FRIDAY, JULY 4, 1902.

There has been some criticism current with reference to the band a local organization—charging $75 for its services on the Fourth of July, many contending that the price is too high and that the organization should be more conservative in view of the fact that it is for the benefit of the home town and in consideration of the day.

Upon first thought it is natural for one to take this view of the matter. However there are two sides to the proposition, as is always the case. Last winter the boys organized a band. Everybody admits that a band is a very desirable organization for any town—and nearly everybody was glad Cottage Grove was to have a permanent organization. Now, it takes money to maintain a band or organization, just the same as it does to maintain a business of whatsoever kind. When the band was organized a small subscription was received—less than $10. Since that time the boys have procured Chas. Cochran, one of the best teachers in the Willamette valley, who gave the first six weeks of his services for the receipts of the first band entertainment. At this entertainment the citizens responded to the tune of $50. Then the organization pledged Mr. Cochran $40 for his services, until they could give another entertainment. When this entertainment was pulled off, through unfavorable circumstances—and certainly lack of interest on the part of the citizens—only $6.50 was cleared to go toward Mr. Cochran's salary, and had it not been for three engagements filled by the boys in the interval the organization would have been sadly in the hole. As it was, an assessment of one dollar was levied on each member to pay the drill master. This is the true condition of the band, say nothing of the money spent for music and instruments, and the time donated by the members. In view of the fact that the city nor the citizens are not contributing to the support of the organization, it would appear that the price asked for its services on the Fourth is not exorbitant, especially when it is known that much of this money goes for music, hall rent, lights, fuel and for leadership.

The excitement over the escape and chase of the two noted convicts Merrill and Tracy has somewhat subsided, and the "hunters of men" can now be reckoned as a mere handful; but nevertheless they are of the determined kind and brave in the majority of cases, to the degree of recklessness. The hunted outlaws seem to be heading toward Puget Sound, keeping well under cover most of the time in the dense woodlands characteristic of the section of country through which they are traveling. What their plans are no one can tell, but it is evident that they are going to "win out" if it is in the power of the criminal born to do so. They are desperate men. However, notwithstanding that they are full of nerve, desperate and murderous to a horrifying degree, the time must come, and soon, when their nerves will snap and they will be at the mercy of their pursuers, if they do not soon reach an entire change of scene and adopt a different method of procedure. It is impossible for man to exist any great while, under the circumstances surrounding these two cut throats. They are hunted day and night. At no time dare they relax their vigilance. They know that a big reward is on their heads and that as desperate men as themselves are on their track. At no time in the day or night are they free from the thought that a bullet may pierce their hearts the next moment. This thought within itself is sufficient to cause the thread to snap; and when that time comes—they being worn, hungry and dejected—the enormity of their horrible doings crowd upon them, they will be easy prey for the men who get a gun on them.

Cottage Grove is soon to have a laundry in running order, the plant having arrived this week. For years the laundry of this city has been sent abroad each week, three foreign laundries having agencies established here. Each month between $200 and $250 goes out of our local circulation into the coffers of these foreign concerns. When the home laundry gets into running condition, if it is capable of doing as good work as the other laundries the home laundry should receive the patronage of the people. Give every man who has energy and enterprise enough to come among us and establish a business the right kind of business fellowship. It is a spirit, if followed, that will make Cottage Grove a town second to none in this section of Oregon. Patronize home industry, whenever home industry is worthy.

TOO MANY BROWNS.
The trials of the "hello girl" are great at times. The other day a Mr. Brown of Eugene called on Mr. Henry of the Nugget office. Mr. Henry was out and Foreman Brown answered the call. When he speeled "hello" to central, the sweet-toned manipulator of the central office, sang out "talk to Mr. Brown." Mr. Brown of the Nugget office said "well." The one of 'em said "eh"—then the other Mr. Brown said "uh." About this time central discovered that there were too many Browns on the line and had not Mr. Henry put in an appearance about that time, the phone girls would have been deprived of the pleasure of listening to an extremely animated conversation done up "Brown."

DAILY STAGE TO BOHEMIA.
Messrs. Chrisman & Bangs next week expect to start a daily stage to and from the Bohemia Mining District. The mail stage commencing with July 1, leaves here Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. In view of the fact that the travel is somewhat divided on the roads which fork at the Red bridge, one going by the Warehouse and the other up Shards creek, the proprietors of the stage line, with the view of accommodating the public have decided to start a stage every other day to go over the Warehouse route, thereby making a stage going and coming every day, enabling passengers to go in one route and make a quick return by the other.

COMBINATION STUCK.
The fire proof book safe in the office of the Pacific Timber Co., made all sorts of trouble last Monday. When Book keeper Frank Rosenberg attempted to open it in the morning the combination rebelled and the fun commenced. The employees sweat blood in their vain attempts to open the bloomin' thing, but no go. As a last resort the company's machinist Frank Eby was called in. It didn't take many minutes for him to pulverize the lock with the aid of a life size sledge hammer and cold chisel, and then things begin to move in the customary manner of a well regulated office.

