belfry in the steeple is over 70 feet from the ground, and the clear tones of the bell can be heard for a wide range around the valley. The interior is finished in corrugated woods that have received three coats of oil and now presents a handsome appearance. Besides the main auditorium there are three class rooms, which can be thrown open at any time, thus making the entire seating capacity capable of accommodating 500 people. The hanging chandeliers and side lamps will be fed with gasoline and when lit will furnish 300 candle power, which will flood the church with a brilliant light. The dedication services will commence at 10:30 on Sunday morning. Besides the resident pastor there will be present Presiding Elder Ford and Dr. I. D. Driver, and perhaps other divines, as several have been invited. It will be a notable event in church circles and an earnest and hearty welcome is extended to all to be present at the dedicatory services.

WAS IT A BURGLAR.

On Monday night the family of Cy Miller went to visit relatives in another part of town. Miss Willard, who lives with the family, had gone to choir meeting and returning home and not finding the folks retired about 10:30, thinking they would soon be home. Before retiring she thought she bolted all the doors, but did not do so in the case of the front door on the south side of the building. At 12 o'clock she was suddenly awakened by a light in her bed chamber, and though considerably frightened, she looked up into the face of a tall, slim man with a light mustache, who wore a dark coat and was standing by her bedside. He immediately dropped the match he held and sat down on the side of her bed near the foot of it. She threw the covers off and jumped from the bed and he instantly left the room, which she then quickly fastened. He struck another match in the hallway and went into the dining room and unbolted the door leading to the outside and quickly vanished. She then went to the kitchen, procured a match, lit her lamp, made all the doors secure, and then dressed herself and went to find the family. He never spoke a word nor did she, and there was nothing taken from the house. It is also said that the same evening a man was knocked down and robbed in the same locality. Could the same man have done it? It would be well for all to be on the lookout for suspicious characters.

A LIVE PEACOCK.

Scott Christman, the well-known liveryman, is one of those genial men who love a good joke on the other fellow, and always takes it good naturedly if it comes his way. The other day a mining man came down from Portland on his way to visit the Bohemia mines, and booked himself at the stage station for passage next morning. His name was Peacock. Soon after Scott was out among his boon companions telling them that he had a live peacock to send up by stage in the morning to Bohemia. They all wanted to see it, but Scott said it could not be seen until the stage was ready to start in the morning, and several of them got up early and went to the stage office to see the beautiful bird. When the mining gentleman appeared at the stage office in the morning the boys were introduced to the live peacock and all enjoyed a good laugh, but they have got it in for Scott and are only biding their time to trip him up.

All About You.

Dr. Hullinger, Dentist. Will Hodes of Eugene was in town this week. William Hemenway visited Portland this week. Hon. L. T. Harris of Eugene was in town this week. Darwin E. Moran of Eugene made this city a visit this week. O. F. Knox is putting in about three acres each of alfalfa and clover. Charles Lott of Lorane was in town on Tuesday and was wearing his Sunday smile. Tickets for the '49 Drama are selling like hot cakes at Goodman's. Mrs. J. K. Barrett returned Wednesday after an extended visit at Tacoma and Seattle. Mrs. Sarah Modie of Elmira is visiting her daughter, Mrs. John Holland, at the Cottage Grove Hotel. Mrs. Petrie went to the fair at Lorane last week and visited her people and many friends there. J. P. Inman, the storekeeper and postmaster at Lorane, was in town on business early in the week. Dr. Snapp shipped some Angora goats east this week. They will be quite a curiosity as they are not raised there. J. V. Thornton, who controls the destinies of the boarding house at mill No. 1, came up from Saginaw on Sunday. The completed list of prize-winners at the Lorane Fair arrived too late for this issue, but will receive attention next week. C. E. Russell, one of the progressive and up-to-date ranchers of the Siuslaw came over from Lorane on business last Monday. Only a few more choice seats for the '49 Drama at Goodman's. J. R. Elliott, one of the wealthy and good-hearted farmers of the Siuslaw, was in town on Monday and called at the Nugget office. W. N. Crow, one of the prosperous farmers of the Siuslaw valley was in town on Tuesday and made the Nugget a pleasant call. James S. Benson has traded his former home for other property at the south end of town and has moved into and on his new possessions. Little Charley Earl, eleven years of age, last week while out hunting about three miles from town, killed a spike buck deer with a muzzle loading shot gun. Dr. Cole of Grass Valley, Eastern Oregon arrived in this city to be the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Snapp for a few days, from here they go to Drain where they will locate. Charley Trimble, the Ashland blacksmith, stopped off here this week to visit relatives and friends. He is going to Wendling to fix up some machinery for the mills at that place. C. E. Campbell of Denver, general organizer for the Pacific coast of the Woodmen of the World was in town two days this week and did much good for the advancement of the order here. Joe Perkins is going into the culture of strawberries on an extensive scale. He has already 3 acres in plants and will put in six more. His farm is just east of town, and the setting out of plants will continue until the entire 9 acres are in. Rev. W. V. McGee and family left on Monday night for Aberdeen, Texas, where he will remain for at least a year. His aged mother lives there and is in poor health and his desire to be near her in her extreme age is one of the reasons why he has gone to Texas. George E. Webber of Medford is in town in the interest of Wooster. He is president of the Southern Oregon Poultry Association, and says the first exhibit of that organization will be held at Medford sometime in January. Entrance fees for any exhibit will be 50c. State Deputy J. W. Simmons of the Modern Woodmen, will be in town tomorrow and will accompany A. M. Young to Hebron for the purpose of installing a camp of the order there. He will then go to Oakland and assist W. A. Woolver in instituting a camp at that place. Those desiring good seats for the '49 Drama should apply at once at Goodman's. John Holland took in the fair at Lorane last week. He has a host of friends over that way and they were all glad to see him. John was raised down in the Coyote section and the familiar scenes over about Lorane brought back happy memories of boyhood days. H. S. Cook and Miss M. Wilson of Yoncalla visited the Lorane fair and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Inman. On Saturday last they drove over the mountain to visit friends here and on Sunday returned home. The Nugget man met them at the fair and has a mighty good opinion of those pleasant young people. G. W. Kelley brought to the Nugget office on Tuesday four beautiful apples of the Swor variety, and which were sent in by Mrs. H. S. Webber, who resides about 9 miles south of town on Cedar Creek, for which Mr. Kelley and the lady have our thanks. One of these beauties measured 1 3/4 x 1 1/2 inches and has a rich, clear and smooth surface. John Wigers and W. H. White came in from Adams mountain last week for the winter. They have been at work all summer on the Gettysburg and Eugene claims close to Martin's springs. They have done 70 feet of tunneling. The face of the Gettysburg tunnel is in 6 feet of good ore that will run $40 to the ton. The Eugene has a 12-foot ledge. Work will be resumed again in the early spring. "Boiled down, it is free silver and free trade on one side and prosperity and development on the other."
