CONGRESSMAN TONGUE DIES AT WASHINGTON.

Passed Away at His Post of Duty in Washington D. C., on Sunday Morning, January 11.

THE END OF AN HONORABLE LIFE.

His Remains on the Way to His Oregon Home, at Hillsboro, Under Escort—Comment of the Press and Public.

Oregonian News Bureau, Washington, Jan. 11.—Representative Thomas H. Tongue, of the First Congressional District, in the presence of his daughter Bertha and his secretary, Miss Ruane, died suddenly in his room at 12:50 this afternoon. A few minutes before he passed away he lapsed into unconsciousness, and died without a word, without any suffering. His son, Thomas H., Jr., did not reside with his father, but was notified of his approaching end, and hastened to his father's bedside, but did not reach there until after he had passed away.

The physicians who were summoned, and the family physician, Dr. Boyce, as well as the coroner, agree that death was due to acute indigestion, which superinduced paralysis of the heart. Mr. Tongue had been in unusual health, and except for occasional attacks of dyspepsia, to which he has been subject of late years, has not complained of feeling badly this winter. He considered that he was in better health than he had been in for two years past, in fact. Mr. Tongue attended a dinner last night, and did not retire until a late hour. When he slept late this morning, contrary to custom, nothing was thought of it.

At 10 o'clock he received a call from two Oregon friends, H. H. Gilkey and Orville Dodge, with whom he discussed at length matters of personal and political character. During the stay of these gentlemen he remained in bed, but arose and dressed as they left, and had a light breakfast in his room. He said at the time that his appetite was not good, and complained slightly of dyspepsia. At his request his daughter, Bertha, brought him a soda solution, which he drank, and remarked that he thought that would fix him all right. She, however, was somewhat concerned, as he looked unusually pale, and asked if he did not want the doctor. He replied that he did not; that he would soon be at his normal condition. He went through his morning mail, and then lay down on the couch to read the papers. His daughter joked with him slightly about his being sick and too stubborn to have a doctor, but he insisted that he was not ill. A few minutes later Miss Bertha noticed that her father was breathing heavily and deeply. She became alarmed and telephoned at once for a number of physicians, fearing the worst. She also sent word to her brother.

Before either the doctor or his son arrived, however, Representative Tongue had passed away, having become unconscious at the time heavy breathing set in. In his last moments of consciousness he suffered nothing beyond the natural disturbance caused by an attack of dyspepsia. He had no consciousness of his true condition as he lapsed into insensibility. His end was quiet and peaceful.

As her father breathed his last, Miss Bertha and Miss Ruane, practically an adopted daughter, completely collapsed, and were attended by the physicians who arrived almost immediately. This evening they had rallied, and with the consolation of Thomas H. Tongue, Jr., are bearing their bereavement as best they can. No other member of the family is in Washington, Mrs. Tongue being at her Hillsboro home, and the daughters elsewhere in Oregon.

Miss Bertha this afternoon said that her greatest consolation was that her father had passed away as he wished. Some months ago, in speaking of his possible demise, Mr. Tongue had told her that when he died he wished to go suddenly, unconsciously and peacefully. Throughout the afternoon, as the sad news spread over Washington, friends have been thronging to see Irvington, Senator Mitchell, who lives just across the street, was the first to arrive, and Representative Moody followed closely after, Senator Simon, Commissioner Hermann and countless friends called later to offer their consolation to the bereaved son and daughter.

PUBLIC COMMENT.
L. T. Harris—Mr. Tongue's sudden death came as a shock to his wide circle of immediate personal friends. By untiring industry and native ability Mr. Tongue acquired a prominent standing and great influence as a member of the National House of Representatives. His public career has been a credit to himself and an honor to the state. His death is deplored.

J. A. Smith—His energy, ability and wisdom were recognized by congress and he was an important factor in its decisions. Among Oregon's representatives he has never been excelled. The knowledge of his worth was widened with the years of his service. The loss is irreparable.

B. L. Eddy—Oregon mourns the death of one of her greatest citizens and statesmen. The success of his career was due to his persevering efforts in everything he undertook and to his high standard of manhood. He died in the service of his state.

B. F. Atkey—Thomas H. Tongue caught the young men of this state that energy and a good degree of earnestness must triumph over obstacles. As a congressman he was thorough, keen and effective in committee and in debate and was a tower of strength for Oregon at Washington, and his loss from the rivers and harbors committee at this time is an irreparable loss to the state.

