fifteen business men or merchants. Everywhere they go in Stam or Burms, in China or Japan, they tend the moral tone of the community where they settle.

They are the pioneers in education, starting the first practi cal schools and higher institutions of learning, teaching along lines that develop the spirit of true citizenship as well as of Christianity.

 They develop the idea of patriotism, of individual responsibility in the welfare of the state.

They carry on extensive medical and surgical work, build hospitals, and encourage sanitary measures, and have been the chief agency throughout Asia to check the spread of diseases like smallpox. cholera, and the plague.

They do a great work of charity and teach the idea of self-ment was over she was turned our belp among masses otherwise from the town hall or the place where doomed to starvation and cruel the brutal punishment had been in-brank, or scold's bridle, or gos sip's bridle, was neither more nor less than a muzzle. It was in general use in Great Britain from the sixteenth to the eighteenth century, and by Scotland as well women were muzzled for certain offenses, some at least of them more imaginary than real. The instru-ment of torture, even a dog's leather muzzle, is uncomfortable; how much more the scoid's muzzle? It consisted, according to a high authority, Mr. W. Jewitt, of a kind of crown or frame work of fron, which was locked upon the head, and it was armed in front with a gag, a plate or a sharp cutting knife or polat, which was placed in the poor woman's mouth so as to prevent her moving her tongue, or it was so placed that if she did move it or attempt to speak it was cut in a most frightful manner. With this cage upon her head and with the gag firmly pressed and locked against her tongue the miserable creature, whose sole of fending perhaps was that she raised her voice in defense of her social rights against a brutal and besorted husband or had spoken honest truth of some one high in office in her town, was paraded through the streets, led by chain by the hand of a beliman, the beadle or the constable or chained to the pillory, the whipping post or market cross, to be subjected to every conceivable insuit and degradation, with out even the power left her of asking for mercy or of promising amendment for the future, and when the punish flicted, maimed, disfigured, bleeding They are helpful in prepar- faint and degraded, to be the subject
