

CURE OF CHRONIC DIARRHOEA AFTER THIRTY YEARS OF SUFFERING.

"I suffered for thirty years with diarrhoea and thought I was past being cured," says John S. Holloway of French Camp, Miss. "I had spent so much time and money and suffered so much that I had given up all hopes of recovery. I was so feeble from the effects of the diarrhoea that I could do no kind of labor, could not even travel, but by accident I was permitted to find a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after taking several bottles I am entirely cured of that trouble. I am so pleased with the result that I am anxious that it be in reach of all who suffer as I have." For sale by BEXSON DRUG CO., Cottage Grove. LYONS & APPLIGATE, Drain.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

Notably among the pleasures afforded by the Shasta Route is the winter trip to Southern California and Arizona. Renewed acquaintance with this section will ever develop fresh points of interest and added sources of enjoyment, under its sunny skies, in the variety of its industries, in its prolific vegetation and among its numberless resorts of mountain, shore, valley and plain. The two daily Shasta trains from Portland to California have been recently equipped with the most approved pattern of standard and tourist sleeping cars, but the low rates of fare will still continue in effect. Illustrated guides to the winter resorts of California and Arizona may be had on application to C. H. MARKHAM, G. P. A., Portland, Oregon.

NOTABLE POEM ON COLUMBIA.

Sunday Oregonian The appended poem by T. Franzel Crawford of this city, is pronounced by competent judges to whom it was shown in manuscript to be as fine as was ever written, with the Columbia River as a subject. Its lines have a perfection of diction and a rhythmic swing that, combined with the broad purpose of the author and the noble sentiment they convey, come near to placing it in the category of great poetic productions. It should take rank with Sam Simpson's "Beautiful Willamette," and others of the best poems of that ill-fated genius who did so much toward immortalizing, in verse, some of the natural beauties of Oregon.

AN ODE TO THE COLUMBIA.

Majestic stream, whose rhythmic song Is heard for aye, the centuries long, And on whose bosom's turbid tide The massive ships of ocean glide—I bring to thee a tribute sweet, And lay it, gladly, at your feet; Knowing full well that piny nuan No fraction of your life may span, Or dream of things that hidden lie, At depths too great for human eye, Far, far away, in darkling glen, Secreted from the eyes of men, Your tiny springs their music sing, And all their wealth of waters bring, To cast them, dashing, rough and hoar, Into the ocean's mad'ning roar. The ages dream as you pass by; The mountains echo back your cry; A picture, grand as e'er was limned, Of giant firs, whose boughs were trimmed By sweeping winds, is seen upon Your silv'ry sheen, as you swept on, A haughty lord, from danger free, To lose yourself within the sea. When Raphael painted pictures old, He dreamed not of thy wealth untold; Thy mountains, on whose hoary heads The drifting snow of ages spreads; Thy towering pinnacles of snow, Uplifted in the long ago, And all thy beauties, rich and rare, Which show their glories everywhere. Upon thy banks the tepee stood, There dwelt a savage brotherhood; There dusky maidens laughed and sang, Through all thy woods their voices rang, And there the moitch fled in fear When crafty siwash foe drew near. If thou could'st speak, what tales thou'd tell Of gallant fights in bosky dell; Of battles, raging fierce and long, And war-dance when was heard the song Of men who had no name for fear, Who laughed and sang when death drew near; Of love, the wildest passion known, And hearts, where weeds of hate were sown; And mother love, deep, strong and pure, Which shall, through drifting years, endure, And sanctify all motherhood, Where'er it hovers o'er its brood! Within thy murky depths I see All of the hopes that come to me— Of love, and faith, and vict'ry, too, Which all the faithful claim are due To those who strive, and do their best. But all I wish is perfect rest; When all the toils of life are done, The crown is mine, the vict'ry won! T. FRANZEL CRAWFORD.