BASE BALL TALK.
Things are very quiet just now among the base ball enthusiasts of Cottage Grove but may take a turn and liven up pretty soon. Just at present several of the boys are up in the "diggings." Others refuse to play, and one or two others are laid up for the present. Another thing that hinders us getting good games is having a ground so arranged that an admission fee cannot be collected from those attending, to defray the necessary expenses. Perhaps the boys will get together later and secure some good games.

FAMILY REUNION.
Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Adams are expecting a family reunion on the 4th. Their daughter Mrs. M. C. VanBaren of Astoria arrived in the city on the 26 ult and their two daughters, Mrs. A. J. Armstrong of Myrtle Creek and Mrs. C. F. Cathcart of Cosgrove, Nev., will arrive on the 3rd. This will be the first time in 5 years that the entire family have met at the parents home and of course the father and mother are looking forward to the day of their arrival with expectant pleasure.

GOOD PRICE OF WORK.
Some time ago Al Churchill killed three bear in Bohemia, the mother and two cubs, about six miles below the Musick mine on the Noonday ridge. He sent the skin of the old bear in to Bob Veatch who tried his hand for the first time at stuffing the brute. He succeeded beyond his expectations and this week the work has been on exhibition in the drug store of Morgan & Brehaut, attracting considerable attention. The bear weighed about 400 pounds.

BROUGHT HOME FOR BURIAL.
Henry Kissinger received a telegram last Sunday night from his brother Charles at Boise City stating that he was leaving for Eugene with the body of his brother William, who killed Mrs. Ada Garner and then killed himself at Pearl, Idaho, Friday. He arrived at Eugene Monday night and the body was interred in the Masonic cemetery Tuesday afternoon.

ALBANY WINS FROM EUGENE.
The second game between the Albany and Eugene base ball teams was pulled off last Sunday at Bang's park in Eugene before a good sized crowd resulting in a victory for Albany on a score of 8 to 10. The former game was won by Eugene on a score of 4 to 5. Below is the score by innings:
Albany.....12101014*10
Hampton Bros...130031000-8

HARNESS SHOP.
Fred Gale, the bustling up-to-date harness and saddle maker, has completed a considerable addition to his shop on River street and now has more room for the first class stock of fly nets, summer lap robes, horse blankets and sheets and everything in the harness and saddle line, at prices to suit everybody. Call and see him.

RASH DEED OF W. T. KISSINGER.

WERE FROM FALL CREEK PRECINCT, LANE COUNTY.

Wm. T. Kissinger Killed Ada Garner, His Sister-in-Law, at Pearl, Idaho, Then Himself.

About twelve years ago William T. Kissinger was married to Hattie Horn at Pendleton, Oregon. She was a daughter of Adam Horn of Fall Creek precinct, this county, of which both his and her families had been residents for many years, though at the time of the marriage the contracting parties had resided in Umatilla county about three years. One child, a son, was born to the marriage.

Mrs. Kissinger had a sister, Ada Horn, a young woman of twenty-two who was married to a Mr. Garner about three months ago. Kissinger fell in love with his sister-in-law, Ada Horn, and it seems that his affection was reciprocated for she agreed to marry him in the event that he could secure a divorce from her sister. With this understanding a suit was found for a suit for divorce, which was begun at Pendleton, Umatilla county, and granted at the March term of court of this year, Attorney Chas. E. Kissinger, of Eugene, appearing for his brother.

After securing the divorce Kissinger came back to his old home here on a visit, and here he was when he received the news that Ada Horn, who had promised to marry him when ever the law should permit, had married a man named Garner. Then the demon in his soul was unloosed. After three or four days he informed his brothers, Charles and Henry, that he was going back to Idaho. They were fearful of some rash act and pleaded with him to remain here for a time at least. He was obstinate, and when he at last shook hands with Charles at the Eugene depot a week ago Wednesday, it was with the preliminary request that if anything happened to him his body should be brought home for burial. The dispatch tells the rest.

William T. Kissinger was born in Kentucky thirty-six years ago, coming to Oregon with his parents in 1868. Ada Horn-Garner was twenty-two years of age. They grew to the years of womanhood and manhood in the Fall Creek neighborhood, about sixteen miles from Eugene.

Charles E. Kissinger left on the early train this morning to fulfill the last promise made his brother—to bring the body to the home of his youth and early manhood for interment beside the father. The aged mother is in very feeble health and the terrible news will not be imparted her so long as possible.—Guard

THE OREGONIAN ACCOUNT.
A Boise dispatch of Friday in the Oregonian says the shooting took place at 3 o'clock that afternoon and that pictures of the woman were found on Kissinger, also a lock of hair supposed to be hers. A young woman named Alice Foster heard what passed between the two, and saw the shooting. She was in another room when Kissinger entered, and heard some expression of surprise on the part of Mrs. Garner. She then started to pass through the room, when she saw Kissinger grasp Mrs. Garner in his arms, and as he held her, drew a pistol and shot her behind the ear. Then he shot himself through the head.

CELEBRATION OFF.
Owing to the unfavorable condition of the weather the Fourth of July Committee decided Thursday morning that the celebration be declared off. While it was a disappointment to the citizens of Cottage Grove, particularly the committees upon which considerable work had devolved, still it was considered the proper thing to do under the circumstances, as the condition of the streets would be such that no parade or program could be carried out.