C. W. Fulton—I consider Mr. Tongue's death one of the greatest losses this state has ever sustained. No able man ever represented Oregon, nor, indeed in my judgment, the Pacific Coast. His death was peculiarly unfortunate, because of the fact that he had secured a very strong position in the House of Representatives, not only upon important committees, but in the way of influence because of his recognized ability. As for myself, I feel in his death a personal loss, for he was my friend of many years, a friend whom I ever found earnest, sincere and manly and I profoundly regret his untimely death both from a personal standpoint and the public welfare.

George C. Brownell—I regret exceedingly the death of Congressman Thomas H. Tongue, and view it as a personal loss on account of my personal friendship for the man and also as an exceedingly great loss not only to this state but to all of the Pacific Coast at this time. He was a very strong man and a rising man. His position in Congress was safe for many years if he had lived. His late speech upon the irrigation question undoubtedly increased his reputation and showed that he was a man of large ability and of great force.

Notice of Stockholders Meeting.

Notice is hereby given that there will be a meeting of the stockholders of the Judson Rock Mining Company held at the office of J. S. Medley, at Cottage Grove, Lane County, Oregon, on Monday the 20th day of January, 1903, at the hour of one o'clock p. m. for the purpose of electing a Board of Directors of said corporation to serve as such for the period of one year and until their successors shall have been duly elected and qualified and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

Dated December 18th, A. D., 1902.
J. S. MEDLEY, Secretary.

The Railroad Gazette is authority for the statement that railroad construction in the United States last year aggregated 6,638 miles—a total not exceeded in any year since 1878. Oklahoma leads with 570 miles, followed by Texas, 496; Arkansas, 371, and Indian territory, 383 miles.

Bohemia News.

The North Fairview Mining Company was incorporated under the laws of Oregon February 24th, 1902, and owns a group of twelve contiguous claims on the north slope of Fairview mountain in the Bohemia District, extending from Champion creek on the east to Fairview creek on the western slope of Fairview mountain. Since about the first of last July development work has been continuously going ahead on this property, and it is the purpose of the company to keep a crew of workmen driving ahead with all possible speed on one of their big 30 foot veins. At present work is being pushed in No. 3 level, 300 feet below No. 1 level. In No. 2 level, about equally distant below No. 1 and No. 3, a prospect tunnel has been run, cutting the vein, which proves it to be 32 feet from wall to wall. A general average sample of this 32 feet vein matter gave an assay value of $2.40 per ton in free gold. This level will be driven ahead to tap a body of high grade free milling ore that is known to exist between No. 1 and No. 2 levels. The company owns a splendid mill site near this body of ore where they have an abundance of water and timber for milling purposes. This same large vein extends down into the Champion canyon near the proposed terminus of the O. & S. E. railroad, and here a large body of high grade base ore is in sight awaiting shipment to reduction works. While it is true that North Fairview stock can be bought today at a less figure than any other stock in the district, it does not necessarily follow that the stock is worth less. Well posted investors are buying this stock in blocks of 10,000 shares at a time, are well pleased and want more.

W. W. Masterson is in from Bohemia, where he has completed this year's assessment on his property in the Champion local. Mr. Masterson is pleased with the Ajax. In working his assessment he struck 35 feet of free milling ore in 100 feet. This is a cross ledge uncovered in driving for the main ledge, which gives promise of large quantities of the best of ore.

OTHER MINING NEWS.
The total production of gold for the year 1902 was $80,833,070, an increase for the year of $2,186,376. The production of silver amounted to $31,940,925, a net increase of $3,332,084. Oregon produced $1,969,465 of the above amount of gold, and $63,600 of silver.

In Cripple Creek mines grey copper has been found, as the result of deep mining operations. The copper is said to be rich in gold. It is believed that the discovery will result in the production of great wealth.

Portland parties have purchased the Continental property on South Myrtle Creek, Southern Oregon. The price is said to be $20,000.

BEST LIMENT ON EARTH.

Henry D. Baldwin, Supt. City Water Works, Shullsburg, Wis. writes: "I have tried many kinds of liment, but have never received much benefit until I used Ballard's Snow Liment for rheumatism and pains. I think it the best liment on earth. I got a 25c and $1.00 bottle at New Era Drug Store."

