Chronic Sores Eating Ulcers, A Constant Drain Upon the System. Nothing is a source of so much trouble as an old sore or ulcer, particu-

A gangrenous eating ulcer upon the leg is a frightful sight, and as the poison burrows deeper and deeper into the tissue beneath and the sore continues to spread, one can almost see the flesh melting away and feel the strength going out with the sickening discharges. Great running sores and deep offensive ulcers often develop from a simple boil, swollen gland, bruise or pimple, and are a threatening danger always, because, while all such sores are not cancerous, a great many are, and this should make you suspicious of all chronic, slow-healing ulcers and sores, particularly if cancer runs in your family. BREAK A LOOKING-GLASS

And You Will Have Extraordinary Good Luck, So They Say,

If you seek good luck, break a looking-glass. If you wish extraordinary good fortune, amash a lot of them. Such at least would likely be the advice of Miss Henrietta Crosman and For Miss Crosman has thoroughly disproved the old wives' fable that The Washington's birthday marked seven years' bad luck follows the all was in full swing. The hour for breaking of a looking glass. In the hall was in full swing. The hour for breaking of a looking glass. In the unmasking had arrived. "Where is three years that Miss Crosman has been starring, thirteen mirrors have been broken in her company, but in-"The last I saw of him," said Louis, stead of misfortune and calamity at-"he was in the buffet cutting down tending these mishaps, they seem each stead of misfortune and calamity attime to bring a run of good luck. Strangely enough, the first and the thirteenth mirror were broken in Hos-ton. Miss Crosman was about to begin an engagement at the Tremont Theater, Boston, three years ago. when one of the city's street-cleaning cars smashed a large looking-glass which was part of the stage equipment, and which had just been taken from a transfer wagon and placed near the stage door. When it became known throughout the company that a looking glass had been broken all manner of dire predictions were made. Theatrical folk are superstitious above most hu-man kind, and this looking-glass incident was sufficient to fill all with dis-may. The first notable event after the breaking of the glass was the appearance of a representative from the Boston street-cleaning department, who paid the full value of the damaged property, which was $40. This did not exactly look like bad luck, and was viewed in the light of a marvel, for such promptness and dispatch upon the part of a municipality had never before been heard of.

Some time thereafter the company was playing in a New England city. when a gust of wind caught a lookingglass that had been leaned against the wall of the theater in readiness to be carried inside, and smanhed it into bits. Again great fear assailed Miss Crosman's company, but, as before, the consequences were good instead of evil, for the engagement in this particular town proved to be the largest in the bistory of the local theater. They are catarrh of the organ which a full statement of your case, and he in the bistory of the local theater. Soon the third mirror was broken, and se before some good luck befell. The greatest ob- The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, pany took heart and began to assure themselves that it was lucky for them to smash a looking-glass. It is a conspicuous fact that every looking glass which has been broken in Miss Crosman's company has been followed by some uncommon good fortune. Thus, just before the recent engagement in Philadelphia, which in point of receipts was the biggest ever played by a draor of several letters that lost him a matic company in this country at simbreach of promise case."—Melbourne liar prices, a large pier glass was broken as it was being taken into the theater. In Albany also, last winter, a looking glass was smashed in the theater, and the engagement in that city is a part of dramatic history, as > and established Albany as a great theatrical city. Then, again, just before Miss Crosman and her company began their run Boston not long ago, another mir ror met the fate of its predecessors, making the thirteenth that had been broken in the company in three years. The Boston engagement was a brilliant success, and it was followed by a New England tour which has become celebrated as the most profitable ever play ed by any dramatic star in that section of the country. Not once has any thing that in any way could be regarded as bad luck come on the beels of a mirror-smashing, while in every instance there has been a series of lucky happenings, until now there is a strong suspicion that some of the mir-

In North Dakota the Dalrymples own a 20,000-acre wheat ranch, which is managed in the same manner as any mercantile establishment. The general trend outside of agriculture has been toward consolidation, and the present captains of the farming and ranching industry have already caught the fever, and they, too, will perhaps consolidate their interests. Whether a unity of capital will be successful in carrying on crop and beef production can only be determined by trials and experi-

Competition in farming is getting to be more and more intense. The man who understands the soil the best is the one who succeeds. Modern farmers do not trust to luck in sowing their crops on fresh soil. They use the information secured through the experlment stations, and, as a result, each kind of soil now receives the cropbest adapted to its nature. Crop rota tion is followed on every well-regulated farm; fertilization is a part of the annual improvement.

The co-operation of the Mexican government in the building of this transcontinental line is a satisfactory guaranty that the extensive undertaking will be carried to a successful end. The location of a connection between the great oceans is a question that does not affect to any great degree shipping between North Atlantic and Southern Pacific ports, but when the saving in time between Atlantic and gulf points and Central and North American coast cities and in shipments to Asia are considered, the advantages of the northern route are striking.

From Panama to Salina Cruz the disance is 1,303 miles, which is a clear saving for freight to northern ports shipped via Tebuantepec. The saving will be made upon all shipments to Central American ports, varying in importance from 454 miles to Junta Arenas, Costa Rica, to 1,002 miles to San Jose de Gautemala. From Salina Cruz to San Francisco the distance is only 2,170 miles, and shipments to the Orient will save over 1,000 miles by the use of the Mexican rail transfer to the Pacific in preference to going through a Panama canal. It is a fact not generally known that from New Orleans to San Francisco by the Mexican isthmus it is 100 miles shorter than by the line of the Southern Pacific Railway.
