If women are more irritable than men, as alleged, the fact may be due

Now that a use has been found for the pituitary body there is renewed hope for the vermiform appendix.

tional flower. We nominate the ben. The Sultan has his woes after all. Nobody ever suggests him as an arbitrator when the nations have quarrels to be nettled. The American girl has been crowned the world's queen of beauty and by a woman. This should make her exalted position secure. If Venezuela would put a fax on the title of general, some headway might be unde in the revenue problem confronting that country. Dispatches indicate that people will learn that rifles, in the hands of small boys, are dangerous only after said smail boys have punctured their rela-

An Eastern contemporary remarks that all this "less" business began with the "chainless blevels. We may be in error, but it seems to us the bottom plt was mentioned earlier

They are gradually doing away with corporal punishment in our penal in-stitutions. The inmates of the Missouri State prison are no longer compelled to wear the shoes they make.

Ambassador Herbert has just been created a C. G. M. G. He was already a C. B., a K. M. G. R., a B. L. U. D. and a T. R. U. M. P. Some people think he is in line to be made a D. U. B., but this is probably a mistake.

There is no limit to Standard Oil enterprise. Having cornered the outside the earth, it is now beaded inside Five millions is what the Popocatapeti sulphur cost. Old theology taught that there was a place where it was given away.

It is not with the slightest intention being disrespectful that we see the logic of fate in the fact that Dr. Gatling died suddenly. Although Dr. Gatling was a graduate in medicine his bid to fame rests on an invention which reduced sudden death to a fine

In existing conditions it is much easier to set affort enormous sea mon-sters than it is to obtain the necessary quotas of disciplined seamen for the naval service. When intelligent and spirited American youths see that there is no prospect of promotion in the navy save for a select few they prefer the merchant marine, in which there is no bar to their advancement.

The Methodists propose to Issue "secular" paper that will have no sporting news. Presumably, and for the same broad and intelligent reason, it will also be shy a dramatic department. Yet there are sports and sports; there are plays and plays. Clean, esome, unmercenary sport, the sort that makes men and women with red blood and buoyant spirits, is as essential to our everyday life and to well being as is the gospel of or the pulpit. A secular newspaper without news of such sports and pastimes will leave something sadly wanting even to the majority of Methodists.

Greed for gold is a conspicuous evil of our time and country. We want as if some men, and women as well, vie with each other in thinkout original and striking ways in which to make their wealth conspicu-ous. They imagine that they thus aggrandize themselves. It is thing to be grateful for, that there is a growing sentiment in favor of saner living. There is a strong influence at work for greater simplicity and more genuine lives. There is gain in re spect for the "plainer living and higher thinking" manner of life By the truest standards, parade of wealth is deemed vulagr. To dress, to act, to order our households and our lives by how it looks, by the opinions of others and to chake an impression, betrays a shallow mind and a weak character.

President Eliot has been telling the good people of Cincinnati that manual training in the schools is worth nine tenths of the work that comes undethe head of arithmetic. This Harvard official rarely minces matters, and his statement may seem to those who hold fond devotion to the three "R's" to border decidedly on the radical. Yet teachers of manual training relate curious and interesting experiences. They give as a common occurrence the stupid pupil'a marvelous development in all his studies the moment he finds that he can use his hands as well as other children who appear to be smarter than he with their heads. All of us can do what we really believe we can do. Stupidity is more often than not sensitiveness combined with lack of confidence. Remove those two unhappy qualities and the fool is replaced by the competent.

A sense of humor is more valuable for a busy woman than all the latest inventions for making bousekeeping The patent dish-washer, the self-feeding and self-shaking range, the washing machine, the bread-mixer the egg-benter all put together will not help "mother" through Saturday morning so well as the ability to laugh long and heartily. Unfortunately there is no school where this acco plishment can be learned. The giggling girl is not sure to grow up a laughing She may regard berself and her own affairs with a portentous serl-Egotism is fatal to a true sense of humor. So is a lack of imaging-So is that morbid conscientiousness, which is our least desirable in Bohemia Nugget | heritance from Purlianism. That famer is first to see a joke and to lead th mirth. In too many homes her selfe share in merriment is her dismal "I'm sure I don't see what you're laughlug about? The mother, an invalid years, who could answer an inquiry about her health with a quinzical su and a quick "Sick abed, and worse up?" was not a hurden but a joy to the children who found her room "the jollest place in the house." A nonsense rhyme, a drell conundrum, a lively repartee, a story of misadventure, may all serve as sauce for a dull day. The And still the dispute continues as appetite for fun may be coaxed to grow to which shall be considered the na- by what it feeds on until the mature man, laden with responsibilities, can smile at her own small trials and help there to follow her example. She will learn first not to cry over spllt milk, and later will master an even more use ful accomplishment, and will hugh

