DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by restoring the hearing nerves. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and then a complete deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be forever lost; also cases of ear deafness caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness cured by Catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

History of the Dress Coat.

The present dress coat was the result of a compromise. The ordinary suit-coat being found on occasions inconvenient it was the practice to fasten back the lapels to two buttons at the back, with the result that in time the same were cut away together and the coat eventually made without them.

LIKES THE ARMY LASSES.

Millionaire Manufacturer Says They Are His Macons.

"Here, miss, take this money! For the love of heaven, don't go away without taking this money."

So yelled J. C. B. Johnstone, a Minneapolis manufacturer, as he ran through the corridor of the Auditorium.

"Have you seen her?" he demanded, as he rushed to the desk and accented Clerk Shaffer.

"Who?" inquired the latter.

"Why, the Salvation Army miss that just passed through."

"Went over to the Annex," answered the clerk and the Minneapolis man ran through the tunnel.

"Have you seen her?" he queried of the first bellboy he met.

"Who?" inquired the bellboy in amazement.

"The Salvation Army lass that collects money."

"Just gone up the street," answered the latter, and the man from Minneapolis might have been seen chasing up the avenue a minute later.

He caught her just as she reached Jackson boulevard.

"Here, take this dollar," he said as he pushed a bill into her hand. "I don't know what I would have done if I hadn't caught you," and then he returned to the hotel.

"I'd been a pauper in twenty-four hours if I hadn't given that girl some money," he explained to the people who had watched the chase. "They're my macons, those Salvation Army lasses. I know that I would have been hoodooed if I hadn't caught her. I'd been broke sure."

He was silent a long time. "Haven't seen one in ten years without giving her money."

"Superstitions!" inquired one of his friends.

"Call it that if you want to, but it's a conviction with me. I was sitting right here about ten years ago when one of them tapped me on the shoulder and asked me for a contribution. Had a dime in my pocket, no more, and no job. Hungry and room rent staring me in the face. Wondering what I would do with that dime. Didn't see why I shouldn't as well be broke as have a dime, so I turned it over to her."

"That left me without a cent. The Lord won't forget," she said.

"Neither will I," answered, only I meant that I wouldn't forget that I was broke. A man had just turned me down for a job. Turned me down cold. I was worrying, but I had time to watch that girl. I saw her strike thirteen men without getting a cent, and I saw the fourteenth man give her $1. There was a lesson for me. I got up and tried that same man again. I had resolved to try him fourteen times, if necessary. But it wasn't. He gave me a job because he liked my nerve, and I want to tell you that I have been mighty prosperous ever since."

"Almost a millionaire now, ain't you?"

"Well, close onto it, and all because that girl happened to strike me that afternoon. And since then no Salvation Army girl has ever gone away without money when I was in the neighborhood."

"Hereafter I won't go to sleep when I'm in this neck of the woods," he continued. "That girl came near getting away from me. If I hadn't caught her I know that I would have a telegram telling me that my factory had been struck by lightning. Well, farewell," he said, as he walked away.

"But, say, any time that you see one of those girls give her something," was the final injunction. "Best investment you ever made."—Chicago Chronicle.

MAN WHO DESERVES PITY.

He Who Is Compelled to Eat Restaurant Breakfasts Is Consolated.

A plea for pity is entered by an eastern journal on behalf of the unfortunate man who through the summer months is forced to eat a restaurant breakfast or wait until luncheon time to break his fast. And the commiseration is solicited because someone has complained that restaurant keepers do not give the amount of attention to serving the day's first meal that they do to the two later ones. There are no hard and fast figures at hand to prove that this is so, but it is rather a general conclusion that left-overs from the day before are used for the first courses and that this is hardly square dealing.

Then, besting the matter of food being more too fresh, there is complaint that there is much of setting to rights in the restaurants during the hour one wishes to take breakfast, which creates a confusion calculated to make even an appetizing meal unenjoyable. Sweeping, dusting, filling of salt, pepper and vinegar receptacles go on under the patron's very nose, while the waiters display a saug froid that tells him, or appears to do so, that he has no business to eat in strange places, that if he has a home he should be in it and that if he hasn't a place to call home he is a very poor specimen. Indeed, and not worthy of more consideration than he is receiving.

With these complaints at hand, then, it seems we shall all have to take it for granted that there's a foundation of fact for them and do what we can to improve it upon restaurant keepers that their first duty in summer is to do their share toward making life pleasant for the self-sacrificing man who sends his family to the country while he stays behind and earns the money to pay their bills and his own. An awakening to this duty swept through the ranks of purveyors of life's necessities and pleasure years ago and the results have been as satisfactory as substitutes, or, we might say, compensations could well be. Let the restaurant keepers join this band of home missionaries and the deserted husband may find that desertion isn't all the bad things that some folks declare it to be.

Horribly Afflicted with Boils.

THE BEST TONIC AND APPETIZER.

While living in Sherman, Tex., I began to feel very weak, my blood ran down in appetite and energy was scarcely a shadow. I had to get about and had to stop off and rest occasionally. I took S. S. S. and began to improve at once and after a thorough course became strong and well.

