TO CURE BEEF,

An old fashioned recipe for curing beef calls for eight pounds of salt, two ounces of soda, one ounce of salt petre, and five pounds of brown sugar to four gallons of soft water. This is supposed to be sufficient for one hundred pounds of beef.

A part of the salt and sugar is mixed together and used to rub each piece of the meat as it is put in the barrel.

Before packing the meat cover the bottom of the barrel with a layer of salt. The remainder of the salt and sugar is added to the water with the other ingredients and poured scalding hot over the meat-Place a board with a weight on top of it to hold the meat under the brine. There is a difference between corned and pickled beef that is not generally recognized. Corned beef is ready for use at the end of five days; but pickled beef may remain in the brine for three weeks or as many months, If you wish to dry part of the beef, remove it from the brine at the end of three weeks, place it in a tub. cover it with water, and let it remain over night. Smoke it for a few days, then hang it from the ceiling over the kitchen stove until dry. Cover it with a loose bag made of cheese cloth or mosquito netting to protect from dust and flies. When dry sprinkle with black pepper, tie in a bag and keep in a cool, dark place.

We have on hand a large stock of kiln-dried flouring, celling and rustic in grades 1 2 and 3. Let us make you
