"Where rolls the Oregon," "The Lewis and Clark Centennial and American Pacific Exposition." This is the name and the "trade mark" for the 1905 exposition at Portland.

There is considerable speculation as to the damaging effect of the recent frosts. It is said that many early cherries, as well as prunes and some small fruit in this section have suffered.

There is some effort being made to introduce certain kinds of eastern fish into Oregon waters. If the sportsmen of the Pacific coast know a good thing when they have it they will leave well enough alone. Pickerel is a good fish in the east, but when compared with Oregon trout it is no comparison whatever. Besides it is of a vicious variety, and will do much to limit the supply of trout. Keep them out.

Bros. Campbell of the Guard and Gilstraps of the Register have been having a little tiff over something about lying. It is not quite plain whether the controversy hinges on "Who's a liar" or "who's the biggest liar." Howbeit, boys, there is no use chewing up long strings of rag about a little matter of that kind—just shake hands, smile sweetly and remember that there are others who can easily lay claim to the honor.

Among the funds deposited in Gilbert Bros. bank which failed in Salem Tuesday, is the public school saving bank account of about $1500, representing the savings of Salem's public school children for the past 18 months. An effort will be made by the school board to have this fund reserved from the funds of the bank, and not tied up in the litigation. The object of the savings system in the schools was to instill in the young minds the virtues of economy, but to have their deposits practically wiped out in such a manner as this will more than offset any good so far accomplished and create a general distrust that will require long years to eradicate.—Ex.

There is one thing the miners of Bohemia have neglected or at least have not given proper encouragement; and that is the selection of a fine specimen exhibit to be placed with the Portland Mining Exchange. A visit to that office will convince any one of this. At the office you will see splendid specimens from Eastern and Southern Oregon, but scarcely a piece of rock from Bohemia. Secretary Hard who visited Cottage Grove this week was lamenting the fact and stated that it would be a great help to the district if a display could be made, and he further stated that the cost would be of no consequence whatever. He would be pleased to secure specimens from every property in the district and would take particular pains to show them, and would return them any time upon request. This is a fair offer and should be looked into at once. It is one of the most effective ways and the least expensive advertisement that can be hit upon.

DIVIDE ITEMS.

Jacob Geivitz made a trip down the valley last week after some sheep.

Domingo Perini obtained the contract for loading the wood on the cars at Divide and now has a force of men at work on same.

As soon as the roads get a little dryer and piling ground is sufficiently cleared wood hauling will begin.

The report made last week that Mrs. Will Coffin was thrown from a wagon was a mistake, it was Mrs. Roy Coffin. She was slightly hurt and the wagon was badly smashed.

E. F. Smith went down to Creswell this week to purchase some goats.

James Hawley has purchased the Martin farm and has his sheep on it now clearing off the weeds.

There's a smell in the back yard
And an odor in our city
That fits the stranger hard,
It's an argument for sewerage
But there is another plan:
You can go to the New Era Drug Store
And you may buy a can of Chloride of Lime.
It's very fine
Take it in time