I think S. S. S. is the best medicine I ever used as an appetizer and general tonic.

AN HONEST MAN.

He Refused to Profit by Carelessness in Recording Early Transactions.

An incident, which exhibits the sterling integrity of a man who could withstand the temptations of wealth rather than do the smallest act of injustice, is told in H. M. Clittenden's "History of Steamboat Navigation on the Missouri River." The principal actor was one of the early settlers of St. Louis, a Mr. LeBarge, who had purchased a small tract of land for which he paid twenty-five dollars.

Land was then of very little value, and transfers were often made without deed and with no more formality than in exchanging cattle or horses. In this way Mr. LeBarge traded his land on what is now Clair Street, St. Louis, to Chaurlin Lebeau for a horse.

Long years afterward, when these transactions were almost forgotten, and the property had become very valuable, a lawyer presented himself to the old gentleman and asked him if he had ever owned any land on Cedar street. Mr. LeBarge replied in the affirmative, and described its locality. The lawyer then asked him when and how he disposed of it. He could not at first recall, but Mrs. LeBarge remembered the circumstances and related them to the lawyer, at the same time reminding her husband that that was the way they got their horses to set themselves up on the farm with.

The lawyer then assured Mr. LeBarge that the title to this property was still vested in him, and that he could hold it against all comers, for there was absolutely no record of the conveyance in existence.

The old gentleman, with a look of indignation, asked the lawyer if he took him for a thief.

"I traded that land," said he, "to Chaurlin Lebeau for a horse, which was worth more to me than the land was. I shall stand by the bargain now. If Chaurlin Lebeau's heirs have no title, tell them to come to me and I will make them a deed before I die."

The Composite House.

When Mr. Subbiss built a nest in which to house his bride, He borrowed from his friends the best ideas they had tried.

He borrowed here, he borrowed there—Smith's frieze and Green's veneer; He borrowed Johnson's port-cochere and Cooper's chandelier.

He borrowed Wilson's water tank, Park's pantry, Gray's grill; And then he borrowed from the bank The cash to pay the bill.

New Use for a Furnace.

"Can't I interest you in this marvelous new invention the cold air stove?" asked the affable agent. "It is guaranteed to reduce the temperature in the hottest house and will—"

"Never mind, young man, I'm using the furnace I had put in last winter. All I need to do is to start a fire in it and the house gets so cold it freezes the flies."—Judge.

Health of Women

Health and beauty are the glories of perfect womanhood. Women who suffer constantly with weakness peculiar to their sex cannot retain their beauty. Preservation of pretty features and rounded form is a duty women owe to themselves.

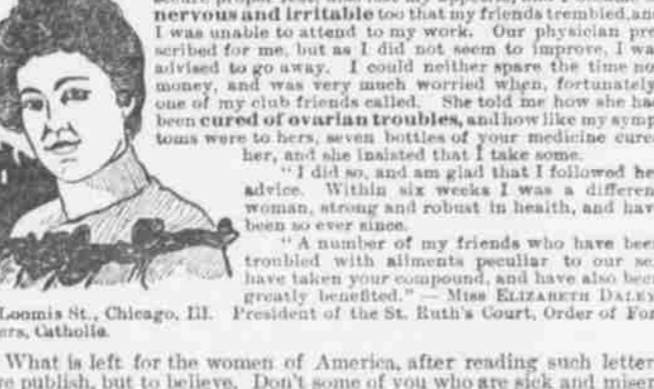

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound removes such troubles.

Case of this Prominent Chicago Woman Should Give Everyone Confidence in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—It affords me great pleasure, indeed, to add my testimonial to the great number who are today praising Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Three years ago I broke down from excessive physical and mental strain. I was unable to secure proper rest, also lost my appetite, and became so nervous and irritable that my friends trembled, and I was unable to attend to my work. Our physician prescribed for me, but as I did not seem to improve, I was advised to go away. I could neither spare the time nor money, and was very much worried when, fortunately, one of my club friends called. She told me how she had been cured of ovarian troubles, and how like my symptoms were to hers, seven bottles of your medicine cured her, and she insisted that I take some.

"I did so, and an glad that I followed her advice. Within six weeks I was a different woman, strong and robust in health, and have been so ever since.

"A number of my friends who have been troubled with ailments peculiar to our sex have taken your compound, and have all been greatly benefited."—Miss ELEANOR DALRY, 870 Loomis St., Chicago, Ill. President of the St. Ruth's Court, Order of Foresters, Catholic.

What is left for the women of America, after reading such letters as we publish, but to believe. Don't some of you who are sick and miserable feel how wicked you are to remain so, making life a burden for yourself and your friends, when a cure is easily and inexpensively obtained? Don't you think it would pay to drop some of your old prejudices and "try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is better than all the doctors for cures?" Surely the experience of hundreds of thousands of women, whom the Compound has cured, should convince all women.

Follow the record of this medicine, and remember that these cures of thousands of women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper were not brought about by "something else," but by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the great Woman's Remedy for Women's Ills.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Moral—stick to the medicine that you know is the Best. Write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice.