> The Rev. John W. Malcolm, of Cleve land, is sald to have collected an irrery tree with his little hatcher and be ing unable to lie about it is also generally discredited in this day. And now Dr. Edward Everett Hale comes forward with the positive assurance that Daniel Webster was not a drunkard; that he knew him intimately, saw him thousands of times, read thousands of his letters, ran in and out of his house constantly, and never saw him under the influence o. liquor. And thus the good old superstitions perish! We are not content to have great men; we must have them gods. We must remove from them all trace of human nature. In investing them with high qualities that command admiration we must divest them of all the little hu man weaknesses that make them one of ourselves. In the perfect embalm ing of a body it is considered neces sary to remove the viscera and brain; and in popular estimation something of the same process must be gone through with to make a great hero Right and wrong are white and black, with no shades of gray between, and the popular favorite is preserved in cold, white marble, without blot or blemish to hint of human life. We plously close our eyes to the fact that James Parton, the eminent biographer, after gathering a vast amount of material for a life of Washington, gave up the task on the ground that, if he wrote the whole truth, the American people would detest him for having depolled an idol to restore a man. Abraham Lincoln's rail-splitting and his ficial for himself. coarse jests marked real red blood in that Daniel Webster's one great fault had no existence. He, too, was of godlike purity, and the touch of death has brought him into his natural estate as a delty. As stands the pyramid, a mystery, Meaving, wedge-like, the misty realms of Time. And hides within its depths the unknown

king built to memorize; so commo

Covers with cloudy fiction all the real And leaves a shadow to the worshipers.

BUSY MEN SHORT OF FRESH AIR.

Indoor Workers Find It Difficult to Renew Store of Oxygen. Men of affairs in New York find it s difficult to get fresh air as exercise. some of them find time for an hour with an athletic trainer, but are too occupied to devote another hour to taking the air; that is a long process nowadays in this city. It perversely happens that the men who are ab sorbed by the large matters of life money to burn; wealth to squander. It here are those who are most strenuonaly urged by the physicians to take the nir says the New York Sun. Cor. tain maladles to which they are especially subject are best treated by peri ods of time passed out of doors. Gout, for instance, yields more promptly to such a course than to any other. But it happens to be just the thing that most busy men are unable to do.

One or two of the athletic trainers whose services are so much in demand at high prices have all their clients work in what is practicaly the open, as the windows are unclosed and the patients protected from the cold by heavy clothing. But more usual is the prescription of a doctor who has head. umbered many well-known men among his patients. He told them to ride always with the windows of their cabs open, whatever the weather might be. By that means the journey and from their offices could always be made a method of taking the air. And most of those who tried the prescription were so convinced of its value that they stuck to it. William C. Whitney attributes his general good health for years to his devotion this habit, and he has not been seen in a long time riding in a carriage with the windows closed, no matter how cold the weather.

He Thought Too Much. An Indian servant never answers eck when rebuked, but enters on vigorous conversation with himself, i the course of which the faults of his master are carefully rebearsed. In "Behind the Bungalow" the author declares that the hamal, or house servant, could be endured if only he would not try to think. It is in vain to impress upon him that he is engaged to obey rders, and that his employer prefers to do the thinking himself.

