estimates of the coin in circulation and coin consumed in the arts, as made by demonstrated by its marvelous cures of the bureau of the mint on these figures and on the table based on an elaborate investigation made in 1885. To remove all doubts on this subject and to accurately determine the comsumption of gold and silver, both bars and coin, In the industrial arts in the United States, the director of the mint, last December, sent circulars to jewelers throughout the country, asking as a favor that the jewelers fill out the blank showing the amount of coin or bars, gold or silver, which they consumed either in their repair work or in manufacturing. The returns from these inquiries, though by no means complete, served to make much more accurate the figures on the consumption of gold and silver in the last report of the director of the mint. and an effort will now be made to obwill probably be that of a compositor. tain even fuller returns for the next report

> With this object in view a circular and blank, similar to that sent out last year, will be issued to all manufacturers using gold or silver, as well as to all jewelers, including those who do even the smallest of repair work, with the request that the recipients fill in the figures required. In doing this the jewclor may feel sure that his figures will never be used except in making a grand total and will be held strictly confidential by the trensury department. Among the reasons which it is hesitate in answering these inquiries was the fear that they had, in using up coin, innovertently violated a statute might be used against them. Such a fear, however, is absolutely without foundation, as there is no contention that the use of gold coin in manufact. If had been flat on my back in bed for two years and the doctors had that the use of gold coin in manufactures is contrary to law. The only object in asking for the information is to enable the treasury department to estimate as accurately as coin lost annually by being melted up for manufacturing purposes. It is not claimed that any manufacturer is required by law to give the Information. but, as there is no reason why he should not and every reason why he should, for the benefit of all it is confidently hoped that the responses from the jewelry trade to the department's new circular, will be as complete and satisfactory as the authorities of the mint can desire.
