The address given by Prof. Weber before the Union Temperance Meeting of the several churches of the city last Sunday evening has been highly spoken of by many. Mr. Weber's style is dramatic; indulges frequently in witticisms that put spice into his sentences; and shows a spirit of earnestness that would do well to be imitated by the average minister of the gospel. Mr. Weber left Cottage Grove Monday for the Bohemia mines to gather data for an extensive report of that country.

In the Nugget window this week is to be seen a couple of bunches of ripe raspberries of the red and black varieties. J. H. Warner had the kindness to bring them in, having found them in his garden. They are large and will demonstrate that this section of the country is blessed with all kinds of good climate. Just think of it, you Iowa and North Dakota folks, picking raspberries in November.

There are several strawberry beds in this city that are now well in bloom for the second time this year. Some of our Eastern friends, who doubt this are welcome to take their shovel and shovel their way through the snow back there and come out and see for themselves.