Now and then he sets his intellect in operation, and the consequences are ap-It was our hamal's duty to palling. fill the filter, and at the time when the water was very bad orders were given that it should be boiled before being filtered. One day my wife saw the hamal is the act of filling the filter, and it occurred to her to warn him to let the water cool first, lest he crack the filter. "Ob, yes," said he, "I thought of that. After bolling the water, I cool it down by mixing an equal quantity of water with it, and then I put it into the

OPINIONS OF GREAT PAPERS ON IMPORTANT SUBJECTS

the other day that a man should work as hard and as long New York commissioners have made a protest against its nette, on the left and in each of the as his health permits, will be interested in this Maine moorman, John C. Tripp. But the possession of wealth puts obligations on Tripp.

Remains behind. Another ominous enterprise is going on letter V and the other the figure 3.

He must try to do more than to carn his week's wages. He est aspire to rise until, like Motorman Root, who running a car seven years ago, he becomes general manasistible array of proof that Abruham ger of his company. He must cultivate his mind as much Parson as he can, studying books and mon and politics, making Lincoln never split rails. Parson as he can, studying books and mon and politics, ma Weems' good old story of the boy Mashington chopping his father's chermonth of the boy must dress as well as his purse permits, and educate must dress as well as his purse permits, and educate his children, if he has them, and give his fellow motormen a bad to worse, until finally the atmosphere took fire. If from it. helping hand and be good to the poor. His fortune will make life more complex for him, leading him with new > nsy if he does not seek to shirk his obligations. And a word about President Ellot's precept regarding and work. It is the salvation of man that he is obliged to abor. He is happier than he would be under enforced dieness and more useful to society and to bilaself. to work a little harder than you have to that is the secret sponsibilities. He will find enough to do to keep him

Relaxation in its place is equally beneficial. The Har vard president gets it when he goes to a Boston symphons suppose he would be any greater man than he is, any more Turkey and Egypt. than we can suppose a motorman or a miner working hours

Learn to Forget Injuries.

OME people are so intent on revenging their injuries that they never have time to accomplish anything vorth while for themselves. From a purely selfish and practical standpoint, not to consider the moral aspect of the matter, revenue is not worth the trouble that it takes to accomplish. A man had better employ himself in honest, productive labor which will bring him some valuable returns instead of giving himself up to petty schemes for "getting even" on his enemies: Every man would do well to wipe out all those old scores of enmity which he had intended to pay back by evil retaliation, and start afresh to do something honest and positively bene-

After all, most of our enemies would be our friends if his veins, and brought him into reach we knew one another better. Few men are wholly or ma of men's sympathies. They marked liciously evil, and when one does another an injury there him as made of common clay, like the is usually some misunderstanding at the bottom of it. How lim as made of common crist, the historical ghouls are stolen him frome us and given us in his place a marble statue, without the historical and have stolen him frome us and given us in his place a marble statue, without ed, conceive a warm friendship for each other?

This is a busy world and life is too short to rememb grievances a long while or to take trouble for the sake of obtaining revenge. A man must learn to forget injuries as well as to remember favors, else he will go backward instead of forward in life. The past is dead. Let it be him.-San Francisco Bulletin.

Vandalism at Niagara.

fared so well. Vociferous complaints are made about the Bulletin

Work and Leisure.

MAINE motorman, having come into a fortune of tunnel-builders and power companies on that side of the fiver. Several power-houses are being built in Victoria is printed from a state of the leading bank note companies, is printed from a state of the several power-houses are being built in Victoria. sponon, announces that he will continue to were for the company that now employs him. His money at 5 per cent would give him leisure and an income at 5 per cent would give him leisure and an income at 5 per cent would give him to sure and an income six times as great as his wages, but work is his commission has shown itself so indulgent to industrial greenback you will see a picture in the The president of Harvard, who said in Boston companies that confidence in it is violently shaken. The center, a small portrait, called the vigconcessions, and the feeling is that, bad as is what has upper corners a network of fine lines been done, there is only too much reason to four that worse with a dark ground, one containing the was extract nitrogen products from air. Mr. Wells write a cary to make a large drawing on panals prophetic story that turned on the discovery of a process per with great care, and a dagnerron for getting nitrogen out of the air and turning it into type is then given to the engraver, food. The upshot of the tale was that the atmosphere who uses a steel point to make on it was deprived of so much nitrogen that the resulting excess all the outlines of the picture. The any such process as that has begun at Nisgara the police. "While the ink is still damp the print should be notified. Whatever needs to be done to restrain is inid face down on a steel plate, the liberality of the Victoria Park commission must be done which has been softened by heating it

The Metric System.

