

IT HAPPENED IN A DRUGSTORE.

"One day last winter a lady came to my drugstore and asked for a brand of cough medicine that I did not have in stock," says Mr. C. B. Grandin, the popular druggist of Ontario, N. Y.

TOT CAUSES NIGHT ALARM.

"One night my brother's baby was taken with Croup," writes Mrs. J. C. Snider, of Crittenden, Ky., "it seemed it would strangle before we could get a doctor, so we gave it Dr. King's New Discovery, which gave quick relief and permanently cured it.

A FIENDISH ATTACK.

An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain, nor was a chair except propped with cushions.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

Notably among the pleasures afforded by the Shasta Route is the winter trip to Southern California and Arizona. Renewed acquaintance with this section will ever develop fresh points of interest and added sources of enjoyment.

The two daily Shasta trains from Portland to California have been recently equipped with the most approved pattern of standard and tourist sleeping cars, but the low rates of fare will still continue in effect.

Illustrated guides to the winter resorts of California and Arizona may be had on application to R. B. MILLER, G. P. A., Portland, Oregon.

ABOUT IRRIGATION.

The following letter from the Weather Bureau is self explanatory and will be read with interest:

Portland, Ore., Sept. 24, '01

TO THE EDITOR:

Mr. E. B. Dunn, formerly an official in the U. S. Weather Bureau in a recent article in the Washington Star, advances the rather startling theory that the severe hot spell which occurred in the middle West last July was due to the increased area now under irrigation along the East slope of the Rocky mountains.

Mr. Dunn puts the blame for the burning up of the corn crop on the shoulders of the irrigation companies and the small farmers who are trying to make the desert bring forth sustenance for man and beast, and he argues that the farmer who raises small crops by means of irrigation must be suppressed that the farmer who raises large crops without irrigation may prosper.

He says that low pressure, trough-shaped, areas occupy this semi-arid region and that the moisture evaporated from the soil is commensurate for their existence but insufficient to propel them onward, and warm air is thus drawn from the south which for many days at a time flows over the corn belt and withers the crops.

This theory is illogical and is condemned by the entire scientific staff of the Weather Bureau. It is, in fact, unworthy of serious consideration and its publication is intended to injure the cause of irrigation not only in Eastern Oregon but in all of the rapidly growing states of the sub-arid West.

The weather of the United States is controlled by the passage of low and high pressure areas and these disturbances are carried Eastward by the general movement of the upper atmosphere. The general movement of the upper atmosphere is controlled by the differences in the temperature between the Poles and the Equator. When these differences, as in the winter time, are great, the upper currents moves rapidly, but when they are slight, as is the case during the midsummer season, they move slowly and sometimes become stagnant.

Last July the upper air currents were sluggish and the high and low pressure areas drifted very slowly, and their action was not in any way caused by the moisture element they contained. Severe droughts and heat waves have occurred in the past long before irrigation was practiced and they may be expected in the future as long as the difference between the temperature at the Poles and the Equator decreases, in the summer time as it now does, and no effort on the part of man can change it.

AMERICAN SCALE OF WAGES

An Eastern free-trade journal quotes from Carroll D. Wright's table of wages, showing a considerable difference in wages paid in different parts of the country and in different grades of skilled labor, to establish its assertion that there is no American scale of wages. The daily wages of heaters in rolling mills are quoted as $6.75 in Pennsylvania and $6.62 in Ohio.

It is now said that the branches of industry in which these high wages are paid no longer need protection. It is probably true that such industries would be prosecuted if there were no tariff duties. But if the American market should be opened to the free importation of the products of lower wages the American scale would certainly be reduced. Competition is first felt in the lower grades of work. Americans have been driven out of coal mines in Pennsylvania and Ohio by the cheaper European laborers. The average pay of coal miners in Pennsylvania is reported by Mr. Wright at $1.95 per day. Low as this may seem when compared with the wages of rollers of iron and steel, it is high enough to bring coal miners from Europe. The Asiatic standard is even lower. If the Asiatic exclusion law expires by limitation the European coal miners will be rooted out by Chinese, who will take their places at $1 a day.—S. F. Bulletin.

"The Great Carnival, which opens at Portland on September 18th and continues until October 10th, 1901, will be well worth a visit to the metropolis. Exhibits of agricultural and horticultural products, mining and manufacturing industries, athletic exercises, a horse show at which feats of horsemanship and the various forms of fancy riding will be seen, and a magnificent military tournament, participated in by picked companies from the Oregon National Guard, are a few of the attractions at the Carnival this year.
