FRIDAY, JUNE 28 1901.

Who would change Main and Wall streets of today for Main and Wall streets of a year ago?

The historic play "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was again played through the Willamette valley this week, this time under tent. It would be a relief to see the play put on once more by really good talent.

Should Portland build a smelter the next move for Bohemia miners to make will be the building of a road that will meet the requirements in the matter of transporting ores to this city that they may be shipped to the smelter. It would necessitate the expenditure of many thousands of dollars, but properly handled by competent engineers the money would be well invested and good returns would result.

Geo. Lea, who has just finished the contract of grading and macadamizing Main and Wall streets, finds that he is behind about $200. Mr. Lea claims that if he had not been delayed by unforeseen circumstances last summer, which checked his work nearly two months he would have completed his contract last fall and come out with a small profit to his credit. His many friends will regret to learn that after so hard a struggle contending with so many unlooked for obstacles, that he is at a personal loss. However we cannot help but praise him for his determination to fill the contract to the letter.

True courage in man has ever been a subject of much controversy, and it has often been contended, and rightly too, that the man who performs a duty, no matter how great the peril, in the full realization of the danger with which the performance of such duty is beset, is braver and more courageous than he who rushes headlong into the thickest of the fight, purely through brutish instinct and thirst for blood. As an illustration of the point in view, the following is quoted: During the heat of battle a certain colonel said to one of his captains: "Captain— you are frightened! You ARE sir. You are scared! "You are right," replied the captain; "and if you were half as scared as I am, you'd be six miles in the rear."

E. B. Piper, the well known newspaper man who has held many prominent positions during his twenty years of faithful service in his chosen field, in Oregon and Washington, having been closely identified with the editorial work of the Oregonian for a goodly period of that time, in a splendid article in that paper of recent date, based upon the negro as he found him while on his recent Southern trip, comments as follows with reference to his right of suffrage: "From my observation I am prepared to say that as a class the negro is not fitted for citizenship. Here one sees the darky puris naturalibus, from the most grotesque negro-minstrel type to the long-coat-tailed preacher and the old black manny. They are ignorant, shiftless, care free and dependent, as a rule, though there are among them many notable exceptions of honest industry and genuine thrift and capacity. Whether the Southern negro is what he is because of his environments I will leave for others to say; but as long as he is what he is the South will be better off if he does not insist on his right to vote; and the republican party will be much better off in the South when it ceases to lend its moral and legislative support to an impossible effort to make oil and water mix. This may seem a blunt statement of the situation; but it is a condition, and not a theory, that must be met here."

WASHINGTON LIFE INS. CO. PROMPTLY PAYS CLAIM OF MR. DAVIS OF MEDFORD.

A great many of Cottage Grove's business men have their insurance in the Washington Life Ins. Co. of New York, and are interested in the doings of that corporation. About one month ago, Mr. Henry Davis of Medford, took out a policy on his life in the Washington. Mr. Davis paid the first premium in advance as required and about two weeks later, accidentally shot and killed himself while out boating with his wife. Almost as many of Medford's citizens are insured in The Washington as claimed by the management in Cottage Grove. All were interested in Mr. Davis' sad case and desired to know how quickly The Washington would pay his claim. They now know that the company pays claims "on sight," that is, as soon as the proof of death reach the home office of the company in its proper form. This grand old company not only offers the best and most liberal insurance but pays all claims without delay or contest. Mr. Blair T. Scott, general manager for the company was seen at the Hotel Sherwood, last evening. Mr. Scott returned to Portland from New York the fore part of this month. He said, "My company has been doing a splendid business and has increased their assets to nearly $17,000,000. Our investments, under the conservative care of Hon. Levi P. Morton, ex-vice president of the United States, are showing excellent returns, that will greatly benefit policy holders. In fact the company was never in a more prosperous condition than it is today."

IN THE GROVE.

Misses Neva Perkins and Mary Curran gave a very unique party to their friends Tuesday evening in the grove near Mr. Perkins' residence. The grove was illuminated by a large bonfire and Chinese lanterns. The evening was spent in various amusements, such as boating, swinging and outdoor games. All enjoyed a pleasant time.

FIRE ALARM.

Wednesday morning about 10:30 a fire alarm was turned in and it was found that the Alhambra restaurant near the depot was on fire. The Eagle hose team was at the scene in a very short order, but fortunately their services were not needed. The fire started from a defective flue.

UNCLE TOM.

Griswold's folks played to 1,150 people here Wednesday evening. The performance was simply horrible. Space forbids further comment.

Fireworks, Fireworks, Fireworks.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Higgins, of Salem, are in this city this week. Mr. Higgins is representing the publications of the Statesman Publishing Co. Mrs. Higgins was formerly Miss Liza Wiley of this place and is visiting her many friends here, stopping at Mrs. Casper Lea's.

Largest line of fireworks in town at J. P. Curran's. Mr. Wagner, who represented the Star lecture course which brought a number of noted men to this city last fall was in the city this week. He is looking another lecture course.

See our window display of fireworks. J. P. Curran. Col. Blair threw a whole bucket of cold water on the base ball enthusiasts last Tuesday by telling around that the Bloomer girls were not going to play. Some were foolish enough to ask "Why?"

Our prices suit the times on fireworks. J. P. Curran. Miss Ethel Veatch, of Salem, stopped off here on her return home from Roseburg, to visit her sister Mrs. H. Wvane.

Don't forget that Cottage Grove will celebrate on the Fourth of July. Robt. Mosby came in from Eastern Oregon the first of the week after his family. They will leave in a few days for Silver Lake.

Read our ad this week. The Newland Store. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Patterson returned from a visit at Hudson Monday. Mr. Patterson leaves soon for Elkton where he is to take his old run, driving stage.

Attend the Cottage Grove celebration July 4. Remember the clearance sale at Newland's Millinery Store. W. C. Gray, the Pacific states telegraph and telephone man was in town this week.

J. A. McCracken, of Shoestring, was shaking hands with his many friends here this week. Dr. Lowe the oculo-optician of Eugene who is now at the Sherwood house goes home Sunday.

Good and Bad Eggs
There are eggs and eggs; the egg of yesterday looks, feels, measures and weighs like the egg of last year, but there's a slight difference in another respect, and that difference is worth money. It's just so with printing; the difference between the good work and the poor is slight to the unpracticed discernment, but it's a difference that counts every time. It costs money but it makes more—its difference that changes the printing bills from an expense to an investment We do good printing—it may cost you a little more than poor work, but it is worth double or treble the difference.