Harper's Weekly.

HE action of the international customs congress, which has recently been in session in New York, in voting unanimously in favor of the adoption of the metric system of weights and measures, is another indication of the growing popularity of that system. concert or makes an after-dinner speech. He got it as a indication of the growing popularity of that system. Youth rowing a boat with other undergraduates on the it has spread so rapidly that the European states, with Charles River. If he had spent that leisure or were to the exception of England and Russia, have adopted it, as spend it now in hard mental labor unremitted we do not have the the South American states and Mexico, and even urkey and Egypt.

Both in England and Russia the sentiment is growing face has been forced into all the lines overtime would be more serviceable to his employer or steadily in favor of the change. There are 290 members better equipped for the next day's work. There is much of the present House of Commons in England in favor of to be said to the contrary, and much to be said about that the metric system, and the Premier, in speaking on the moderation which secures for the toller a proper relation subject, said: "There can be no doubt whatever that the between work and leisure. New York World. judgment of the whole civilized world, not excluding the countries which still adhere to the antiquated systems under which we suffer, has long decided that the metric those in the plate originally engraved.

system is the only rational system."

Opinion in the United States is divided on the subject but the people of this country will have to consider whether nette, but the network in the upper they want to be out of harmony with all other nations of this continent and in Europe on this subject. It certainly will not be advantageous to our foreign trade.

Ill not be advantageous to our foreign trade.

A recent consular report from Mr. Mason, in Herlin, it beyond the reach of counterfeiters. deals particularly with this phase of the case. Germany Its work is so perfect that it cannot made the change in 1872 without difficulty, and Consul-Mason says that public opinion there is unanimously of the graves the network on softened steel opinion that great advantage has been derived from the and the figure in the middle of it is change. Inquiry among importers led the consul to believe then engraved by hand. It is now that our trade was injured by the use of the awkward hardened and transferred to a roller system at present employed in the United States. Phila like the others.

Shall Clergymen Work as Mechanics?

prominent Philadelphia clergyman urges young men who contemplate entering the minstry to learn some trade either before or after ordination. He is moved to give this advice by the large number of minis-ters who are without a charge. As the number of ninisters without charges is increasing rather than diminishing, the most effective way to comply with the law of demand and supply would be to reduce the supply. Think of the future and endeavor to build up your own could hardly happen otherwise than that, under the plan fortune and happiness instead of learing down the fortune proposed, there would be either poor clergymen or poor and happiness of your enemy, who may be, for all you mechanics. The ministry is an exacting profession, and know, some decent fellow not nearly so black as you paint in the present strife for mastery in mechanics the inferior is left behind. If it should appear that that inferior was also a clergyman his value as a mechanic would not be enhanced. There has never been a time when high scholarship was more urgently required in the pulpit than at AMENTATIONS come from Niagara Falls over the present. Not only does the layman incline more to enquiry intrusion of power-houses and industrial innovations than formerly, but he enters the theological debate with upon the scenery. The American side has not been better equipment. If the teachings of the scientists of helped esthetically by the various means devised to make the river run in harness, but the reservation of authority they furnish arguments with which the skeptical layman may confuse the minister who has not had time to guarded. Victoria Park, on the Canadian side, has not study both sides of the theological question.—San Francisco finished and signed.

ABSENT-MINDED VICTIMS.

Ludicrons Tales Told of Their Extraordinary Performances.

A peculiar trait of humanity is what are the amusing stories told of those shouted to the man: ering from this spe aberration.

A Cambridge professor, whose fits of nental aberration were as frequent as hey were amusing, was one day out it a heavy rain, with his umbrella held high over his head, when he met a friend, who stopped him and exclaimed: "Dear me, Prof. M-, why don't you put up your umbrella? You'll be drenched!"

"Put up my umbrelia?" said the pro-"It is up."

