THE BOER INVADERS

Have Turned the Tide by Entering Cape Colony.

NEWS CAUSES MUCH ANXIETY IN LONDON

General Kitchener Is Said to Have Demanded Heavy Reinforcements—A Pitched Battle Seems Imminent.

London, Dec. 22.—The war office last evening could give no information regarding the reports of a Boer invasion of Cape Colony. The officials expressed the opinion, however, that the newspaper accounts were exaggerated and that probably the troops who have been employed in chasing General Dewet will be diverted to deal with the invaders. Having regard to the customary methods of the war office, this can only be interpreted as confirming the report.

Lord Kitchener, in the meantime, keeps a tight rein over the news, which increases the public disquietude. There is a persistent rumor that he has demanded heavy reinforcements.

According to the Daily Mail, private telegrams received in London yesterday depict the situation in Cape Colony as somewhat ominous. It seems that the invading Boers are receiving considerable assistance from the local Dutch, and that the troops at the disposal of the British are not sufficient to cope with any serious invasion. It is believed that the government has at last awakened to the seriousness of the situation, and is making great efforts to have Lord Kitchener supplied with horses and mules.

The British losses at Nooitgedacht, according to the official accounts, were 82 killed and wounded, with 44 missing and still unaccounted for. It is reported this afternoon that General Knox has been forced to abandon the pursuit of General Dewet, owing to the situation created in Cape Colony by the Boers crossing the Orange river. It is said that 8,000 republicans have entered Cape Colony, and a similar number have reached Philippstown. The report adds that Dewet, with about 4,000 men, is northwest of Ladybrand, and that an attack on Winburg is momentarily expected.

PROTECTION TO CATTLEMEN

A New Branding Bill Is Suggested That Will Save Them Many a Head.

Portland, Dec. 22.—It has been suggested that a bill be passed at the next legislature compelling cattle-buyers to brand stock either in their regular brand or a road brand before driving them out to the railroad. This is a matter in which all the stockmen of Eastern Oregon are interested, and which should be agitated by men in that business.

The lack of such a law is a source of much annoyance in that section, every season, and should be remedied. Representative Geer has signified his willingness to introduce such a measure, provided the stockmen will get together and give him an outline of what is desired. The Harney County Stockmen's Association should take the matter up and formulate a bill, as it is of particular importance to the members of the association. It should have their immediate attention, as it is not long until the legislature meets in January.

It is not a matter that the stockmen of Harney county alone are interested in, but Malheur county as well. The residents of that county should be heard from as to their ideas and pleasure, therefore the time is none too short to begin at once.

STICKEL WILL BE HANGED.

Fate of Self-Confessed Castle Rock Assassin—Defense Was Hereditary Insanity.

Kalama, Wash., Dec. 21.—"Guilty as charged" was the verdict of the jury at 9:30 o'clock tonight in the case of the state of Washington against Martin Stickel for the murder of William B. Shanklin.

Stickel is the most notorious and cold-blooded criminal ever tried in the courts of Cowlitz county. A year ago last November, William B. Shanklin was killed at his home near Kelso, and his house was burned over his dead body. He was shot at night while eating supper. The case was shrouded in mystery, and no clue to the murderer could be obtained. On the evening of November 28, 1900, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Knapp, an aged couple, living near Castle Rock, were killed while at the supper table in the same manner as Shanklin was one year before. It was evident that the same man had committed both crimes. Sheriff Kirby and Detective Sam Simmons traced the crime to Martin Stickel, who lived on a scow near the mouth of the Cowlitz river. Stickel was arrested. He maintained his innocence until confronted with the fact that his watch and keys had been identified as having belonged to Shanklin, the murdered man. Then he made a partial confession, and implicated his neighbor, Ed Pierce.

After his preliminary trial, he was taken to the Pierce county jail for safe keeping. There he joined the Salvation Army and made a full confession, admitting that he did the killing in both the Shanklin and Knapp murders, and that he was alone in the matter.

When arraigned in the superior court today, on the advice of his counsel he pleaded not guilty, and his case was tried upon the evidence, which was overwhelmingly against him. The defense made an unsuccessful attempt to prove that the man had inherited a criminal disposition to the extent that he was not accountable for his actions. His mother testified that before his birth and during gestation she was mad at everybody and that the child was born sick and was always an unnatural child. The jury was out but one hour. The prisoner was sentenced by Judge Miller to be hanged on a date to be hereafter fixed, not sooner than 30 days nor later than 90 days from date.

An Austrian Airship.

New York, Dec. 21.—A dispatch to the Journal and Advertiser from Vienna says an Austrian engineer, William Kress, has invented an airship which is pronounced to be better than Zeppelin's. The emperor's attention being called to the model, he has become much interested, and expressed the belief that it would be successful. Kress did not have money to build a large ship, and the emperor said he would fix that, and contributed $1,000 out of his own pocket. Numerous others followed suit, and Kress will build the ship.

That Telegraph Error.

Washington, Dec. 21.—It is now learned that the entire misunderstanding which has delayed the consummation of the agreement at Pekin was caused by the change or omission of the single digit in a complex group of figures making up one of the cipher messages of instruction to Mr. Conger. Curiously enough, the change in this single digit exactly reversed the meaning of the entire message, so that Mr. Conger, in opposing the English view, was acting exactly contrary to the spirit of his instructions, though in accordance with their letter.

Berlin, Dec. 20.—The Deutsche Colonial Blatt publishes an order of Emperor William forbidding officers and officials, including those on the retired list in the colonial service, to print anything about the colonies without the consent of the minister of war, or the minister of marine, who must first obtain permission from the imperial chancellor.

