FRIDAY, AUGUST 22, 1902.

Hon. Thos. H. Tongue is now at his home at Hillsboro, where he will spend his summer vacation.

United States Land Commissioner Binger Herman accompanied by his wife returned from Washington, D. C. last week to their home in Grants Pass for their summer's vacation.

It "looks good" to see a saw mill turning out all kinds of lumber almost in the center of Cottage Grove. Now for a creamery, a smelter, a woolen mill, and a few more things in turn.

Every day brings the new depot that much nearer completion, and at this time the work has so far progressed that it is safe to say a more ornamental depot cannot be found on the S. P. line.

Lane county is said to have more good saw timber than any section of like size in the world. A vast proportion of it is within a radius of 25 miles of Cottage Grove and is destined to make this section one of the wealthiest in the state, say nothing about the mining interests.

While we are busy at other things let us not forget our pledge to the Harriman Advertising Agency. It means thousands of dollars to the property owners of this section. We want more people here with capital and this medium now offered is the avenue by which we may gain the best results.

Monday, September 1, 1902, has been set aside by proclamation of Governor Geer as Labor Day, and the people of the State of Oregon are admonished to observe it as such, by the rendering of such exercises as they shall deem appropriate, and as shall contribute to a better understanding between Labor and Capital.

Bohemia is alive with mining men from every section of the east. As they come out it is learned in nearly every instance that they are surprised and agreeably impressed with the magnificent showing of the various properties far beyond their expectations, and back up their assertion by heavy investments either in stocks or mining property. What better recommendation could a district ask for?

It was only a few years ago that the raising of field corn in the Willamette valley and particularly in the foot hills of Oregon was considered out of the question, it being contended that corn would not mature. However, by persistent effort, careful attention to the cultivation and by acclimating the seed, it is now a fact that many fields are in evidence in Lane county that would do honor to some of the eastern corn states.

It was a cowardly and beastly trick—that of burning railroad wood last week near Anlauf. It is presumed the deed was prompted through the spirit of revenge. In any event a man who is so cowardly that he cannot face his aggressors with his real or imaginary woe, and who under cover of night deliberately sets fire to the property of others is two cowardly, malicious and beastly to run at large and should be landed in the penitentiary—the quicker the better.

The accident that occurred at the railroad crossing north of this city last Monday morning should serve as a timely warning both to the Southern Pacific Company and to people driving on that road. It is a dangerous crossing at the best. It is neither the fault of the railroad company nor those who are obliged to cross with teams that it is dangerous; but caution should be practiced by both. "Caution" is a good word and should be more religiously recognized. Those who have occasion to make such crossings should be extremely cautious and the railroad company should take the precaution to adjust an alarm bell that would warn people of the near approach of a train.

Tuesday morning one of the youngest printers perhaps in the state and probably on the coast, made his appearance at the Nugget office, and inquired for the "boss." Upon being made acquainted with one of the "main guys" of the "rag," he stated that he was a printer and wanted work, particularly job press work. He proved to be Allen Hendricks, grandson of Mrs. Emerson of this city, a son of Dave Hendricks formerly of this place, and well known in Lane and Douglas counties, in his boyhood days. It was particularly pleasing to the senior editor of this paper inasmuch as he was for nearly two years closely associated with "Dave" while "holding cases" on the Salem Statesman back yonder in the early 80's. It was at that time "Dave" met Miss Nettie McAllister, a compositor also "holding cases" on the Statesman—an amiable girl, who had the faculty of making many friends and few enemies. Friendship ripened into love, and "Dave" and "Nettie" as all the boys about the office called them, were married. As the years came and went, the young couple drifted out of Oregon into the State of Washington, following the newspaper business in various places with more or less success. At last Libby, Montana, became their home, where by the united skill of both, a good substantial newspaper was built up, and things commenced to "come their way." Last winter the wife was taken ill, and after weeks of a hard fought battle for life, the thread snapped—she smiled into her husband's eyes for the last time, kissed the little ones "good-bye," and the end came. When the young boy, the son of two of ye editor's former friends, "blew in" it was like a letter from home, and a more pleasant surprise could not have been expected. It is said that Mr. Hendricks is contemplating disposing of his interests in Montana, and may eventually locate here. The Nugget extends to him its best wishes no matter where he may cast his lot.

LABOR DAY, 1902.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR: Whereas the Legislature of Oregon has set apart the first Monday in September of each year as a legal holiday to be known as Labor Day; Therefore I, T. T. Geer, Governor of said state, do hereby recommend that all places of business of whatsoever kind, as far as possible, be closed Monday, September 1, 1902, and that the day be devoted to an observance of such exercises as may contribute to a better understanding between labor and capital, the great moving forces behind modern industrial development, and it is especially urged that employers co-operate with their employees in a mutual observance of the day in such manner as will fittingly recognize the reliance which each must place upon the other before the best results from both may be expected or attained. In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the state to be affixed thereto. Done at the Capitol, in the City of Salem, this thirteenth day of August, A. D. 1902. T. T. GEER, GOVERNOR.

AN IDEAL RESORT.

While the existence of the Oregon Mineral Springs, at Amos, twelve miles out from this city on the Coast Fork, has been known for years, it has not been generally known, that it is fast taking its place at the head of the column of favorite resorts in Oregon. This spring or springs, is located on Levi Geer's fine farm at the very edge of the Coast Fork river. Mr. Geer's farm is composed of 450 acres of as fine land as lays out of doors. The farm house is a commodious affair, and together with the barns and out-buildings, is well kept. This year Mr. Geer decided to take the initiatory steps toward bringing his magnificent springs into notice by the public, and accordingly has erected one of the most modern and convenient country hotels in Oregon. The hotel has twelve sleeping rooms, all newly and well furnished. Two rooms are provided, with special bath rooms, for the use of individuals, while a splendid bath house and swimming tank is now nearly completed. A merry-go-round is up and running for the benefit children and those who care to indulge in such pleasure. A large stream of water with a 50-foot fall has been piped down, which will be used for power in propelling the merry-go-round and to assist in pumping the water from the springs for the baths. Tennis, Croquette, ball grounds and race tracks are being laid off in the magnificent field south of the hotel. The hotel itself is built in a beautiful grove, now being cleaned out and put in shape for campers. As has been stated before these springs are heavily mineralized and are known to be of untold benefit to rheumatism sufferers and a sure cure for nearly all skin and blood diseases. Cottage Grove people will find this an ideal recreation ground during the summer season. One can drive from here Saturday evening to the resort get a splendid supper and a restful bed, spend Sunday in shady nooks, or in pursuit of game and fish, drive home Sunday evening or early Monday morning, ready for a week's business with renewed strength and energy. Mr. Geer is deserving of much credit for his enterprise and surely merits the patronage of Cottage Grove people.
