BOHEMIA'S MINES.

The following write-up which appeared in the Evening Telegram of Portland on the 5th inst is reproduced for the benefit of our readers who will not see a copy of that splendid paper:

Although the Bohemia mining district has heretofore been confined to a stretch of country not over eight miles long and six miles wide, it is beginning to spread out and soon promises to be in touch with the Blue River district, 40 miles north. The Bohemia district is a very rough country, but the prospectors are penetrating from both directions. Another season will without doubt at least see a main trail through the district. A wonderful strike was recently made on the North Fork, some call it Fall River, about midway between Bohemia and Blue River, of as fine free gold as has been seen anywhere. Blue River is further from the railroad and perhaps less known, but it has good mines and large bodies of free milling ores. Bohemia on account of some good-sized lawsuits has not produced as much as she could have done, but work has been going on just the same. No year has seen as much development work as this, nor have those engaged in steady development work failed to find what they were after. Several discoveries of ore bodies sufficient to warrant the owners in putting in a plant to treat their own ore have recently been made, as well as others not so large. But as yet there is no available market for the produce of the large number of mines that would soon be developed into large proportions from the sale of ore now in sight. Brighter days are close at hand, however. The result of this season's work has strengthened the faith of large companies that are able to put in railroads, smelters, public concentrating plants or any thing that is required to bring this famous district to the front.

Bohemia has many advantages over other districts. Nearly all the ledges can be cut at great depth by tunnels, avoiding sinking shafts and expensive hoisting and pumping machinery, which adds much to the cost of mining. These equipments are often so expensive that low grades of ore that could be handled in Bohemia to a profit, cannot be profitably mined elsewhere. Most of the ore in Bohemia is of a character that makes it desirable for treating, and for that there are most of the fluxes close at hand. There is lime in abundance and coal has been found, while there is also wet and dry ore. It is safe to predict that a railroad will be in before long. With the lumber and ore to haul out, supplies and machinery to draw in, such a plain profit-making enterprise will not be left unoccupied very much longer.

The Musick Company has settled some of its difficulties and it is hoped that this mine will be put in place as a leader for the district, which place it was entitled to, until the last year or so, for many years. This mine has lots of ore and a good mill.

The Bohemia Gold Mining Company has probably done the most work of any company in the district this year. Between the various claims the company owns there has been from 800 to 1000 feet of tunnel work done. Fine prospects are reported on Jackass Ridge; also at the Ridge Hotel. At the Gold Cross, on Noonday Ridge, the company has opened better than a hundred feet of fine free-milling ore, and there are many tons of ore now on the dump. At the foot of Hardscrabble the tunnel is in nearly 400 feet. The Stocks & Harlow property has been put into the hands of Eastern people, who expect to do extensive work. The former owners have milled some very rich ore, and indications are that it will make a big mine.

The Vesuvius, on Fairview Mountain, has set the pace for great strikes this year. This property has over 1000 feet of work, has milled many tons of oxidized ore from the surface, and on the lowest level is driving a body of very rich crystallized ore, samples running more than $12,000 to the ton. Only last week another strike of the same character was made, only the streak of free gold is wider and the value higher. The tunnel is running in a fine grade of milling ore. An appraisal will soon be made to connect with the upper workings.

The Sunrise Company, on Adams Mountain, has a large amount of free-milling ore, so has the Brund property on Elephant Mountain. Alex Pugh can show beautiful specimens of quartz covered with gold from his Elephant Mountain claim. Oliver Gilbertson is doing 50 feet for the Wall Street Company.

The Ophir and Rattler, both on Bohemia Mountain, have had considerable work done and show a good grade of ore. The Broadway, Grizzly, Le Roy, Champion, White Swan and Maximee groups make their usual showing. The Montana and Noonday Companies have both received United States patents. The Knott claim has fine ore, and if the young Knotts had the grit the old Knott had when he put the first mill in the district, over 30 years ago, this property would not stand idle.

The Oregon-Colorado M. M. & D. Co. is surveying for a patent. This company has pushed ahead equal to any in the district. It is not a question of ore any more; it is for them to decide just how soon they will install a plant for concentrating the large bodies of ore opened. They have over a mile on their ledge, have cut the ore at various depths and have just put in their winter supplies and started on a 500-foot tunnel, which, when completed, will tap the ledge at a depth of 1000 feet. There will be no limit to the ore output for years to come. Some very pretty specimens of native copper are found in this ore which carries large values in copper, and goes well in gold and silver.

C. A. Whale and Charlie Clay have done good work on Monti Reco Ridge. The Belcher Company, at Johnson's Meadows, has been hard at it, and also the Winchester Company, which is trying to see what is in the side of their mountain.

The Mayflower, Dr. Oglesby, Curren and Mineral King properties all claim good ore. The Riverside group, extending from the Gold Cross, on Noonday Ridge to and across Horse Heaven Creek, can get at least 2000 feet depth, and surface indications would lead one to believe there was no need for guess work as to the probable outcome of this property. Assays have been had from surface running from a few dollars to as high as $2300.

The consolidation of the two Helenas and their connection by the purchase of the intervening claim as well as the settling of their long lawsuits, puts this company in good shape. All rejoice that this litigation has ended.
