Certainly a Conductor.

John Philip Sousa, the bandmaster, usually wears his uniform at all times nd seasons, and prefers that his men do the same. A Buffalo paper says that the practice has led to some very amusing experiences, and gives the following as an instance:

One night Mr. Sousa was standing in a railway station, on the platform, waiting for a train. A belated traveler up to him and asked excitedly, 'Has the nine-three train pulled out?' "I really don't know," responded Mr.

"Well, why don't you know?" shouted the traveler. "What are you standing here for like a stick of wood? Aren't you a conductor?"

"Yes," said Mr. Sousa, pleasantly, "I am a conductor." "A nice sort of a conductor, indeed!"

exclaimed the man,
"Well, you see," smilingly responded the musician, "I am not the conductor of a train, but of a brass band."

WHAT IS TEMPERAMENT ?

No Wonder This Poor Child Was All at Sea Over the Question.

The half-dozen blocks about Dupont ircle in Washington include the homes of as many scientists of national reputation. These gentlemen, of course, know each other and meet frequently, Not long ago one of their neighbors began to wonder whether such intimate intercourse among scientists was a good thing, his cogitation having had its rise in the following incident: His little daughter has just reached the age when she asks 200 questions a day. About a month ago her father spoke of some author as lacking the roper "temperament" for writing on history. That word "temperament" apparently took root in the youngster a mind. What was temperament? She asked that question twice an hour for "Huh!" growled her bachelor brother, if he was my kid he wouldn't be able o sit at all for a week."

an entire week. Finally her father gave her a note to Professor—and sent her off to find out. That scientist answered the query as follows: "Temperament is an individual ten-Bobby-Pa, what do they call a man dency to the rise of a certain mental state."

Father and daughter wrestled with that a little while and then applied to a second member of the scientific group

No. 2 called temperament "an ensemble of physical and mental traits arising from fundamental constitution-al differences in individuals."

This put the little girl's father completely at sea. So No. 3 was tried. His judgment was that "temperament is the psychic resultant of the whole organic life of the individual."

By this time, says the Washington Star, hope was abandoned. But when No. 4 volunteered to make it clear the family spirits revived. "Temperament is a general disposition of the mind." he wrote, "the distinctions of which depend on the dominance of one or the other of the physiological systems," And now the family dictionary is worn out.
