There was a meeting of the crizens yesterday to perfect arrangements for the fair to be head at Landon on the 8th 9th and 10th of tectoler, and the following com aftees were selected:

D. R. Harris and Join Sutherland, on program; H. C. and Sarah F. Combies, Win. Jones, Melissa Small and Mrs. A. Doubtile, on pavillor, John Small, Sherman Shortridge and Levi Geer, on grounds and stock; Win. Jones, G. A. Small and Win. Witte, in finance; John Small, Sherman Shortridge and Levi Geer, on amusements.

The next meeting was called to meet at the London hall over the story to perfect further arrangements.

The object of the fair is to exhibit all kinds of farm products, hency work, attack, minerals, etc. The hall track will be in fine condition for speeding horses, lengty teams, hieyeles, etc.

Prince will be given on all exhibits, and the committees will meet and make all necessary arrangements, its

COTTAGE GROVE FLOUR MILLS.—
Messrs. Hartung and Hansen are this week having the Cottage Grove flour mill painted from roof to basement and also a sign across the south end which adds greatly to the appearance of the property. These gentlemen are putting forth every effort to make this mill the best in Central Oregon and they have every facility for accomplishing that end. Their flour is of high grade quality and gives absolute satisfaction. They are also fitting up the building recently occapied by the Electric Light Co and will use them for storing feed and mill products of all forms.

COMMUNICATION.

In Answer to "Observer's" Letter Published Last Week-Writer Contends Sunday Law for Government of Human Action, not Conscience.

Cottage Grove, Oregon, Sept. 8--To the Editor of Bohemia Nugget: In your issue of last week appears a communication from the pen of "Observer"

The writer labors hard to make vice appear the better cause. He would have us believe that an iron bed is soft and inexpensive. He starts out with false premises and reaches false conclusions. He says: "The thing above all others that cannot and must not be controlled by human law, either directly or indirectly, is the individual con-science." Whoever heard of a statute law for the government of the conscience? thimble full of brains knows you can no more control the individual conscience by statute law than you can control a cyclone with a hand bellows.

But still worse, he says: "Now Sunday laws do this very thing." "Observer" cannot find in the heights above nor the depths below nor the expanse abroad, a Sunday law controlling or trying to control the individual conscience

All Sunday law is for the gov-ernment of conduct, human action, macy."

He states that the meeting was at-He states that the meeting was attended by about thirty mining men from different parts of the state, among them being Geo. W. Lloyd and F. D. Wheeler, of this city, The work accomplished was very harmonious and tended to join the mining men of Oregon together in a manner that is calculated to be of general benefit to the mining interests of the state. Mr. Hard is of the opinion that if the mining men will properly encourage such meetings it will prove a nucleus for a much needed state institution, whereby mining men will be able to approach the law makers, in the interest of better mining legislation, advertise Oregon, as well as enabling to discourage the placing of stock on sale at prices far below the selling price
