FRIDAY, JULY 19, 1901.

It is with pleasure the announcement is made that with this issue of the Nugget the management of the paper undergoes a material change. T. H. Supple, of Portland, having acquired a half interest. The future destiny of the paper will be under the control of and under the firm name of Howard & Supple.

The paper will continue to be a medium through which the best and varied interests of this growing commonwealth and surrounding contributory section can best be conveyed.

While the paper will be mindful of the many interests of our great state and will ever heartily co-operate in their advancement, we deem it of paramount importance to devote the larger measures of exertion to the upbuilding of local surroundings and the future fame and greatness of Cottage Grove.

Believing as we do that the unfolding resources of this portion of Lane county, which are now but in their infancy, will in the near future expand into great and productive industries, it will be the duty and pleasure of this paper to put shoulder to the wheel and push forward with the advancing column.

The agricultural and stock interests of this section are now in good shape and improving every year, the products of the farm being abundant and of the very best quality.

The lumbering interests are assuming magnificent proportions, employing many men in the logging camps and about the mills and profiting work to all who apply, thus showing a most healthy state in that industry.

The mines of Bohemia were never in better shape than at present. A great deal of development and assessment work has been done during the past year with the most flattering results. Experts have come from Colorado, California, Montana and many big cities of the east, who represent intending investors; have gone over the district thoroughly, acquired a definite knowledge of the scope and values of the ores, formed most favorable impressions of what they saw and have returned to their principals to make reports, which will no doubt in the near future redound to the great good of all.

The Nugget desires to acknowledge with thanks the past liberal patronage it has received from its many readers and advertisers and hopes to merit an increased ratio in the future. This paper will at all times be found ready and willing to lend a helping hand to all things that will bring about the most blessings for the elevation and happiness of those who come within the radius of our sphere of action.

On Sunday night last a dastardly act was perpetrated in the blowing up by dynamite of the Ping Yang school house on the Mohawk river, about 12 miles northeast of Eugene. The Guard says that the explosive was placed under the organ in the southwest corner of the building. The organ, the desks, and all other furniture and apparatus were blown to atoms, the floor and sleepers of the building were completely splintered, the sides of the building were blown out and all that remains is the roof with part of the frame work to support it.

The souvenir pennant of the noble battleship Oregon was received at the state capitol on Wednesday by the governor and 5000 assembled citizens. It was a great day at Salem. The presentation took place in the Hall of Representatives, which was packed with enthusiastic people. The pennant is 378 feet long and bears a star for every state in the Union.

CHANGED HANDS.

The fine brick building on the corner of Main and Fourth streets, formerly owned by C. J. Miller, was sold on Saturday last to David Finn for $3300 spot cash. Mr. Miller would not have parted with this fine property at such a low figure had he not found it imperative to go soon to Colorado Springs, within a short distance of which city he has a farm of 480 acres that needs his attention and upon which he intends sinking oil wells, as oil has been found plentiful in that locality. Mr. Finn, the purchaser, shows his faith in the future of Cottage Grove, he having several other holdings in town besides large timber interests on Rowe River and a couple of farms near by in this section. Mr. Finn came here from Wisconsin last year since which time he has made a leisurely tour of the coast, visiting many promising towns and sizing up their respective merits for future growth. He returned here a short time since having decided that this was beyond doubt the best spot for investment. Mr. Finn is a shrewd and conservative man of business and is getting in on the ground floor. People who have lived long in Oregon often times do not place a high estimate on their holdings, but men who come from the thickly populated centers of the east are quick to pick up bargains, knowing full well that in a few short years these holdings will double and treble. Mr. Finn is to be congratulated on his purchase and the community is glad of the acquisition of a man who by his investments shows his faith in Cottage Grove.

ACTIVITY.

The warm sunshine of the past week has brought about renewed activity in all directions. Trade among the business men has been very good. The streets have been enlivened by the presence of many farmers and their teams, bringing in much produce and going out with the wares of the merchant. Travel to the mountains has taken on new life. Livery stable and blacksmith men are doing a nice business. Much hay is being hauled into town and stored away. Several houses are in course of construction, and a number are being painted and repaired, all of which is an evidence of better times.

The mineral exhibit of Oregon at the Buffalo Exposition is bearing good fruit, and has recently had a page and a half write up in the New York Mining Journal, the most valuable and widely circulated journal in the world and the one that carries the most weight with mining investors. The vast mineral wealth of Oregon is slowly but surely looming up before the eyes of capital, and it is but a matter of time when Oregon will take first rank among the mineral wealth producing states of the union.

On the 3rd day of August the Woodmen of the World will initiate 1000 candidates at Mount Tabor, near Portland, the chosen spot being a natural amphitheater, and provisions are being made to care for 10,000 friends and members of the order. Prizes are offered for the best uniformed drill teams in the Circle as well as the Woodmen. A grand barbecue will also be had. All of the exercises will be open to the general public except the initiation of candidates. An excursion will go from Cottage Grove and the fare for the round trip will be only $4.

The Eugene Guard has an interesting interview in Tuesday's issue with J. E. Simmons, the promoter of oil prospecting in Lane county. Over 2800 acres have been leased and boring will be begun as soon as machinery, which has been ordered, arrives. The most likely points for active operations are on the G. A. Dorris and N. Hill farms adjoining Springfield. Should oil be found in paying quantities another great factor will be added to the many wealth producers of Lane county.

LETTER FROM BOHEMIA.

Another Newsy Note From Nature's Treasure Vaults.

