WEEKLY CROP BULLETIN.

The week has been rainless except along the coast and in the lower portion of the Willamette valley, where a few small showers have been reported. There has been an abundance of sunshine. The nights have been uniformly cool and the days ideal for the ripening of grain and fruit.

Haying is now nearly finished in all sections of the state and the crop has been secured in excellent condition. The yields have been above the average in the Willamette valley, about the average in southern Oregon and the coast districts and slightly below the average in eastern Oregon. The second crop of alfalfa is making excellent progress and will be ready to cut by August 1. Pastures are drying up rather earlier than usual and in some few places range stock is falling off in flesh.

Fall grain is filling well and ripening rapidly and harvest work in the grain fields is now general. In the Willamette valley the crop of both fall and spring wheat will be heavy and of a good quality. The oat crop is even more promising than wheat. In southern Oregon the outlook is not favorable for a large crop, but the expectations are that the grade will be higher than usual. In eastern Oregon wheat is maturing rapidly, but the crop is uneven, some correspondents reporting the prospects favorable for average yields, while others claim that the late frosts and winds have shriveled the berries and that the yields will be considerably below the average.

The hop foliage is not as thick as usual, and some yards look rather yellow, but the burs are developing nicely and give promise of a full crop. Lice are reported in small numbers in nearly all yards, and many growers are spraying or else getting ready to spray. Corn is tasseling low and now growing rapidly, but owing to the lateness of the season the prospects of a full crop are rather discouraging. Potatoes, as a rule, are not doing as well as usual, owing to the dry weather, and corn, gardens and spring wheat would all be benefited by rain.

Fruit is maturing nicely, and blackberries, raspberries, early plums and peaches are in the market.

PATENTS FOR MINING CLAIMS.

As a rule, owners of mining claims are in no hurry to patent their property. Either they have not the money to meet the cost or they will not part with it. On many a claim thousands of dollars worth of work has been done in excess of the amount required by the government within the five years' limit, still no patents have been asked for. The ending of the recent litigation over the title to the Oregon King mine in Crook county has bestirred owners, and United States Surveyor-General Meldrum has received a number of applications for patents. Under the United States mining laws the surveyor-general is required to make the final survey for the person applying for it, and if there is any dispute about the title it must be contested in the land office of the district in which the property is situated. In the fiscal year ended on June 30, deposits amounting to $1470 were made with the surveyor-general for work in Oregon. Deposits for the current year will be double those of last year.—Oregonian.

DIVIDE ITEMS.

Mr and Mrs Will McCoy of Sisulaw were visiting Mr and Mrs Bert Lee and family of this place the first of the week.

Walter Canady and family have moved down the canyon near Alca.

Guy Lee went over on Silk creek Sunday.

The large amount of travel over the county roads are making them very dusty.

Owing to the lack of piling ground some of us will not be able to get our wood out this year.

Will Miller and James Tapp of Divide are working on the rock crusher below town.

Russel W. Henderson started Monday for Eastern Oregon, going on his horse.

LOVE FOR HOME.

Some one has said: "Home is where the heart is." It is happiness to feel that way. To people who are continually traveling home is where the trunk is. The home of one's childhood lives longest in memory. It is photographed in thoughts and comes vividly up when called. The foreigner who comes to this country cannot leave behind him the memories of his birthland. Pictures of the towering Alps are with him, or of sunnier lands, where faces are brown and grapes are sweet and purple; fair Bingens on the Rhine—where "another not a sister"—comes in his dreams; Erin's green isle is still green in the hearts of her faraway children. The Chinaman does not live in Paradise when at home; but when he dies his body must be taken to the land of his birth. That much is promised him before he will come to this exclusion act country to die. In millions of cases home is so strong upon the wanderer that he never forgets it. Its influence is shown on his own character throughout his life. Two of a kind from the same country and town seem like brothers when they meet in a strange land. They are from the same home. They tell over the same stories, and grow jolly over the same old liquor. They are true to home traditions and feelings. "Take the bright shell from its home on the sea, and wherever it goes it will sing of the sea." The man with a home heart is always tuned to the song of "Home, Sweet Home."

BE GOOD TO YOURSELF.

The Benson Drug Co. select nothing but the best and most pure drugs in the market, and make a specialty of carefully compounding prescriptions. Be good to yourself by taking your physician's prescription to the Benson Drug Co. and rest assured you will get the best to be had in the market.
