Bills Passed.

Two Railroad Bills Killed. The house after spending nearly another half day in consideration of railroad bills, disposed of two more Wednesday. One of these measures was Poortoan's fellow servant bill. It was debated at length, and although even its opponents admitted it had good points, it was defeated by a vote of 31 to 22. The other railroad bill which was disposed of, and which met a simflar fate, was the bill of Harris to fix the liability of railroad corporations for injuries. But 19 votes were cast in favor of this bill.

No Holiday at Salem.

Washington's birthday, February 32, is a legal holiday, but it is not a legislative holiday unless the legislature by specific act chooses to make it so. Inasmuch as Washington's birthday happens this year to fall on the 40th day of the session (the usual day of sine die adjournment) it is probable that business will be proceeded with much as usual. The constitution of the state does not limit the sessions to 40 days, but does limit the total compensation of each member to $120 at $3 per day; therefore, few legislators can be expected to be so self-sacrificing as to work long for nothing.

Hotel Grace-Fire of suspicious origin discovered in a linen closet. Damage nominal.

The most dangerous, fire in the Palmer house was on the fifth floor. It was extingnished at personal risk by John M. McWilliams, Jr., a senior at Princeton university. The police agree that all the fires were incendiary and tonight every important downtown hostelry was guarded by a detail of officers in plain clothes, watching for the men suspected of having started the fires. These officers, as well as the hotel managers, have the theory that the blaze was started by some discharged hotel employe who wished to satisfy his grudge and was able to do so through his intimate knowledge of opportunities.