Things Doing and Seen in the District Where the Hardy Miner Dwells

Bohemia, Ore., July 15, 1901. Considering the fact that our few items and "gossip" of last week found favor in your sight, and the "inside" position so kindly allowed us; we will venture once more.

"Mineral John" and his nephew are making a very creditable mineral exhibit here in the city. They have about 175 samples, taken from as many different ledges and mines; that will give to the expert or visitors of the camp a birdseye view of what can be found here without so much hard climbing as heretofore.

Mr. Whipple is of the opinion that the ledge he was so near to just before the 4th has gone on a "celebration" of its own and not yet returned.

Prof. Day was a pleasant visitor in the city last week. He is feeling very confident that his property, east of the Helena, will be a producer in the near future.

Mr. Hummel, a mining man from California was looking over the camp last week. He seems to be very well pleased with the camp and predicts a grand future for Bohemia. His visit, though short this time, will be of much benefit, as he will make another to verify the favorable report he will make from this.

F. Jordan of the Grove made one of his flying trips to Champion Gulch where he has some promising claims.

Mr. Harlow is working on Grouse Mountain while waiting for the deal now pending on the Stocks, Brush & Harlow property to be closed up.

Frank LeRoy is located in Champion Gulch and working the Laura group of claims close to the Champion mill. This group of claims is more heard of than seen, but will be seen more in the future, as they have one of the best mineralized ledges in the camp, and some eastern syndicate will take a tumble to its pronouncement and value before 1902 vanishes.

Mr. Meadows has returned to the camp and is feeling quite happy. He thinks the "expected" sometime happens, but that the "unexpected" has happened to him this time. He is the recipient of a 45 check on the Bank of England, as a dividend on the 600 shares of stock received for part payment on his interest in the Grizley deal. He is agreeably surprised and considers his stock worth $300 now, while he would have made it a free gift to anyone, for the asking, a month since. Some people don't know when they have "a good thing" and want the earth.

Frank Williams has gone to Ashland for a short time.

John Peterson has returned to camp to do his annual work.

The stage came in this p. m. loaded and made the city look like old times.

Charley Clay who has been at Salem for some time has returned to work on the Clay, Whale & Gilbert property.

LOGGER BADLY CUT.

Early on Wednesday evening the services of Dr. Job were sought by J. N. Taylor to sew up and dress a fearful wound across the back of his neck. At 4:30 in the afternoon, while in the woods at Booth-Kelly Mill No. 1, he was coupling logs, when a sapling broke and in some unaccountable manner he slipped. At the moment of falling he had on his shoulder a double bitted 5-pound ax, which being drawn toward him cut a diagonal gash across the base of his skull five inches long and one-half inch deep, severing one small artery. His companions bound the wound tightly with a towel and Tom Scott came with him with all speed to town. Dr. Job took up the artery, took a number of stitches in the cut, dressed the wound in the most approved manner, and Mr. Taylor is feeling very comfortable and getting along nicely now, but he had a very close call.

A. H. Van Riper of Cassopolis, Mich., the boyhood home of Tom Gardner of Coast Fork, has been renewing his acquaintance with Tom and spending some days in this neighborhood. He is making a tour of the coast, and from his observations here is more than pleased with the general surroundings and the future outlook of this section. He was much interested in the mining and timber situation and carries away with him splendid impressions of Bohemia to acquaint his friends with when he returns to his eastern home.

The departures for Bohemia by stage this morning are: Ben Curry, W. M. Eusted, Gill Meadows, W. M. Jeffreys and others.

Quite a number of summer travelers are camped along the Coast Fork near to town and lend quite an air of gypsy life to the shady bowers along that babbling stream.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

United States Land Office, Roseburg, Ore., July 6th, 1901. Notice is hereby given that in compliance with the provisions of the act of Congress of June 3rd, 1878, entitled "An act for the sale of timber lands in the States of California, Oregon, Nevada, and Washington Territory," as extended to all the Public Land States by act of August 4, 1892, National G. Bennett, of Kelso, county of Cecilis, State of Washington, has this day filed in this office his sworn statement No. 1721, for the purchase of the 8 1/2 SW 1/4, NE 1/4 SW 1/4, SW 1/4 NE 1/4 of Section No. 14 in Township No. 20 South, Range 16.2 West, and will offer proof to show that the land sought is more valuable for its timber or stone than for agricultural purposes, and to establish his claim to said land before the Register and Receiver of this office at Roseburg, Oregon on Monday the 16th day of September, 1901. He names as witnesses: W. S. Bates, J. R. Bates, of Cottage Grove, Ore.; Frederick Bloemfeldt, of Eugene, Ore.; H. L. Peisnel, of Kelso, Wash.

Any and all persons claiming adversely the above-described lands are requested to file their claims in this office on or before said 16th day of Sept., 1901. J. T. BRIDGES, Register.

HEARTBURN.

When the quantity of food taken is too large or the quality too rich, heartburn is likely to follow, and especially so if the digestion has been weakened by constipation. Eat slowly and not too freely of easily digested food. Masticate the food thoroughly. Let six hours elapse between meals and when you feel a fullness and weight in the region of the stomach after eating, indicating that you have eaten too much, take one of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and the heartburn may be avoided. For sale by Benson Drug Co.

A POOR MILLIONAIRE.

Lately starved in London because he could not digest his food. Early use of Dr. King's New Life Pills would have saved him. They strengthen the stomach aid digestion, promote assimilation, improve appetite. Price 25c. Money back if not satisfied. Sold by Benson Drug Co. druggist.
