FRIDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1902.

The little town of Gardiner is to have a newspaper in the near future, a bran new, live, six-column paper, which will doubtless fill a "long felt want."

Jno. M. Kelly has severed his connection with the Drain Non-Parcell. The destinies of this sheet will hereafter be presided over by F. G. Rogers, of Gardiner.

We are in receipt of the Vol 1 No 1 of the Curry County Recorder, a new six-column folio paper published at Gold Beach, Oregon, by A. J. Krantz. Success to the new bark launched upon the journalistic sea.

The success of our president in arbitrating the coal strike has caused the old world to marvel at his power and wisdom, yet, had he not been somewhat crippled in his recent collision with a street car, there is no telling what he could have accomplished in half the time.

An epidemic of suicide has struck San Francisco and as a result over forty persons have taken their own lives during the present month. From this cause alone the death rate would amount to one of every 800 each year and it seems to be steadily on the increase. The cause in most cases is despondency caused by disappointment in love.

The year 1902 has seen many improvements and much solid, substantial growth in Cottage Grove and Bohemia but it is only a forerunner of what 1903 will be unless all indications fail. Every town in the coast country is growing now as never before, and our locality has several times as many rich natural resources as almost any other locality within the state, for growth and development.

President Roosevelt is the most talked of man in the wide world today which fact is due largely to his recent solution and probable settlement of the strike in the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania. The leading papers and the most prominent men of the old world are astonished at the success of the president of a republic in bringing about a settlement between capital and labor which the monarchs of Europe with all their alleged power could not do. As Americans we are proud of our "strenuous" president who although a man of action, is also a man of deep thought and mature deliberation.

The disappointment shown by the democratic papers throughout the country, over the peaceful and sudden termination of the great coal strike is not to be wondered at when we consider their woeful lack of political thunder in this congressional campaign. They had depended on the discontent and actual suffering throughout the country caused by the great strike, to elect a democratic congress. But now, with a peaceable solution of this labor problem in sight, the Philippine question practically settled, the silver issue too dead to skin and "general prosperity" abroad in the land, they have indeed a forlorn hope.

Advertising pamphlets are being issued by all the leading towns in Western Oregon for eastern circulation by means of the Harriman Emigration Bureau, in accordance with the pledges made the officials of that line. It seems that our little city, which made its pledges with the others, has been very negligent of this important matter and let it rest until now it is too late to accomplish much. We may take this matter up this winter ourselves, and get out a pamphlet that will be a credit to our city for general circulation. The business men here will back such a proposition we feel sure, but it takes more time than was given this fall to do it justice.

Today Oregon is like the young college graduate who has just stepped into the arena to battle with the world. Like him she feels she has reached the zenith of her power and glory but as the days go by and she comes in contact with the progress of the age she will find that with added years her experience and growth make her the solid citizen of state, wiser, better, grander, more comprehensive of her real position in the sisterhood of states until she reaches the full stature of a commonwealth the peer of any in the realm. Her days of progress and development have only begun. When more belt lines of commerce thread our valleys and climb our mountains Oregon will bound ahead with gigantic strides like to which our present progress is as the child learning its faltering footsteps. Mark our prophecy.—Register.

COTTAGE GROVE, OREGON.

Mining and Engineering Review.

Cottage Grove, situated at the head of the Willamette valley, 620 miles north of San Francisco, and 143 miles south of Portland, on the line of the Shasta route of the Southern Pacific railroad, is one of the most enterprising towns along that route in Oregon. It is an ideal town, being situated in a section of country eminently adapted to agriculture and stock raising, and less than forty miles from what promises to be the greatest mining center on the Pacific slope, the Bohemia Mining District. Two good wagon roads connect this district, lying in a southerly direction from the town and the Oregon and Southeastern Railroad Company, is rapidly constructing a railroad into the center of Bohemia district. Already has the track been laid and rolling stock placed thereon for a distance of ten miles and by January 1, 1903, it is expected the line will be completed the remainder of the way to near the Champion mine, one of the properties of the Oregon Securities Company, with headquarters in Portland and New York.

Cottage Grove is a pleasant place, and its people are of that sturdy and intelligent class which goes happily along in its quiet, energetic way, with a knowledge of the surroundings which enables them to utilize their advantageous situation. Its churches, school buildings, blocks are symmetrical, substantial, and are up-to-date in style and architecture. Its stoned streets are wide, and the town is lighted by electricity and has a fine water system.

