PROSPERITY.

When President McKinley was making his roseate prosperity speech in San Francisco, at the launching of the battleship Ohio, a workman jumped up in the rear of the hall and shouted, "Wait till the day after tomorrow."

The Guard, in all its years of publishing never printed an article more commendable to a republican administration than the above. Always in times of prosperity strikes occur. Men getting good wages naturally want more. They do not strike because they are not making a living but because they desire more luxuries.

Otto Myher, book keeper for the Southern Pacific Co's tie plant now operating at Latham, is in town quite frequently hunting for men to work at the plant, but nearly always meets with poor success.

Since then the great gushing oil wells have been discovered and there are several on Mr. Miller's ranch. The discovery has made him rich, probably a millionaire, and he is happy.

Miller's parents came to Oregon in 1852, and his father died in Eugene. For a time he was editor of the Democrat Review in Eugene in the '60's.

MINE SOLD.—Mrs. Otto Fredricksen this week sold her interest in the Fredricksen Currin mining claim in Bohemia this week to Wheeler & Scott for $300.

MEMORIAL DAY EXERCISES.

Memorial Day, last Thursday, was observed by the people in Cottage Grove in a befitting manner, appropriate exercises being held in the city and at the cemetery.

The line of march formed in front of the city hall in the following order: G. A. R., Ladies of the G. A. R., and W. R. C., I. O. O. F., Firemen, school children and citizens on foot and in carriages. Promptly at 10 a. m. the line started on its march to the cemetery.

THE MEMORIAL ADDRESS Was delivered by Mrs. Wand, president of the G. A. R. Circle at Salem. A fair sized audience greeted the speaker and listened attentively to a very interesting address by this gifted lady. She is an entertaining speaker and being in close touch with the Civil War, seemed an able person to address the people on this subject.

OREGON'S POET.

Letters have been received in Portland by relatives that Joaquin (Hiner) Miller has made a fortune. It seems that a few months ago he became tired of his California home and he started to Texas with the idea of hunting a new home, no particular section being in view.

At any rate he "got off the cars" at the then village of Beaumont, (this was before the oil discovery at and near that place) and close by purchased 1000 acres at nominal figures.

Once before he made a fortune on Wall street and as quickly lost it. On that account he has already announced that he intends bequeathing his home, "The Heights," 100 acres, near Oakland, Cal. to the school children of that city, although his aged mother and other relatives will use it for their home many years yet.
