Mines and Mining

Devoted to Bohemia Notes and Items of general interest to Mining Men.

The Mining and Scientific Press of San Francisco says: According to sworn statement of officials in the six months from July 1, 1900 to Jan. 1, 1901, the American Smelting & Refining Co. earned $2,950,000. During the same six months it is officially stated that the Guggenheims earned $2,250,000.

A new undertaking by the United States Geological survey is the collection of statistics pertaining to the annual output of gold and silver in the United States, and representatives of the survey have been assigned to the various mineral bearing portions of the country. The territory comprising Utah and Arizona will be in charge of Victor C. Heikes. This new move on the part of the Survey is to be a permanent one, the gathering and compilation of statistics concerning the gold and silver output of the country to be independent and yet supplementary to the report issued annually by the Director of the Mint.

The Uncle Sam Mining and Milling Company was organized in Eugene last week. The capital stock of the company is $2,000,000 divided into 2,000,000 shares of $1 each. The mine is located in the Blue River district on the west side of Gold Hill. The company owns four claims: Uncle Sam, Veri, Red Bell and Sunrise. These are some of the finest properties on the hill and have been far enough developed to show big veins of valuable ores. In one of these properties a very rich strike was made some time ago which assayed $1280 to the ton. The company expects to begin erecting a mill about May 1.—Eugene Register.

A multitude of people are making thousands, yes millions, in mining operations in this western country, but in the list of successful ones the names of non-investors do not appear. At the present time there is no avenue of investment which appeals so forcibly to the investor as does the mining industry, and the returns are much greater than from any other source of investment. There is a certain class, however, which shrink from mining ventures because of failures in this direction in the past. The rank and file of this class are prone to cry down the mining industry and do their best to prevent their friends from making investments in mining or mining securities, no matter how safe and legitimate the investment or speculation, and, while thousands of others make fortunes in this line, they hang back and refuse to be convinced that there is money in mining or that the industry presents any opportunities for safe and profitable investment. This class may well be termed as moss-backs—people who are a century behind the times. They will always follow the tail-end of the procession, while friends, more progressive, more courageous and more intelligent, fall into line and eventually make a stake in mining ventures. Others are doing this, why can't you? The field is wide and there is an opening for everyone.—Mining Review.

The Pittsburg Post gives the following account of a new method of reducing ore which reads like a fairy story. The discovery is said to have been made by a physician and chemist and promises to revolutionize the present methods of reducing all high grade metallic ores, reducing the cost as well as the time required for this work down from several days to a matter of minutes. The process has been quietly tested in Pittsburg plants during the past few months, says the Post, and in each case has proved fully up to all the claims made for it. In the interim a number of Pittsburgers whose names are for the present withheld have been preparing to organize and secure a charter for the control of the new process. One of the "flux" is that it may be used over and again. The chemical discovery that has finally been made public was developed by some years of study by a Dr. Miller, a man advanced in years, whose home is said to be in the vicinity of Mt Pleasant. His experience with his composition, which is called a "flux" developed the fact that by mixing it with asbestos and placing it in a crucible with raw ores, the heat produced is so intense that the asbestos becomes liquified. The action of the flux and asbestos upon the ore is almost instantaneous. In forty minutes the removal of the dross from the top of the crucible shows the pure copper, lead, silver or gold beneath.

CAUGHT A DREADFUL COLD.

Marion Kooke, manager for T. M. Thompson, a large importer of fine milliner at 1658 Milwaukee Avenue, Chicago, says: "During the late severe weather I caught a dreadful cold which kept me awake at night and made me unfit to attend my work during the day. One of my milliners was taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a severe cold at that time, which seemed to relieve her so quickly that I bought some for myself. It acted like magic and I began to improve at once. I am now entirely well and feel very pleased to acknowledge its merits." For sale by Benson Drug Co., Cottage Grove, Lyons & Applegate, Drain.