For half an hour, more or less, the with a closed umbrella beld above his

At unother time the same scholar was riding downtown in an electric car, and lost himself in a book he was reading. Suddenly he noticed symptoms of merirment among the other passengers. What could they be laugh-

The mystery was explained when he discovered that, having been annoyed by something between the plate of his artificial teeth and the roof of his mouth, he had removed the teeth and was holding them up to view between the thumb and finger of his hand!

Still more embarrassing was the case of a lady who hurried into church one Sunday morning without her bonnet, and when reminded of the omission by her husband, who had preceded her by several minutes, rose hastily and urried up the broad aisle with a large red parasol raised and held close to

A certain old man suffered much from absent-mindedness, and was frequently compelled to seek the assistance of his servant. "Thomas," he would say, "I have just been looking for something, and now I can't remember what it is," whereupon the obliging Thomas incariably made suggestions. 'Was it your purse, or spectacles, or inquire, until he hit upon the right One night, after the old man had retired, the bell rang for Thomas, and on reaching the bedroom he found his master rambling aimlessly about the Thomas, Thomas," he said, "I came up here for something, and now I've forgotten what,"

'Was it to go to bed, sir?" suggested idly mastered the details of depart the faithful retainer.

Thank you, Thomas. Good night!" A clergyman, walking one day in the A peculiar trait of humanity is what accustomed to ride that, when he and was practically at the head of the scalled absent-mindedness, and many found himself at a toll, he stopped and Here, what's to pay?"

"Pay for what?" asked the man.
"For my horse," said the clergyman.
"What horse? "A re's no horse, sir." Bless me?' exclaimed the clergy-nan, looking down between his legs, thought I was on horseback!" One of the finest instances of abs.nce of mind on record is that furnished by certain Oxford don, whose "scholarly abstraction" frequently landed h'm in difficulties. Dining out one night. he suddenly became immersed in thought, and for a time sat gazing at rofessor had been walking the streets, his plate, evidently deeply engrossed in some mighty problem.

Now, it happened that his left-hand neighbor, a portly dame, had a habit of down and fingers closed. through his glasses, remarked, "My the London Globe:

The first Lord Lyttleton, an English tion was called on suddenly to write ableman, was very absent-minded. It an obligary notice of the late Bret is declared of him that, when he fell Harte. He sat down full of enthu into the river by the upsetting of a slasm for his subject, and with what boat at Hagley, "he mank twice before he recollected that he could swim."

FOLLOWS FATHER'S FOOTSTEPS. George Gould's Ability Shown in Man

oging the Vast Estate But two of the late Jay Gould's four sons were in business when he died in 1892. They were the two elder sons. George J. and Edwin, says the Kansas City Journal. George Gould took to business early. Despite his father's entreaties, he yould not take a college course, preferring to go into a noffice. His fa-ther, therefore, secured for him a A friend condoled with them on the junior partnership in the brokerage bereavement. "Well," said he, "our ice. This statement is confirmed by firm of Connor & Co., at the head of father's death might have been a real the pair of bone skates of that period which was Jay Gould's old broker and pleasure to us; instead of that it is now in the British Museum. It is like intimate friend, Washington Connor. George's extreme economies, it is said, led to disagreements, and the partnership was dissolved. The young man had been apt and industrious, however, and so his father took him into his own office and gave him an opportunity to become familiar with the details of the great business.

George was a studious young man and stuck closely to business. He rapments, and soon was taking inspection country, fell into thought. He was so George Gould was his chief adviser money."-New York Herald: he has always shown a preference.

He was able to take full charge of the business in 1892, and the various enterprises have prospered immensely under his management. The Missouri Pacific and kindred interests have been his especial cure, and until the recent transfer of Manhattan Elevated interests to August Belmont he was president of that company.

George Gould is estimated to be worth about $30,000,000.

All four of the Gould boys are mem hera of the Stock Exchange, George having entered it in 1806. He is, however, rurely, if ever, seen on the floor resting her hands on the table, pairs it is a pity there should be so much bad journalism. Yet we have all learn-Suddenly the professor awoke from ed not to trust absolutely to the daily his brown study, selzed his fork, stuck press, and we never can trust it absoit into the plump paw reposing to the intely so long as such a story is possileft of his plate, and, beaming genially bie as this, which is vouched for by

How It Is Sometimes Done.

