Mines and Mining

Devoted to Bohemian Notes and Items of general interest to Mining Men.

Rumor Authenticated.

P. J. Jennings, who is a leader in enterprises for the development of the Bohemia mining district, in Lane and Douglas Counties, yesterday admitted that the Oregon & South-eastern Railway Company, which was incorporated last week in New Jersey, was the name of the company organized to build the Southern Pacific, to the Bohemia mines. This enterprise, he says, has been financed and everything is now in shape to go ahead with the railroad. The survey is nearly completed. The road will be 40 miles long, and will pass through a country heavily timbered, as well as richly mineralized. The withdrawal of four townships of the mining district from the Cascade Forest Reserve remains to be accomplished in order that the new railroad enterprise may have full liberty in its operations in that field.—Oregonian.

The LeRoy.

Mining Manager Al Johnson returned from the LeRoy late last week and reports a most favorable condition. Work on the No. 4 tunnel is going on with all speed, having gained a depth of about 150 feet already, and the face of the tunnel now presents a solid face of galena ore. While no assays have been made as yet, it is conservatively estimated by practical mining men that the rock carries at least $40 per ton gold. The company is now planning extensive external improvements, in the matter of building cook and bunk houses, as well as a wagon road from the mine to the Warehouse, at an estimated cost of $3000. As soon as the roads will permit machinery will be forthcoming, consisting of air drills and compressor and a concentrator.

Exclusive Property.

In the Roman Empire, the gold mines were the exclusive property of the Emperor, (the Sovereigns Pontif). The silver mines were assigned to the nobles, (the patricians), while the mines of base metals, including lead, were open to location, or "denouncement," and worked by citizens.

Ancient Mining Law.

The ancient mining law of the Roman Commonwealth, which prevailed in Great Britain in the first centuries of the Christian era, provided that any citizen was at liberty to work lead mines, on or under, all except consecrated lands, no matter to whom it belonged, and to follow his vein whithersoever it led; provided that he did not abandon his work for more than a certain interval. This same law, in the guise of "immemorial custom," is still the rule with the lead miners of the Peak of Derby. This is probably the oldest mining law still in use, having been in force for upwards of eighteen centuries.

Under recent instructions from the General Land office, hereafter persons desiring to make application to purchase timber land may do so before a United States commissioner, Clerk or Court of the county wherein the land lies, and may also make final proof in same jurisdiction. Hereafter it was necessary to appear in person before the land office to make application and also to prove up on the land, thus causing considerable trouble and expense.

Stocks & Harlow.

It is announced that as soon as the present owners of the famous Stocks & Harlow mine, Messrs. Isaac C. Thompson and David Finn, arrive from the east, that active work will commence. This is one of the best known properties in Bohemia, and is owned by two wideawake and energetic men who will leave nothing undone in their efforts to make the mine one of the best in camp, surpassing its former splendid record.

A Fizzle.

A practical mining man says that the "Thunder Mountain excitement will prove to be only another Buffalo Hump fizzle.

Bonanza Mine Lay-off.

Baker City Democrat states that thirty-five miners were laid off at the Bonanza mine last Saturday.