TREATY IS RATIFIED

Senate Approves Hay-Pauncefote Convention.

WAS ADOPTED BY A VOTE OF 55 TO 18

All Amendments, Except Those Offered by the Committee on Foreign Relations, Voted Down.

Washington, Dec. 24.—After spending the greater part of the past week in considering the Hay-Pauncefote treaty for the modification of the Clayton-Bulwer convention of 1850, the senate consumed only one hour and ten minutes in amending it and ratifying it as amended. During the time there were several roll calls and viva voce votes.

The first five of the roll calls were amendments offered by individual senators and the last one of the resolution to ratify the treaty as amended. All the amendments except those offered by Foraker and reported by the committee on foreign relations, were voted down by majorities averaging about 19. The ratification resolution was adopted by a vote of 55 to 18.

The senate was in executive session for about an hour before the time for voting arrived, listening to speeches by Thurston, Gallinger, Wolcott and Hard, explanatory of their attitude.

The first roll call was upon Elkins' amendment declaring that "nothing contained in this treaty shall be construed to prevent the United States from acquiring at any time sufficient sovereignty over the same to operate, defend, fortify, protect and control said canal or for any other particular as the United States may deem best in its own interest." It was lost, 25 to 45.

The other amendment roll call was as follows: As Butler's amendment to strike out section 7 of article 2, prohibiting fortification—29 ayes, 44 noes.

Upon Mason's amendment authorizing such protection of the United States to discriminate in the canal traffic, 27 ayes, 44 noes.

On Tillman's amendment authorizing defense and maintenance by the United States, 27 ayes, 44 noes.

Allen's amendment amending article 3 was voted down viva voce, as was also an amendment suggested by Teller practically striking out all of article 2. Foraker withdrew his amendments because they were the same as those reported by the committee on foreign relations; Penrose, because his were practically identical with Elkins', and Beveridge, because his was covered by the second of the committee. All amendments suggested were voted upon, and those of the committee adopted.

Allen asked for the reading of the treaty as amended. This request was complied with, and the vote was taken upon the treaty itself, resulting 55 for and 18 against ratification.

FIGHT TO THE BITTER END

The Santa Fe Telegraphers Say They Will Keep Up the Strike.

Chicago, Dec. 24.—The striking telegraphers on the Santa Fe road declare that they will continue the fight against the road to the bitter end without reference to the results of the conference held here recently between the committee representing the other organizations of the road and Third Vice-President Barr. This announcement was made today by President Dolphin, of the telegraphers, after receiving reports from Galveston, Fort Worth, Topeka and other points along the road he said:

"We regret that the organizations do not feel that they can give active support, but we do not propose to have any controversy with them. There is no cause for the complaint made by some of the members of the committee that we did not notify them of our purpose to strike. We were not called upon to do this, and there were good reasons why we did not."

Prevented a Lynching.

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 24.—At the trial at Corsicana of Andrew Norris, a negro charged with the murder of the wife of J. L. French, a white farmer, a mob led by the dead woman's husband, attempted to take the prisoner from the courtroom and lynch him. The sheriff's forces saved the prisoner. Governor Sayers was appealed to and a company of state militia is now guarding the prisoner, courthouse and jail.

Amid insults from all parts of the house the speaker gave up the floor.

THE POPULAR VOTE.

McKinley's Plurality, According to the Present Figures, Was 859,824.

New York, Dec. 24.—The Times this morning publishes a table showing the popular vote for presidential electors in the recent election. Minnesota was the last state to declare its vote, the not having been done until yesterday. In some states, as in Louisiana and South Carolina, there were the nominations of but two parties, Republican and Democrat, upon the ballots; in other states there were three or four and in some eight.

The total vote, including 6,211 scattering, was 13,967,299. Of this McKinley received 7,217,677, and Bryan 6,357,853. WILL BE $400,000.

Amount Settled Upon for the Improvement of the Columbia River.

Washington, Dec. 24.—The river and harbor bill will contain an appropriation of $400,000 for the mouth of the Columbia, and a further provision that this improvement be placed under the continuing contract system now completed. It is understood, however, that the total amount of the contract will not be as great as that recommended by the engineers. It will probably be in the neighborhood of $1,500,000. This cut in the estimate is very favorable to many other states.

Chairman Burton was anxious to have some repeal legislation to qualify the large amount in the river and harbor bill. One of the items which he wanted repealed was the Dalles railway. The Oregon delegation insisted that it should remain until assurance of some other project for overcoming the obstruction could be had. This contention now prevails.

RICH STRIKE IN LUCKY BOY

More Stamps Are Soon to Be Added to Present Milling Facilities.

Blue River, Or., Dec. 24.—A new body of rich ore has been struck in the last crosscut from the middle tunnel in the Lucky Boy mine. The crosscut has been run in about 20 feet towards the hanging wall. A fine body of tree gold rock, some of which shows gold to the naked eye, is revealed. A new tunnel has been started on the level with the top of the mill that will soon tap the pay chute near 100 feet below the upper tunnel. It will soon be connected with the upper tunnel by an upraise, and he made the main working tunnel. The tunnel can be extended into the mountain for nearly 5,000 feet along the course of the ledge, gaining a perpendicular depth of nearly 2,000 feet from 20 to 30 feet wide. Hundreds of thousands of tons of ore can be taken out without expense for pumping or hoisting. An additional number of stamps will be added to the present mill the coming season.

Crushing of ore began December last year, and the plant has not stopped an hour, day or night, since, except for slight repairs or to clean up.