The Southern Pacific is building a fine depot at a cost of $16,000, which will also be used as a passenger station by the railroad which penetrates the Bohemia Mining District. The Southern Pacific Company is doing here what it does all along the Shasta line, helping those who make an effort to help themselves, while increasing its own business, an example which the city of Portland might follow with profit. Chief among the many enterprises at Cottage Grove, and one which merits the approbation and encouragement of all interested in the future prosperity of the section, is the Bohemia Nugget, a weekly newspaper, its columns always filled with choice reading matter, sensible editorials and the latest local news. Its mining items are always the latest and reliable.

A new double roll Campbell power press attests to its prosperity. The Leader is another weekly, well patronized, which endeavors to please the public by giving it fresh and newsy matter.

The citizens justly boast of the rapid growth of Cottage Grove and the high character of those coming to find a home. Within the last two years many new business blocks, dwellings and other edifices have been erected, many now are in course of construction, and it may truly be said by the building of the Oregon and Southeastern railroad, the opening up of the mining district, along with various other natural causes, will Cottage Grove in the next three years more than treble her present population.

OREGON & SOUTHEASTERN.

Progress on the Railroad that is Building to Bohemia.

The Oregon & Southeastern Railroad Company have rented the J. C. Long warehouse in the yards near the S. P. depot and partitioned it off for a freight depot, general and local office and are now occupying the same. Already the business of the company amounts to considerable in both passenger and freight traffic and the local officials are kept quite busy attending to the rapidly increasing business of the company. Another engine has been added to the equipment of the road and a track is being laid into a fine tract of timber a few miles from the city, in which Long & Bligham will operate their new donkey engine. Everything is progressing nicely on this road and as soon as spring opens up it will be pushed right on to the proposed terminus at the head of Champion creek.

A large amount of iron, ties and other building material is piled up at the present end of the road about eleven miles from this city, and the clearing and most of the grading is completed to a point about half a mile above the mouth of Sharp's creek, which is about sixteen miles from this city.

The first of the week several officers and stockholders in the Oregon Securities Co. arrived in the city from New York, and, accompanied by Supt. Morphy and Behne, are making a tour of inspection of the road and the mining properties in Bohemia that belong to this gigantic corporation, expecting to return this evening.

Order of Washington.

A couple of gentlemen from Portland have been in the city since last week in the interests of the "Order of Washington" a new insurance order, with many splendid new features. It is a coast order, its headquarters being in Portland, which is the home of most of its officers.

It admits both ladies and gentlemen on an equal footing and has many new clauses and features which make it a very desirable order. We have not learned what success the organizers are meeting.

BENSON DRUG CO. Laundry Closes Down.

The Cottage Grove laundry, which has been holding forth in the old racket store building near the roller mill on the west side, has shut up business. The door is closed and the rooms are empty and lonely, the equipment having been removed to some more promising field where the boys will not insist on steam laundry work.

This institution did good work and had a big business and we could not imagine why it suspended operations until we missed some of our old reliable towels from the pegs in the press room and were informed by the foreman that he had taken them to the laundry some time ago. Then we began to "catch on" why this institution closed down. Had our foreman used good horse sense he would have known better than to have sprung a half dozen printer's towels on the laundry in one week and would have tried one at a time and perhaps they could have handled it. Anyone who knows what a printer's towel is, will not wonder, after reading this, why the laundry quit. Just before going to press we learn from Jim Marshall, that our towels are soaking in the creek near the mill and that they are looking better. We will wait until spring, and if they are not clean by that time we will be forced to purchase a new one.

Regarding Vaccination.

We give the following from a medical authority upon the question of vaccination as a precautionary measure against smallpox, which may have a serious run in our city this winter unless much caution is used.

There are many cases in Eugene and there has been some talk of closing the schools. The provision of the state law requiring any pupil attending school to be vaccinated may be enforced there:

"From March 9, 1899 to June 5, 1902, there were 591 cases of smallpox in the Chicago Isolation Hospital. Of these 595 never had been vaccinated 8 had typical old marks made in childhood from 16 to 50 years previous to the attack; 48 had some kind of an old, doubtful or imperfect mark, said to have been the result of a vaccination performed many years before. Not one of the 591 persons had been vaccinated in accordance with the requirements now known to be necessary for protection against smallpox. All patients were carefully examined by three experienced physicians for evidence of vaccination, and the record here given can be relied on as correct. These figures show that over 90 per cent of the cases came from the few unvaccinated who are either too ignorant, too careless, or too stubborn to avail themselves of the positive protection to be had by vaccination."