A British journalist of good reputaeemed to him pretty complete knowldge, and wrote a glowing article. He ent it to the printer,

When it came back in proof he was ppalled to see that he had written a lumn and a half about Mark Twain Time pressed. There were only a few alnutes to get his article into the pa per. So he simply changed the book titles and let it go.

Disappointed.

story is told of a Scotchman, ne of several brothers, whose father. a wealthy man, had died. There was only a misery."

Just One Per Cent Better. Waggaby-So De Wruyter says be wrote ninety-nine poems last year, Naggaby-I understood him to say etter than a hundred." Waggsby-That's what I meant by nety-nine. I've read his poems.—Baltimore American,

If you can't work with a little noise going on, you can't work at all,

HIGH ART IN BANK NOTES Designers' Chief Concern Is to Balk

the Ingenious Counterfaiter. First in consideration in making a uk note is to prevent others from making a counterfeit of it. Therefore all the notes of a certain denomination or value must be exact duplicates of ne another. If they were engraved by hand this would not be the case. Hand ngraving is more easily counterfeit sl than the work done by the process by the people or Government of Canada. All we can do red not and letting it cool slowly. It is to spread the tale of vandalism and stir remonstrance.— is then put in a press and an exact copy of the outline is thus made on the steel plate. This the engraver tinishes with his graver, a little tool with

The tree you would seek for in valu:

And where once the lords of the forest a three-cornered point, which cuts a clean line without leaving a rough edge. 'Now, this plate is used for making other plates—it is never used to print from: It must be made very hard, and this is done by heating it and cooling it quickly. A little roller of softened steel is then rolled over it cut into the plate. The outlines of the vignette are thus transferred to the roller in raised lines, and after the roller is hardened it is used to roll over plates of softened steel and thus make in them sunken lines exactly like "The center picture is engraved and transferred to a roller, like the vig corners and also on the back of the note is made by the lathe. This ma be imitated by hand. The lathe en-

"The plates from which the notes are to be printed are of softened steel Methought the voice of angels from and large enough to print four notes at heaven in answer rang.

once. Four engravings of the note Jerusalem, Jerusalem, lift up your gates and large enough to print four notes at once. Four engravings of the note must, therefore, be made on it, and this is done by rolling the hardened steel rollers containing the raised pic-tures over it in their appropriate places until the pictures are pressed into its surface. "The fine lettering around the box ders of the note is transferred in the same way, but the other lettering is put on by hand. This process saves great deal of time and it secures absolute uniformity in the four engravngs on the plate. "The back parts of the note are printed first and when the lak is dry the green back is printed, to be followed by the red stamps and numbers. It is then signed and issued. For greater security one part of the note and another part at another place. And all who would might enter, no one

"Ah, the very thing, the very thing! hank you, Thomas. Good night!"

A clergyman, walking one day in the country, fell into thought. He was so Genree flows of this father's death country, fell into thought. He was so Genree flows of this father's death country.

FORMER NEW YORK GIRL.

tainers in London Society.

DONOUGHMORE. f foreign society, of her old b they entertain lavishly and the coun. of heaven come and help me get him tens is regarded as one of the most suc. out:" conful hostesses in the English capital.

Skating a Very Old Art.

traces have been found among pre- he's in prison." found to be in possession of runners way. Of course be got drunk. "Twas carved from whalebone. Skating is my own fault. I didn't cook 'em in entloned by a Danish historian about the way I was told at the 1134, and Fitzstephen in his "History and of course he got drunk." of London" says that in the twelfth century young men fastened leg bones of animals under their feet by means of thongs in order to slide along the bereavement. "Well," said he, "our ice. This statement is confirmed by ly, however, that these early Londoners borrowed the idea from Holland, probably via Lincolnshire, where skates have been used on the frozen fens from very remote times.

> Not a Definite Reply. Dencon Johnson-What yo' low, Abe?

Abe Hardcase—Cleanin' out a bank, Deacon Johnson—President, cashler, ookkeeper or janttor?-Leslie's Week

OLD FAVORITES

*********

Ben Bolt.

