Recorder Young seems to go at his labors as police judge in a matter-of-fact manner and does not hesitate to apply the penalty. It is right. Those who dance must pay the fiddler.

Mayor Veatch in his recommendations to the council last Monday night showed the earmarks of a very progressive administration. His ideas of cows and dogs, were heartily received and favorably commented upon by all present.

If something isn't done with regard to the water question immediately, it must appear to all that another year is to go over our heads before we realize any improvement in the water system. Remember gentlemen it takes several months to negotiate for and construct reservoirs and lay water mains. The sooner work is commenced the better.

The new mayor recommended that the council get together on the water bond question, secure all the information and if possible get in position to advance propositions and specifications, in other words arrive as near as possible at the cost of the improvements necessary, and then submit it to the people for a vote. The mayor is right. The sooner the better.

The case of Ceran DeLasus furnishes a most vivid object lesson to the boys of Cottage Grove. It was not many years ago that young DeLasus was respected and well thought of by nearly everyone in this city. The past year, in particular, he has been going steadily from bad to worse until today he has the name of being one of the most worthless young men in the city, and it is not uncommon that you hear the expression; That boy will either get killed or land in the penitentiary. Again he bears the name of being a jail bird. Apt to be thrown in most any time for using drunken, obscene and blasphemous language. The boy comes from an estimable family, and had as bright prospects as the average boy of America. In place of applying himself in the matter of advancement and achievement, he has contented himself with the association of the rabble and trotting in the class that set the pace that kills. The thinking boy and girl should take the lesson presented in the review of young DeLasus' life to heart and profit by it. Select good company, then keep it. Don't waste your lives settling charges brought against you in police court, and in serving time in jail. Life is too short—you haven't time to throw away in such vocations.

TO DRUG PATRONS.—

To do justice to your physician and at the same time relieve the suffering of the sick, to much consideration cannot be given the quality of drugs used in the compounding of prescriptions. Benson Drug Co. takes particular pains in the selection of the best drugs in the market, and realize the necessity of careful attention to all prescriptions. Remember the place—Benson Drug Co.

SERIOUSLY HURT.—

While sitting on a sill of one of the fourth story windows of the Imperial hotel to get a breath of fresh air last Friday, John G. McGuigan, a well known mining man of Spokane, lost his balance and fell about 30 feet to the skylight below. He was picked up suffering from a fracture of the base of the skull and was taken to St. Vincent's hospital. It is believed that he cannot recover. Mr. McGuigan is about 40 years of age and is one of the owners of the Alamo mine at Baker City. His sister is Mrs. Patrick J. Jennings, whose husband controls valuable mining properties in the Bohemia district.—Oregonian.

THE NEW COUNCIL.

An Adjourned Session—Bert Nunn the Marshal—Mayor Veatch Makes Recommendation.

Monday evening at an adjourned session witnessed the installation of the new mayor and councilmen elected at the recent city election for the ensuing year.

The council was called to order by the outgoing presiding officer, Mayor W. S. Bennett, at 8 o'clock. Reading of minutes; approved as read.

The mayor announced that the election returns would now be canvassed, which was done. The canvass resulted in the following candidates being declared elected for the ensuing term: Mayor, R. M. Veatch; recorder, J. E. Young; Treasurer, H. Eakin; W. C. Johnson, councilman 3rd ward; Oliver Veatch, councilman 2d ward, and J. K. Barrett, councilman 1st ward.

Mayor-elect Veatch was then called and took the oath of office. Mayor Bennett immediately surrendered the chair to his successor who called for the councilmen elect, to whom was administered the oath.

Mayor Veatch called the newly elected council to order with a few well chosen remarks outlining what he considered to be the duty of the several members of the council.

He spoke of the city as a large family, and that the common council was in a sense the father thereof, and that in public affairs men should use even more discretion in the consideration of that which would ultimately result in good or evil, than in their private affairs, for the reason that should evil befall, through any official act, it was of a nature effecting the welfare of many, whereas in the affairs of the individual the result, if bad, did damage, at most, only to the immediate members of the offender's family; and with this as an object lesson he recommended the most strict conservatism on the part of the council in the expenditure of public funds.

He recommended that it was necessary that a report of the city's financial standing be made immediately, not that he reflected upon the old council but because it was right and proper, and the people interested demanded it. He touched at some length upon the water supply, recommending that a greater quantity both for household purposes and for the protection of property in the matter of fire, be considered; also mentioning the fact that a better sanitary condition of the city would be appreciated.

When the new mayor got to the cow question he touched the keynote to the sentiment of at least nine-tenths of the citizens of this city. He didn't go behind the bush for a minute, but came right out in the clearing, and emphatically recommended that a cow ordinance be passed as soon as possible and that they be permanently removed from the streets. He also touched upon the dog question, which has of late become almost as bad as the cow proposition, and recommended an extremely high license, be immediately exacted.

He recommended a close observance on the part of members of the council of the city's financial standing, that everything possible within the means of conservative judgment be done to build up the city and make it praise worthy and an ornament to our commonwealth, but that all unnecessary expenses be carefully guarded against; he spoke favorably of a sinking fund as soon as possible with the view of eventually wiping out the municipal debt. Recommended that the office of marshal and night watchman be consolidated. Recommended that the office of city attorney be abolished.

At the close of his remarks the mayor suggested that before adjourning that the marshal be elected.

Accordingly this order of business was taken up and the applications of Warren McFarland, G. B. Pitcher, Bert Nunn, and J. A. Wallace were read.

The vote was then taken upon motion of Councilman Barrett which resulted as follows:

Nunn, 4; McFarland, 1; Pitcher, 1. Nunn receiving a majority of all votes cast he was declared elected.

Upon motion of Councilman Taylor Ordinance No. 47, prohibiting cows from running at large within the corporate limits of Cottage Grove, be reconsidered; carried.

The vote of the council was unanimously in favor of the passage of the ordinance and was so declared.

Upon consideration of several bonds then on file, which were accepted, motion to adjourn to meet in chambers assembled on the evening of April 10 at which time the mayor will announce the standing committees, was carried. Adjourned.

Now all Together!

In the spring time gentle Annie There's a smell in the back yard And an odor in our city That hits the stranger hard. It's an argument for sewerage But there is another plan; You can go to the New Era Drug Store And you may buy a can of Chloride of Lime. Its very fine Take it in time Don't lose a dollar To save a dime. Call early and avoid the rush.
