FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1901.

The passing of President McKinley through the act of an inspired demon has filled the heart of this nation with deepest grief for its chosen leader, and caused a feeling of revenge to well out against the methods and creed of all those who unite by blood-bound oath to raise their hands against the leaders of men. The remains of our beloved President have lain in state at the National Capitol and been viewed for the last time by millions of his countrymen. They were taken to his old home at Canton, Ohio, and yesterday consigned to the tomb, while throughout this great land in every city, town and hamlet memorial services were held in honor of our splendid chief. The last sad rites are over and the hero sleeps, while his deeds will forever be cherished in the hearts of his countrymen and his name will adorn the scroll of fame.

It has been suggested that it would be a good plan in order to avoid the usual delay in court proceedings in like criminal cases, to electrocute Czolgosz first and try him afterwards. It is a suggestion, if acted upon at once, that would meet the approval of nine hundred and ninety-nine out of every thousand, and the other one ought to be hanged anyway.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

His Policy as Announced to Personal Friends.

Buffalo, Sept. 16. — President Roosevelt has outlined, in some detail, the policy he will follow during his incumbency of office. When he took the oath of office, he stated with much definiteness: "It shall be my aim to continue absolutely unbroken the policy of President McKinley for the peace, prosperity and honor of the country.

A more liberal and extensive reciprocity in the purchase and sale of commodities, so that the over-production of this country can be disposed of by fair and equitable arrangements with foreign countries.

The abolition entirely of commercial war with other countries and the adoption of reciprocity treaties.

The abolition of such tariffs on foreign goods as are no longer needed for revenue, if such abolition can be had without harm to our industries and labor.

The establishment of direct commercial lines between the eastern coast of the United States and the ports in South America, and the Pacific Coast ports of Mexico, Central America and South America.

The encouragement of the merchant marine and the building of ships which shall carry the American flag and be owned and controlled by Americans and American capital.

The building and completion as soon as possible of the Isthmian canal, so as to give direct water communication to the coasts of Central America and Mexico.

The construction of a cable owned by the government, connecting our main land with our foreign possessions, notably Hawaii and the Philippines.

The use of conciliatory methods of arbitration in all disputes with foreign nations, so as to avoid armed strife.

The protection of the savings of the people in banks and in other forms of investments, by the preservation of the commercial prosperity of the country and the placing in positions of trust of men of only the highest integrity.

The Roseburg Carnival and street fair is proving a grand success this week. They have had many attractions to entertain and enlighten and the people have gathered there from all the country round to view the wonderful sights and enjoy the happy occasion.

BOHEMIA NEWS.

Last Saturday witnessed the end of the controversy between the owners of the Helena Consolidated Company and the White Wings property. This dispute has hung fire for a long time and in its litigation it has been the direct cause of retarding the progress and growth of the district in many ways. The Helena Consolidated Milling and Mining Company now absorbs the White Wings, which was between the Helena and the Helena No. 2. Could this suit have been settled a year ago Bohemia today would have been far on the road toward the bustling camp it should and will soon be. There would have been many men employed and several properties that have been idle would now be in full blast. But no harm ever comes without its attendant good and in this case many miners not being able to find work for wages, have developed their individual and collective holdings and uncovered many ledges that would not have been brought to light had they been able to have sold their time and labor to the big companies. Thus while the large companies have been waging legal warfare the individual miner has been doing permanent and lasting work and brought to light many ledges that will in the future become famous producers of wealth. When the plans now being mapped out are matured the future of Bohemia is assured.

O. P. Adams came out from Bohemia last week, after a full summer's labor on his properties there. He has three claims, each of which have been looked after this season and a great deal of development work done upon them with the assurance of a notable future for them. First is the Ophir, which has two tunnels, one 100 feet and the other over 50. In the longer tunnel the face is all in ore and the ledge at this point is 10 feet wide, carrying gold, silver and galena. The ore is base, but carries stringers of free milling that readily pass and show excellent values. This ledge dips into and under old Bohemia and parallels it, at an angle of about 10 degrees, and can be traced through the famous Musick mine which is but 180 feet north-west. As you enter the crosscut to the tunnel on the west you first encounter 3 feet of ore, that assays of the base over $8 and of free over $18 in gold. A distance of 10 feet further in is come upon porphyry and quartz mixed and here is a 6 foot ledge, and beyond this to the face of the tunnel it is all ore, no foot-wall being in sight. The Fraction adjoins the Ophir about 500 feet from west end line and adjoins on the east the line of the Alferita. Some 25 feet of tunnel has been put in here and for every foot of work done the ore is widening and the face of the tunnel is improving, carrying gold, copper and galena. The Royal joins the Ophir on the east end and runs northeasterly. The crosscut tunnel is in 50 feet and has every indication of being very near the ledge.

