FRIDAY, AUGUST 30, 1901.

Since the order of the City Council was promulgated for new sidewalks the property owners on Main street have vied with each other in obeying the Council's mandate as fast as the lumber could be hauled into town, and now with but one or two exceptions the old rickety walks have been replaced with full-width substantial planking from the bridge to the depot on both sides. It is indeed a pleasure to pass over the new walks and feel the sense of firmness under foot, and when the winter season comes and the gentle rain descends the splendid walks will prove a great boon and blessing to all our citizens and those who may come among us. We are informed that the property owners east of the depot have voluntarily clubbed together and ordered sufficient lumber to lay a four-foot walk on the north side of the roadway from the planing mill right through to the foot of the hill just beyond the McKibben home. This is a much needed and most desirable move in the right direction and will furnish a fine promenade walk to the limit of the town in that direction. The spirit of progress and improvement seems to be taking hold of our business men and property owners and the better order of things will have much weight with the intending investors who come here.

The Water Committee of the Council has let a contract to C. H. Wallace and George Comer for building the new reservoir which is to be of oblong shape, 16 feet long, 6 feet deep, 6 feet at ends and 9 feet in the center and to contain a center partition, the whole to be enclosed with a good building; the main pipe to be cemented into the wall and also to have two feed pipes and a dam. The entire cost when all is complete is to be $346. The pipes for the mains are on the way from the east and are expected to arrive most any day. When this reservoir is completed the city will then have a system of three reservoirs on as many sides of the town, with an abundance of water at all times, and when the dry, hot season comes our citizens will not be compelled to look on while the lawns, flower beds and gardens wither and die for the want of water.

EDITOR NUGGET: Please change my paper from Leona, Ore. to this place, our present home, 418 South Central street. This is a beautiful little city nestled among the foothills overlooking the bay, with an abundance of choicest vegetables, fruit, fish, clams and last but not least, oysters. Even with all these good things we do not feel like we can dispense with the breezy little Nugget, always chock full of good things to read from home folks and home. So please don't forget us. Wishing you and the Nugget unbounded success, I have the honor to remain, yours truly,

C. F. WALKER.

The Northern California papers send out warning against a female crook who is operating in towns on the S P Co's line and making her way north. It is said she is accompanied by a little girl, whom she tells is too poor to purchase books, and those who are called upon are asked to take a chance in a drawing, the amount to be paid running from one cent to one dollar. She has worked several towns already for over $50 each by her game.

BOHEMIA'S MINES.

During our trip to Bohemia last week many properties were visited and without any exception every ledge looked at was showing up better for every day's work of development done upon it. All over the camp earnest and systematic work is being done and the miners are being rewarded by uncovering wide, well defined and highly mineralized ledges whose values range from $15 to $50 per ton on average and in many cases up into the hundreds. No one can or will believe what wonderful ledges of ore are there to view unless they go and look for themselves. There is actually so much mineral wealth in that district to look at that a truthful man after seeing it is almost afraid to tell the truth for fear he will be set down as a liar.

In the Champion gulch the LeRoy brothers own the Laura group. This is perhaps the widest ledge in the district, being from 60 to 100 feet in width, and the ore from the surface croppings all the way across assays $12.50 per ton. The ore is base, carrying gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc, and there is no end to it. This mine alone can supply a 100-ton smelter for years to come.

Alfred and Henry Johnson have bought a half interest in the LeRoy lode in the Golden Carrier gulch and are building a good cabin and will lay in supplies and work all winter. This week they have sent out 100 pounds to Tacoma for a test. They have a 5-foot ledge of as fine galena ore as was ever mined.

No work is being done at present on the Grizzly mine but it has a splendid ledge of high grade ore, and when the time comes it will be a prize winner.

The Broadway property is also showing up fine. A new strike was recently made in this mine and a great body of excellent ore is there to be seen.

The Whipple brothers on the east side of Grouse mountain, near the Devil's slide, have fine prospects and are hammering a hole into the mountain with all speed.

Professor Day last week struck it rich in his mine just off of Horse-heaven creek. When the lucky strike was made the professor was so wild with joy that his shouts of victory could be heard for miles up and down the canyon and over the hilltops.

The Henry Clay group, south of Monte Rica ridge, is a splendid property. Five men are working and will continue all winter. This ledge carries both free and base ore. A large amount of work has been done and the work mapped out will put this property in first-class shape.

W. H. Shaue, close by, has an excellent group of mines which are showing up in grand shape and good work is being done right along.

Frank Flisher, also in this section, has a fine ledge. He is laying in winter supplies and will do good work all winter.

Ben Hall and Dick Fuson own the Mammoth ledge which is showing up well.

Ruth Edwards has a fine ledge in the Last Chance and has done a lot of work on the property this summer.

In and about the Monte Rica section there have been over a dozen cabins built during the past summer and most all of the owners of property about there will stay by their mines this winter and push development work.

There has never been a time in Bohemia when so much earnest work was being done, when the whole camp looked so well and when the future held out such bright inducements. The good work is going ahead on the outside also and not many months will roll around before good results will flow to all parties concerned.

War clouds are gathering on the continent, France having broken off relations with Turkey. Serious trouble is most likely to befall the lustful Turk, and he hasn't even settled that little bill with our Uncle Samuel.

There is a story going the rounds and emanating from the Albany Herald that a tall woman dressed in male attire took the night train here and after landing in Albany mysteriously disappeared. As the Missourian would put it "this mount be and then again it mount not." We have a few females in this neck o' the woods who are tall, but they are so skinny and angular that they could never be persuaded to don man's apparel, because they would look much like the proverbial scarecrow. The great majority of our women folk are of medium height, symmetrical in form and so plump in their proportionment that male attire, unless double riveted, could not contain their voluptuous forms without ripping. To our mind that story is a fake pure and simple. Cottage Grove has too many attractions for any of the gentler sex to abandon its seductive environments in male attire.

The judgment on the docket of the circuit court by J. P. Currin against Harlow and Retty of $370.50 was this week assumed by Messrs. Thompson and Finn who have recently acquired interests in the Stocks, Harlow & Brush mining property. This has removed a cloud upon the title to that property which has been standing since March 1893.

It is estimated that Oregon this year will have a banner crop of apples. A conservative estimate places the total at 700 carloads or about 21,000,000 pounds. Last year's output was about 500 carloads, and they brought an average of $1 per box, but it is expected that a better price will prevail this year as a good eastern demand is predicted.
