The road leading north via Latham is said to be in a deplorable condition. It is a disgrace to Lane county and should be fixed before another fall in a manner that will permit of horsemen getting through anyway.

The people of Eugene are alive and wide awake on the proposition of doing something in the matter of receiving its proportion of the immigration now flowing into the state from the east. Immigration is like business to some extent—you must go after it if you get it. Immigration will come to a state at large but it will not be evenly divided up unless an individual effort is made by the several sections of the state to secure its pro ratio. The people of Eugene can well afford to lay out an effort to secure its share, and every town, even Cottage Grove can take on a good lesson by watching the outcome of Eugene's efforts.

Ex-Senator McBride is indeed deserving of the high honor conferred upon him by the president in his appointment as one of the commissioners of the Louisiana purchase exposition. It is not only an honor to ex-Senator McBride but to his state as well, and particularly so in that it came without solicitation upon the part of Mr. McBride or his friends. The ex-senator is a pleasant, popular and deserving man and the position which he will fill will be the means by which he will reflect great credit upon the state of Oregon.

A waiter of the Ellicott Club, Buffalo, N. Y., was persuaded to make an address before the students of the University of Buffalo, impersonating Mr. Bryan. Mr. Bryan was expected to make an address but missed connections and so Fred Fulcher, the waiter, was selected unbeknown to the students to impersonate the great Wm. J. He did it nicely, and one would not be surprised at the successful deception practiced, so symbolic of Bryan were his utterances. He wound up his harangue in this manner: "There will be a president of the United States elected in the year 1904. It is too early to make predictions, but mark you well that when that time comes the name of Bryan may be heard again. That is all that I can say at this time."

If the above wouldn't deceive the closest student of Bryan, what would?

The actions of the so called sporting people the last week or two, have caused many people to make inquiries as to the saloon business of this city and the general method of management employed. Such actions bring saloon men not only of bad repute but those who are known to be opposed to trampling upon the feelings of citizens who do not look upon the profession kindly, into glaring criticism. The time is come when a general weeding out of the trash that has contaminated the air of Cottage Grove, will be undertaken, and the parties themselves are to blame for it for not staying in their proper places and avoiding the attention of the public by behaving themselves while in public resorts and upon the streets. The time is come when a joining of all law abiding and law respecting forces will be the result and then the ax will fall. In this respect the city authorities and the temperance element will get much if not all of the middle class, whose idea of saloons and public places is based upon good behavior, as well as the better class of saloon men and saloon keepers. People will stand about so much of anything and then something will drop.

EX-PRESIDENT HARRISON DEAD.

Ex-President Harrison died at his home in Indianapolis, Indiana, Tuesday afternoon. The sudden death of the beloved man, was due to complication from lagrippe. General Harrison was born in 1833.

Indications point to a splendid year for Bohemia this season. The recent development work is of a character that will create favor in the eyes of visitors who may come this way.

It is said that a temperance move is on in Kentucky. Possibly when the whisky issue is well under control in the blue grass state, they may legislate against murder—at least place a limit on the number of men to be killed for each feud. No telling, murder may be considered a crime in Kentucky yet.

It would be a splendid thing to have the women, who delight in laying out their fines in jail, clean up the city jail, the city hall and wash the jail bedding. This would be no doubt humane treatment, as it would occupy their time and lessen the long hours of weary waiting for liberty. It would also be delightfully home like and cheerful to have them boil the water and potatoes for the vags who clean the gutters and wear the ball and chain.

The Revised Statutes of the United States—Section 2320—limit a lode claim of mineral-bearing quartz to 300 feet on each side of the vein and 1500 feet in length. Section 2333 fixes the area of a vein or lode claim within the limits of a placer patented to the same person at 25 feet of the surface on each side of the vein or lode. Therefore a lode claim within the limits of a placer location is limited to 25 feet of the surface on either of the middle of the vein. A placer location confers neither title to nor possession of, nor withdraws from subsequent location by others, known lodes or veins of mineral in place within its limits, under the last section named above, which provides that a placer patent, failing to include a patent for a vein or lode claim known to exist within its limits, shall be deemed a conclusive declaration that the placer claimant has no right to the same. Since a placer patent confers no possession to known lodes or veins within its limits, a subsequent location of a vein or lode within the limits of the placer claim is not a trespass, as against the placer claimant, within the rule of law that a trespasser on a lawful possession can acquire no rights. But a located lode claim is an interesting in real property, which, as against all but the United States, is treated as a fee, and will support an action to quiet title, under a law authorizing a person in possession of real estate to bring an action to determine adverse claims to same.—Scientific Mining Press.