Advices from the Le Roy mine in Champion gulch are very flattering. The Johnson boys are doing splendid work on this property and with every foot of development the mine is unfolding more treasures. A shaft is now being put down near the confluences of the ledges and it is expected to shortly come upon a big body of ore.

The Laura group adjoining the Le Roy on one side and the Helena No. 2 on the other, is in fine shape. There are five tunnels on this property and the face of each is in solid ore of good quality. Work goes steadily ahead and will be kept up all winter.

Ralph and Frank Whipple are down this week from Bohemia. They are interested in and developing the group of mines on the west side of Grouse mountain known as the Humming Bird, Mountain Lily and Evening Star. On the latter claim they are in 40 feet on the ledge and the face of the tunnel is all in free milling ore. Supplies will be taken in and work will go ahead all winter.

J. C. Clucky of the Golden Star mine on the east side of Fairview came down on Tuesday's stage. Mr. Clucky has been developing his property all summer. They now have a tunnel in over 100 feet and the face of the tunnel is in a fine body of ore. This property in the future will make a big stir in that camp. Mr. Clucky goes to his home at Drain for the winter.

Since the above was in type matters in mining circles have materialized into solid and substantial works. All clouds and adverse claims have been cleared up and permanently settled and the money paid out, so that today the Helena company has a clear field for future operation. The attachment suit against the Musick tying up the Brady interests has also been settled and suit dismissed, and now altogether the camp will go forward to its future grand destiny.

The President of the United States is the commander and chief of our armies and navies. Make anarchy a military crime and try anarchists by military law. Make it a crime punishable by death, upon military conviction, to be an anarchist, to voice anarchy, or to be found in possession of anarchistic documents. Court martial these creatures and take them out and shoot them. In one year from the establishment of such proceedings the president of the United States can travel east and west and north and south without a body guard, and much of the strain that today besmirches this great government in the licensing of human slimy snakes to hiss and squirm within the confines of civilization shall have been obliterated.

BUSINESS ENTERPRISE.

An Up-to-date Firm which Commands an Expanding Trade.

Our reporter in visiting the various business houses of this thriving city dropped for a few moments into the General Merchandising store of Garman & Hemenway and found the clerks busy tying up goods for a lot of people who thronged the store. In talking with a few of the customers it was found they were from Drain, Lorane, Saginaw and Creswell and all united in saying they could buy goods cheaper and of a better quality than any other place in south Lane county or in fact this side of Portland. This firm has a large and commodious brick building 48 by 70, with a warehouse in the rear filled with bright, new and up-to-date goods. There has been some complaint among a few of our merchants that they are not selling as many goods as formerly. But in talking with Mr. Garman, the senior member of the firm, he said: "We are selling more goods this year than for any past year, for the same month. And we believe our success lies in the fact that we are selling standard and up-to-date goods at a saving to those who are paying cash for their goods."

After the 20th of this month they will give a ticket to each cash purchaser for every $1.00 worth of goods, that will entitle the holder to an opportunity in the distribution of the prizes that will be presented about the first of next March, consisting of $150 to $200 in premiums, or 157 prizes. The capital prize will be a $30 Gent's or Ladies' tailor made suit; 2nd prize, $15 do; 3rd prize, $10 do; 4th prize, $8 do; 3 prizes of pairs of Gent's or Ladies' $3.50 shoes; 10 prizes, $2 each; 20 prizes, $1 each; 40 prizes, 50c each and 80 prizes 25c each, in goods.

This is an up-to-date firm and its success is undoubtedly assured. Read the Bohemia Nugget.

TRAIN KILLED A DEER.

One of the night trains last week run over and killed a fine deer on a short curve just south of Walker Station, only a few miles north of this city. These animals have been quite plentiful in the mountains this season and several have ventured down into the valley, but it is indeed rare for one to be run down on the railroad track.
