Large well built adds of R. W. Newland are already making their appearance in the Eugene papers. Mr. Newland is a thorough up-to-date business man and has faith in printer's ink which he used freely. A couple of large juicy peaches of the Crawford variety found their way into this sanctum one day last week through the courtesy of J. B. Lewis. They were grown on trees in Mr. Lewis' yard back of this office and were larger and more delicious than any we have yet seen, even those shipped in from the famous fruit farms of Southern Oregon. Mr. Lewis is quite a successful fruit grower as his residence lot, which produces an immense amount of all kinds every season, attests.

FATAL DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.

Caused Death of Al Hancock at Helena No. 1.

The first fatal accident of the season in Bohemia took place at the Helena last Friday resulting in the death of Al Hancock a miner employed at that camp.

It seems that he and another miner were working in this tunnel by themselves. Four charges of dynamite had been placed but two of them had exploded. They waited an hour and returned to the tunnel in which they had been at work over an hour and fifteen minutes before the explosion came.

One of them was at the mouth of the tunnel at the time, dumping a car, but Hancock was close to the charge, probably leaning on his shovel, where he had been at work. When found he was conscious but horribly mangled and disfigured. His hands were torn to pieces, his arms broken, his face blown full of rock fragments and a large hole blown in his abdomen, leading one to believe that he was leaning over the charge at the time of the explosion, yet he stated positively that he was leaning on his shovel.

No hope was entertained for his recovery and he lived but a few hours. The remains were brought down Saturday and shipped to Salem Sunday where interment took place.

The body was accompanied by several members of the local lodge of Foresters of which order he was a member, and turned over to relatives there.

Deceased was about thirty years of age and single.

WANTED.—Teams to haul wood at Ala. $4 to $5 per day can be made. Apply to Pacific Timber Company, Cottage Grove, or G. Johnson at Ala.

WRITING MATERIAL.—All the little things you need to make your writing desk look literary you will find here, and a nice variety, too.

BENSON DRUG CO.

MINERAL DISPLAY.—Those visiting Bohemia District should not fail to stop and see Mineral John's specimen exhibit of Bohemia ores, at his residence in Minersville, 25 miles from Cottage Grove on the main Bohemia stage road. Mineral John's exhibit consists of about 500 specimens gathered from Bohemia Mining District.

DANGEROUS PRACTICE.—Some young fool, who is evidently blessed with more ammunition than brains, has been using Griffin and Veatch's powder house as a target for rifle practice, but owing to the thickness of its walls and the stability of the iron door, without disastrous results. There is at all times a quantity of explosives stored there, and sometimes enough dynamite to make "Rome howl." Should someone succeed in penetrating those walls with a rifle bullet the people of our city would certainly think McFarland Butte had followed the example of Mt. Pelee, and exploded.

OREGON SOIL PRODUCTIVE.—This office acknowledges a very pleasant call the first of the week from Mr. O. P. Adams who lives just above town. Mr. Adams brought for our inspection a sample of Oregon potatoes produced on his place and they are simply great, just as all Oregon potatoes evidently are. A peculiar feature of these are, that owing to the great productivity of the soil the ground grew full of potatoes and they commenced to grow on the vines above ground like pumpkins. Mr. Adams also brought a sample of the vine to this office, upon which the potatoes were actually growing and doing well. Those doubting the productivity of Oregon soil should investigate. We neglected to mention that the potatoes growing above ground were about the size of pumpkins grown east of the mountains.

A DAY ON MOSBY CREEK.—A jolly crowd consisting of Messrs. Ralph and Frank Whipple, Ralph Donahue and Otto Brown of Eugene, Misses Cora and Robie Baker, Nettie Kemp and Stella Brown of Eugene and the editor and wife drove about ten miles up Mosby creek last Sunday and tarried until the "shades of night were falling fast," when the drive home was made. The scenery up the valley of that interesting stream is picturesque indeed and of unusual interest to one to whom it is new, hence we enjoyed the drive as well as the picnic dinner and other interesting features very much. The day was an ideal one for autumn, just warm enough to enjoy lounging "in the shadow of the pine" and quenching one's thirst with Ralph Donahue's river water circus lemonade, which was a little off yet very good.