$5000 REWARD if we cannot forthwith produce the original letter and signature of above testimonial, which will prove its absolute genuineness.

A Good Beginning

If the blood is in good condition at the beginning of the warm season, you are prepared to resist disease and are not apt to be troubled with boils, pimples, blackheads and blotches, or the itching and burning skin eruptions that make one's life a veritable torment and misery.

Now is the time to begin the work of cleansing and building up the blood, and strengthening the weak places in your constitution. During the cold winter months we are compelled to live indoors and breathe the impure air of badly ventilated rooms and offices. We over-work and over-eat, and get too little out-door exercise, and our systems become clogged with impurities and the blood a hot-bed of germs and humors of every kind, and warm weather is sure to bring a reaction, and the poisonous matter in the blood and system will break out in boils and pustules or scaly eruptions and red, disfiguring bumps and pimples. Make a good beginning this season by taking a course of S. S. S. in time; it will not only purify your blood and destroy the germs and poisons, but promote healthy action of the Liver and Kidneys and give you a good appetite at a time when you need it most.

S. S. S. improves the digestion and tones up the Stomach, and you are not continually haunted by the fear of indigestion every time you eat, or troubled with dizziness, nervousness and sleeplessness. There is no reason to dread the coming of warm weather if you have your system well fortified and the blood in a normal, healthy condition. It is the polluted, sluggish blood that invites disease germs, microbes and poisons of every kind and bring on a long train of spring and summer ailments, break down the constitution, and produce weakness, lassitude, and other debilitating disorders. Eczema, Acne, Nettle-rash, Poison Oak and Ivy, and other irritating skin troubles are sure to make their appearance unless the humors and poisons are antitoxed and the thin, acid blood made rich and strong before the coming of warm weather.

A course of S. S. S. now would be a safe precaution and a good beginning and enable you to pass in comfort through the hot, sultry months and escape the diseases common to spring and summer. S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable and is recognized as the best blood purifier and the most invigorating and pleasant of all tonics. Write for our book on "The Blood and Its Diseases."

CANDY AND CANCER

An Indian Army Officer's Theory of the Dread Disease.

In an article in the Indian Medical Gazette, Captain E. R. Rost, L. M. S., attributes the rise in cancer mortality to an increased consumption of sugar, in the form of sweets and other delicacies of modern confectionery, and a corresponding diminution in the use of salt-preserved articles of diet. His theory is that malignant disease is parasitic in origin, and is due to the invasion of the body by a saccharomyces, the growth of which is favored by glucose, but inhibited by substances containing chlorine, and only admissible when the amount of chlorine in the body falls below normal. Some of his experiments, which he records in support of this view, are rather remarkable. He has cultivated saccharomyces from a variety of tumors on sterile cane sugar, and has also prepared what he describes as "a kind of tumor jam," by preserving portions of tumors in the same medium. Sections of this "jam" show "the tumor cell as usual, but the saccharomyces abounding in and between them." He passed chlorine gas through his cultures of saccharomyces, and found that it "rapidly killed the organisms, and it is evidently the chlorine that is the active agent."

According to Captain Rost, the guiding principle in the treatment of cancer should be to diminish the amount of glucose in the body and increase the amount of chlorine, thereby rendering the patient's body an unfavorable culture medium for the specific micro-organisms. He has put this theory into practice upon ten patients, his treatment consisting "first, of a strict diabetic diet, and, secondly, of piling in sodium chloride into the body, and preventing its excretion as much as possible." The results are said to have been most successful, but, unfortunately, the patients themselves do not appear to have been unanimous as to the advantages of the treatment they were receiving, since four out of their number ran away. Experiments were also tried upon animals, cancerous material and "saccharomyces" obtained by culture from cancer being used for inoculation; various lesions were produced, and in some instances the influence of a salt diet upon the affected animals was studied. In imitation of the human patients, "one guinea pig and one cat absconded," apparently before the benefits of sodium chloride had been accorded to them.

The announcement that sweetmeats predispose to cancer, if it finds its way into the cheaper sensational journalism, may prove alarming to sundry juvenile and feminine readers; but if it checks their appetite for confectionery it will at least improve their digestion; and, although the use of sodium chloride as an antidote would engender a thirst which might be slaked unwisely, there is little fear of so unpalatable a remedy becoming popular. Still, we think that Captain Rost would have been wise in deferring the publication of his theories until he had established them on a somewhat broader scientific basis.—British Medical Journal.

Curious Little Animals.

A naturalist at Hanover, Cape Colony, describes many remarkable small animals which abound there. Among them is a gecko, called by the Dutch farmers "geekie", whose tail comes off with a slight touch, and remains jumping about on the ground, attracting the attention of an enemy, while the animal itself slinks away and eventually grows a new tail.

Great Britain's Trade.

Up to now Britain retains from 20 to 25 per cent of the total trade of the universe. No other nation has yet come within half of this remarkable percentage. Nearest is Germany, with nearly 11 per cent; France claims about 9 per cent; the United States secures rather more than 6 per cent. If we add the output of the colonies the British empire shows a record of about one-third of the trade of the whole world.