$------

Don't you remember sweet Alice, Ben Sweet Alice, whose hair was so brown,

Who wept with delight when you gave her a smile, And trembled with fear at your frown? the old churchyard in the valley, Hen

In a corner obscure and alone, They have fitted a slab of granite so And Alice lies under the stone.

Under the bickery tree, Hen Holt, Which stood at the foot of the bill.

ogether we've lain in the mounday shade, And listened to Appleton's mill. The mill wheel has fallen to pieces, Ben

The rafters have tumbled in, And a quiet which crawls round the walls as you gass Has followed the olden din.

Do you mind the cable of logs, Ben Bolt, At the edge of the pathless wood, And the button ball tree with its motley Which nigh to the doorstep stood?

waved Are grass and golden grain.

And don't you remember the school, Ben With the master so cruel and grim, And the shady neok in the running brook Where the children went to swim?

Grass grows on the master's grave, Ben Bolt, Bolt,
The spring of the brook is dry,
And of all the boys who were schoolmates then There are only you and L There is a change in the things I loved, They have changed from the old to the new; But I feel in the deeps of my spirit the truth, There never was change in you. Twelve mouths twenty have passed, Ben Since first we were friends-yet I hall Your presence a blessing, your friend-ship a truth, Ben Bolt of the sait see gale.

Thomas Dunn English. The Holy City. Last night I lay a sleeping there came a dream so fair, I stood in old Jerusalem beside the temple there.

I heard the children singing, and ever as they saug.

and sing.

Hosanna in the highest, Hosanna to your And then metho't my dream was chang-

And then metho't my dream was changed, the streets no longer rang.
Hush'd were the glad Hosannas, the little children sang.
The sum grew dark with mystery, the morn was cold and chill.
As the shadow of a cross arose upon a lonely hill.
Jerusalem, Jerusalem, Hark! how the angels sing, Hosanna in the highest, Hosanna to your king. And once again the scene was chang'd, new earth there seem'd to be, I saw the Holy City beside the tideless

Zhe light of God was on its streets, the

-F. E. Weatherly.

Returned to Roost. One of the theories of James B. One of the most popular American Reynolds, the head of the University women in London society is the young Settlement Society in New York, and Countess Denoughmore, formerly of now Mayor Low's private secretary, is New York. She is that much of the drunkenness on the the daughter of Mi-chael Grace, broth- ed by the fact that their equally poor er of William R. and ignorant wives do not know how Grace, former May. to cook nourishing food properly, and or of the new world that, exhausted by manual labor and metropolis. Miss insufficiently nourished, their systems was one of naturally crave stimulants. One day the belies of New this theory came home to roost. The York and was noted bushand of au Irishwoman had beaten for her beauty, wit her unmercifully, says the New York and charms. She is correspondent of the Rochester Demonot unmindful, even crat and Chronicle, and had been lock-amid the gay scenes ed up for it. The morning after the ome, and wife approached Mr. Reynolds. frequently visits New York. Her hus-band is very wealthy, having made "come and help me get my Michael many millions in successful speculation out. Sure, I shad 'im locked up last When in London night for heatin' me; but for the

Her face was badly banged up, her head was bandaged, and she walked with a fimp.

To what race belongs the credit of "But you don't want to get him out," having first invented skating is still a said the settlement worker. "He's alproblem over which men of science most killed you. Leave him in. It are disputing. There is much doubt will do him good. I'll see that you among historians upon the subject, for don't suffer for lack of his wages while historic remains all over Northern Eu- "Oh, no," she said, "'twaz all my ope indicating that the art was prac- fault. You told me it was bad cooking ticed by primitive peoples. The Eski- drove 'em to the rum shops, and faith, mos of the farthest North are also I cooked the praties in the same old settlement.

> They were at supper. Between the courses the young man with the voraclous appetite discoursed eloquently on things in general, "Do you know, Miss Dash," he remarked, "I think there is a very intimate relation between our food and our character. I believe, don't you know, that we grow like what we are the most fond of." The fair girl smiled sweetly. "How interesting?" she murmured. May I pass you the ham, Mr. Jones? am sure you will like it." And the young man relapsed into deep thought.-London Answers.

In trying to make friends rapidly, or are apt to make enemies.

N