SAGINAW LETTER.

Jan 7, 1903.
EDITOR BOHEMIA NUGGET.—On New Year's day of 1903, the Farmer's Club and friends of Walker and vicinity met at the church building at Walker to spend the day in social intercourse and to exchange ideas on farm topics, and to discuss a farm home dinner such as only the good wives and daughters of the farm know how to hold.

While the friends and the well laden baskets were yet coming in, we scribble hustled around among them and solicited a volunteer program with pleasing success.

Our club president, the Rev. and Farmer W. J. Gardiner, called the house to order and the meeting was opened with a solo, entitled, "Your Mission," by our irreproachable singer, Mr. Geo. N. Castle, Miss Josie Castle presiding at the organ.

After prayer by our worthy president there were recitations and songs by old boys and misses, all bent on making the occasion a pleasant one. Among the songs were: "The Old Wooden Rocker," rendered by J. Myers and daughter; "A Southern Soldier's Little Boy," given by S. B. Jackson. The recitations by Miss Dollie Simmons and Miss Millie Pringle were especially well rendered.

About this time some hungry fellow remembered the many portentous baskets stowed away in a side room and proposed dinner. A fancy cake stand had been offered to the maker of the best cake, and a committee of three old bachelors were named by the chair to award the prize. Their choice was found to belong to Mrs. Owen Walker, and with great good nature friend Castle gazed the poor fellows for want of tact, in awarding the prize to a married lady when there were so many nice young ladies competing, whom it might be supposed old bachelors would be anxious to please.

While the program was in progress the dinner certainly was not, and a survey of the handsome spread indicated that we were to get a grand start for the New Year to get the luncheon question, and the collection was complete.

As soon after dinner as our happy crowd felt able there were still other songs, music and short talks. Mr. Castle singing "The Holy City" affecting.

Mr. G. O. Walker addressed the audience on the feasibility and possible benefits of a system of advertising for the farmers. His plan contemplates the distribution of blank forms, on which, in their proper columns, the farmer may list whatever he has to sell, or wishes to buy, handing the list in to the person appointed to post all lists received on a bulletin board, conspicuously placed at some much frequented point, thus making it possible for a buyer to see at a glance what he is for sale, in what quantity, and where located; also to facilitate all exchanges among the farmers themselves, each paying a small stipend for use of bulletin board. Mr. Walker stated that he had been given to understand by the proper official that the S. P. R. Co. would display the farmers' advertising lists at various points along their line gratis. Our Farmers' Club were in accord with Mr. Walker's plan and instructed the secretary to have a number of lists printed, for the purpose of giving friend Walker's suggestion a practical test.

Mr. Editor, I know nothing of journalism, but some unguided individual doubtless overtook of me, spring a motion on the house that I should write up the occasion and send it to the press.

Unhappy motion; another might have given a more readable report and intruded upon your space less.

Yours in the interest of the Husbandman.

A. DeMENT,
For the Farmers' Club of Walker, Or.

Reduced Rates From The East.

Under date of December 10th the Southern Pacific sends out a circular letter to their agents which reads as follows:

It has been decided to place in effect on February 15th, 1903, continuing until April 30th, inclusive, the same one-way second class Settlers' rates to all Oregon Lines points, and north, as were in effect during months of September and October last, viz:
$25.00 from Missouri River points—St. Louis City to Kansas City inclusive.
$30.00 from St. Louis.
$31.00 from Peoria.
$33.00 from Chicago.
Rates to be no higher from intermediate stations.

The rates will apply via all routes through Portland, but will not apply via Sacramento. Tickets routed via Union Pacific, Oregon Short Line, O. R. & N. to Portland, will be allowed stop-overs not to exceed ten days, at all points west of Pocatello, and in order to enable intending settlers to look over the Willamette Valley and Western Oregon thoroughly this Company will allow as many stop-overs as desired at stations intermediate to final destination of the ticket, each stop not to exceed ten days.

This announcement is of special importance as it insures the necessary cheap rates and arrangements to bring a large immigration to Western Oregon next spring. Please have your newspapers give it publicity, as no doubt a great many of our people who have already moved to Oregon from the middle states and the east will advise their friends and relatives who will take advantage of the low rates to visit Oregon. Yours truly,
W. E. COMAN, G. P. A.
